2. ARB alleges that the IMEX product referenced in Recital paragraph 1 contained concentrations of VOCs exceeding the 10 percent VOC limit for aerosol general purpose degreaser specified 17 CCR § 94509 (a).
3. ARB alleges that if the allegations described in Recital paragraphs 1 and 2 were proven, civil penalties could be imposed against IMEX as provided in Health and Safety Code (H&SC) sections 42402 et seq (H&SC § 42402). for each and every unit involved in the violation.

9. SB 1402 Statement.

H&SC section 39619.7 (Senate Bill 1402 - Dutton, Chapter 413, statutes of 2010) requires ARB to provide information on the basis for the penalties it seeks. This Agreement includes this information, which is also summarized here.

The provision of law the penalty is being assessed under and why that provision is most appropriate for that violation.

The penalty provision being applied in this case is H&SC § 42402, et seq. because IMEX sold, supplied, offered for sale, or manufactured for sale consumer products for commerce in California; in violation of the Consumer Products Regulations CCR, title 17, section 94507, et seq. The penalty provisions of H&SC § 42402, et seq. apply to violations of the Consumer Products Regulations because the regulations were adopted under authority of section 41712 which is in Part 4 of Division 26 of the H&SC. The penalty provisions of H&SC § 42402, et seq. apply to requirements adopted pursuant to Part 4.

The manner in which the penalty amount was determined, including aggravating and mitigating factors and per unit or per vehicle basis for the penalty.

Penalties must be set at levels sufficient to discourage violations. ARB considered all relevant circumstances in determining penalties, including the eight factors specified in H&SC section 42403.

Under H&SC § 42402, et seq. the penalties for strict liability violations of the Consumer Product Regulations are a maximum of $1,000.00 per day of violation, with each day being a separate violation. In cases like this one involving unintentional first time violations of the Consumer Products Regulations, ARB has sought and obtained penalties of approximately $20,000.00 per ton of excess emissions of VOCs attributable to the violation. This represents an average cost to retire a ton of VOC emission credits and reformulate a product to comply with the Consumer Product Regulations. In this case the total penalty is $15,558.00. There were 0.88 tons of excess VOC emissions attributable to the violation.

The penalty in this case was reduced because some of the products were self-disclosed. Penalties in future cases might be smaller or larger on a per ton basis.

Is the penalty being assessed under a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollution at a specified level, and, if so a quantification of the excess emissions, if it is practicable to do so.

The Consumer Product Regulations do not prohibit emissions above a specific level, but they do limit the concentration of VOCs in regulated products. In this case a quantification of the excess emissions attributable to the violations was practicable because of ARB's lab results and IMEX made the product sales data necessary to make this quantification available to the ARB. Based upon this information (which IMEX has designated as confidential), the violations were calculated to have caused 0.88 tons of excess emissions of VOCs to be emitted to the atmosphere in California.

10. IMEX acknowledges that ARB has complied with SB1402 in investigating and settling this case. Specifically, ARB has considered all relevant facts, including those listed at H&SC section 42403, has explained the manner in which the penalty amount was calculated, has identified the provision of law under which the penalty amount is being assessed and had considered and determined that while this penalty is not being assessed a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollutants at a specified level, it is practicable for ARB to quantify the excess emissions from the alleged violations, has done so and has included this information in this Agreement.

11. Final penalties were determined based on the unique circumstances of this matter, considered together with the need to remove any economic benefit from noncompliance the goal of deterring future violations and obtaining swift compliance, the consideration of past penalties in similar negotiated cases, and the potential costs and risk associated with litigating these particular violations. The penalty reflects violations extending over a number of days resulting in quantifiable harm to the environment considered together with the complete circumstances of this case listed above.
12. The final penalty in this case was based in part on confidential business information provided by IMEX that is not retained by ARB in the ordinary course of business. The penalty in this case was also based on confidential settlement communications between ARB and IMEX that ARB does not retain in the ordinary course of business either. The penalty also, reflects ARB's assessment of the relative strength of its case against IMEX, the desire to avoid the uncertainty, burden and expense of litigation, obtain swift compliance with the law and remove any unfair advantage that IMEX may have secured from its actions.
