RECITALS

1. ARB alleges that between July 1, 2006 and October 1, 2011, Suyen sold, supplied, and offered for sale in California 309 units of Bench Fix Hair Refresher Azure and 297 units of Bench Fix Hair Refresher Citron products subject to the volatile organic compound (VOC) limit for "Hair Styling Products" category in Title 17, California Code of Regulations (CCR), section 94509(a).
2. ARB alleges that between December 1, 2006 and September 1, 2011, Suyen sold, supplied, and offered for sale in California 29 units of Bench Ardore Deobody Spray products subject to the volatile organic compound (VOC) limit for "Personal Fragrance" category in Title 17, California Code of Regulations (CCR), section 94509(a).
3. ARB alleges that the Bench Fix Hair Refresher Azure and Bench Fix Hair Refresher Citron products referenced in recital paragraph 1 and 2, contained concentrations of VOCs exceeding the 6 percent VOC limit for "Hair Styling Products – Aerosol and Pump Spray" specified in Title 17, CCR, section 94509(a).
4. ARB alleges that the Bench Ardore Deobody Spray products referenced in recital paragraph 1, contained concentrations of VOCs exceeding the 75 percent VOC limit for "Personal Fragrance – 20 percent or Less Fragrance" specified in Title 17, CCR, section 94509(a).
5. ARB alleges that all aforementioned products referenced in recital paragraph 2 did not display the date that the product was manufactured as specified in Title 17, CCR, section 94512(b). In addition, Suyen did not file an explanation of their date code 12 months prior to the effective date of the applicable standard specified in section 94509 or file an explanation of their date code on an annual basis beginning in January 2006, as required in section 94512 (c) Administrative requirements, Additional Product Dating Requirements.
6. ARB alleges that if the allegations described in recital paragraphs 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 were proven, civil penalties could be imposed against Suyen as provided in Health and Safety Code Sections 42402 et seq. for each and every unit involved in the violations.
7. Suyen admits the allegations described in recital paragraphs 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5, but denies any liabilities resulting from said allegations.

8. The parties agree to resolve this matter completely by means of this Agreement, without the need for formal litigation.

Therefore, the parties agree as follows:

8. Each of the undersigned represents and warrants that he or she has full power and authority to enter into this Agreement.
9. SB 1402 Statement. California Health and Safety Code (HSC) section 39619.7 (Senate Bill 1402 - Dutton, Chapter 413, statutes of 2010) requires ARB to provide information on the basis for the penalties it seeks. This Settlement Agreement includes this information, which is also summarized here.

The provision of law the penalty is being assessed under and why that provision is most appropriate for that violation.

The penalty provision being applied in this case is HSC section 42402, et seq. because Suyen sold, supplied, offered for sale, or manufactured for sale consumer products for commerce in California in violation of the Consumer Products Regulations (Title 17 California Code of Regulations (CCR) section 94507, et seq.). The penalty provisions of HSC section 42402, et seq. apply to violations of the Consumer Products Regulations because the regulations were adopted under authority of HSC section 41712 which is in Part 4 of Division 26 of the Health and Safety Code. The penalty provisions of HSC section 42402, et seq. apply to requirements adopted pursuant to Part 4.

The manner in which the penalty amount was determined, including aggravating and mitigating factors and per unit or per vehicle basis for the penalty.

Penalties must be set at levels sufficient to discourage violations. ARB considered all relevant circumstances in determining penalties, including the eight factors specified in HSC section 42403.

Under HSC section 42402, et seq. the penalties for strict liability violations of the Consumer Product Regulations are a maximum of $1,000 per day of violation, with each day being a separate violation. In cases like this involving unintentional first time violations of the Consumer Products Regulations, ARB has sought and obtained penalties of approximately $17,000 per ton of excess emissions of volatile organic compounds attributable to the violation. This represents an average cost to retire a ton of volatile organic compound emission credits and reformulate a product to comply with the Consumer Product Regulations. However, in similar cases with extremely small amounts of excess emissions, ARB has historically obtained penalties that reflect that the violations occurred on at least 3 days (the day the product was purchased by ARB, the day it was supplied to the retailer, and the day it was manufactured for sale) and that the penalty exceeds the cost of investigating the violation. In addition, the ARB has in other similar cases sought and obtained further penalties for procedural violations. The penalty in this case is $5,000 which includes VOC excess emissions and the product dating procedural violations. The final amount was reduced in this case because Suyen cooperated with the investigation. Penalties in future cases might be higher or larger on a per unit basis.

Is the penalty being assessed under a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollution at a specified level, and, if so a quantification of the excess emissions, if it is practicable to do so.

The Consumer Product Regulations do not prohibit emissions above a specific level, but they do limit the concentration of VOCs in regulated products. In this case a quantification of the excess emissions attributable to the violations was practicable because Suyen made the product formulation and sales data necessary to make this quantification available to ARB. Based upon this information (which Suyen has designated as confidential), the violations were calculated to have caused the 0.0079 tons of excess emissions of volatile organic compounds to be emitted to the atmosphere in California.

10. Suyen acknowledges that ARB has complied with SB1402 in investigating and settling this case. Specifically, ARB has considered all relevant facts, including those listed at HSC section 42403, has explained the manner in which the penalty amount was calculated, has identified the provision of law under which the penalty amount is being assessed and had considered and determined that while this penalty is not being assessed a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollutants at a specified level, it is practicable for ARB to quantify the excess emissions from the alleged violations, has done so and has included this information in this Settlement Agreement.
11. Final penalties were determined based on the unique circumstances of this matter, considered together with the need to remove any economic benefit from noncompliance, the goal of deterring future violations and obtaining swift compliance, the consideration of past penalties in similar negotiated cases, and the potential costs and risk associated with litigating these particular violations. The penalty reflects violations extending over a number of days resulting in quantifiable harm to the environment considered together with the complete circumstances of this case listed above. The penalty was discounted in this matter based on the factors described. Penalties in future cases might be smaller or larger on a per ton basis.
12. The final penalty in this case was based in part on confidential business information provided by Suyen that is not retained by ARB in the ordinary course of business. The penalty in this case was also based on confidential settlement communications between ARB and Suyen that ARB does not retain in the ordinary course of business either. The penalty also, reflects ARB's assessment of the relative strength of its case against Suyen, the desire to avoid the uncertainty, burden and expense of litigation, obtain swift compliance with the law and remove any unfair advantage that Suyen may have secured from its actions.
