Subject: What to do with old VW diesel cars.

Comment:

- 1- Have VW remove engines, exhaust, fuel tanks
- 2- Let these shells be converted to electric vehicles.
 - (careful, don't allow ICE engines put back)
 - (perhaps give VW ZEV credits on these, if VW wants)
 - who might/would buy these shells?
 - Do It Yourself people
 - existing electric conversion companies - EVwest is an example
 - schools and colleges could take on a shop projects

Subject: Collusion?
Comment:

Besides CARB auditing air districts they give funding to, who else is responsible for auditing and making sure these grants and money available is being spent in most beneficial ways? I myself have seen a local air board approve an excessive amount of money per application to replace lawnmowers. The same lawnmower was available for half the price every where else. It really seemed like that program administrator had a special interest in getting that single type of lawnmower out there. I have now seen that happen again with a off road Carl Moyer program application. We need to stop this collusion. How can we look more into it?

Subject: Targeted investments towards future mobility innovation would spur needed economic impact

Comment:

Dear Air Resource Board,

Thank you for accepting comments on the proposed Beneficiary Mitigation Plan (hereinto referred as the Plan). Our comment is on the sentence on page 4 of the Plan, which reads "The proposed funding above provides a balanced approach for fully mitigating the excess NOx by investing in cost-effective project using cleaner combustion technologies, such as low NOx, and for committing to long-term goals by investing in zero-emission technologies." The Greater Sacramento Economic Council asserts that the Plan does not invest in zero-emission technologies, rather, the Plan invests in the consumption of zero-emission technologies. Our comment is that CARB should invest $11.2 million in a business startup accelerator focused on future mobility sited in the Greater Sacramento region to ensure a true investment in zero-emission technologies.

For CARB to have a positive impact on the workforce and job growth, the funds must be put towards a targeted investment such as a business startup accelerator focused on future mobility. Germany, a global leader in ZEVs, has used this model to create advanced industry jobs and spur innovation. Implementation of the German future mobility accelerator model in Sacramento is expected to generate $154 m in direct economic impact (and an indirect economic impact of $4.86 b), prepare the next generation of auto industry workers, and create a robust economic cluster.

The suggested model would align well with CARB's current investment Plan to reverse the disproportionate impacts of VW's 10,000 tons of greenhouse gas on vulnerable populations. A center focused on future mobility in Sacramento would offer educational experiences to K-12 students (a vulnerable population), technicians and engineers. Such a center would also provide education and design development support for innovations in the automotive industry and serve as the foundational building block to a future mobility cluster here in Sacramento. The long-term outcome of this investment will fill in the missing link in what is CARB's expected investment impact: it will create inclusive job opportunities for our low, middle and high-skilled labor force through ZEV automobile/component manufacturing and R&D. The economic impact of implementing this model is expected to result in a total of 4,860 direct and indirect jobs for the Sacramento region.

Full implementation of this model in Sacramento would need an investment of $11.2m from the VW Environmental Mitigation Trust, which would be leveraged to gather $86m in private investment for implementation support. Investments in inclusive job growth will drive sustainable growth in the ZEV industry, and we suggest you start here in Sacramento.

Sincerely,
Barry Broome,
President & CEO of the Greater Sacramento Economic Council

Subject: Give award merit to incentive recipients that prioritize purchasing CA-Made vehicles
Comment:

Dear Air Resource Board,

Thank you for accepting comments on the proposed Beneficiary Mitigation Plan (hereinto referred as the Plan). The Greater Sacramento Economic Council (GSEC) is a non-profit organization whose mission is to drive sustainable, regional economic growth. Your plans will certainly help with reducing harmful emissions and will help drive consumer demand of ZEVs, and we suggest that the funds are further leveraged to drive growth in tradable sector jobs and further develop the workforce pipeline.

Our comment is on the phrase on page 3 of the Plan, which reads "Align with State priorities." The Greater Sacramento Economic Council asserts that the Plan does not align with State priorities unless the Plan details that incentive award merit is given to applicants who prioritize purchasing vehicles sourced from California-Made manufacturers. The California-Made ^{^1} program is a statewide program that celebrates goods manufactured in our own backyard and is a State priority. While the Plan incentivizes the consumption of zero-emission vehicles, it does not acknowledge the advent of future mobility's displacement of workers--a critical issue facing the state's economy.

For CARB to have a positive impact on the workforce and job growth, the Plan should mandate that award recipients prioritize the purchase of California-Made vehicles to ensure green economy manufacturing jobs are incentivized to stay in California. Incentivizing consumption is not enough to keep the manufacturing jobs here. The long-term outcome of compliance with this comment will fill in the missing link in what is CARB's expected investment impact: it will create inclusive job opportunities for our low, middle and high-skilled labor force through ZEV automobile/component manufacturing and R&D.

Sincerely,

Barry Broome,

President & CEO of the Greater Sacramento Economic Council

Subject: Public Comments for Volkswagen Proposed Beneficiary Mitigation Plan
Comment:

Please receive the following as comments for the Volkswagen Settlement - Environmental Mitigation Trust for California Plan.

1. Funding should be contingent on existing technology that can be mass produced and delivered within a predetermined schedule outlined in the awarded agencies procurement. These funds should put technology into use in an expeditious manner. If the implementation period for a given technology involves a drawn out schedule (more than a year) it unnecessarily keeps needed technology from the public.
2. All regional and national production, manufacture or assembly requirements should be excluded or removed as a requirement of funding a given technology or vehicle. This limits competition and does not accurately represent local investment (as many parts come from outside of the U.S. and California).
3. Funds under the Zero Emission Transit, School and Shuttle Bus should specifically target technology ready for implementation (not future development).
4. Please reduce the planned use of the available funds from 15 years to three (3) years. Viable clean air transportation options are available now and should be made available to the public.

Thank you.
