Comment:

Foreign vessels, including large ships, are allowed to fish our coasts but you will ban our own small fishing vessels? Stop the stupidity, save our boats! Maintained wooden and fiberglass vessels are sea worthy particularly for the type of passenger and fishing endeavors that have been happening along our coasts for over 70 years! Every few years the federal or state government attempts (and sometimes succeeds) to enact laws to curtail and hurt our fishing and boating fleets. You must continue to allow the boating and fishing businesses to continue in California.

Please do not make a decision to totally end the recreational boating activities in the state!! This is simply a POLITICAL decision driven by special interest groups that will have NO positive effect on our environment. Stand up for the people and help preserve a little of our state independence!!!

Save our recreational fishing from ineffective and unnecessary legislation. Fishing vessels emit trace amounts of emissions in comparison to the real contributors of carbon to the atmosphere. Stop unnecessary legislation.

To Whom It May Concern,

I feel it paramount that I convey my concerns over the proposed amendments to the CHC regulation. Privately owned charter fishing crafts ARE NOT the problem in this case. These are in most cases small family run business that provide for fun family style adventures. Large commercial cargo vessels are the polluters. I too desire to protect our environment for future generations, Government is once again refuses to take on the larger problem in hopes to make a statement about "helping" the environment while ignoring the 800 lb. gorilla in the room. If government is successful in changing engine requirements and essentially either shutting down an industry and or pricing most people out of the market, the powers to be will once again fall back on the phrase of "unintended consequences" to a time honored family style adventure that many of us grew up enjoying. I urge ARB to realize that small businesses are not the big problem in this case and need to rethink that first the technology, which is asked for to gain compliance, is really not even in existence and will be far from affordable when it is intentionally available!! The ARB MUST take a long approach to these desired regs and get their minds in the proper place to address BIG business polluters.

Subject: Vessel Pollution

Comment:

To Whom it May Concern,

In regards to the potential regulations for small vessel emissions compliance, I would like CARB to study and publish the results of the pollution comparison between small fishing vessels and container ships that enter California waterways and harbors. What is the difference in amounts of pollution between these two different industries? How can CARB regulate international shipping? Will it? I does not make scientific and any rational sense to regulate small vessels but not regulate the large container ships when it comes to engine pollution. The effects of the proposed regulations for small vessels to Californians who work on these boats will be forced out of work, yet foreign shipping companies who profit off Californians may continue to operate gross polluting vessels. Its important to follow the science and make logical regulations for a better future to protect the environment. Shipping vessels pollute more than all the automobiles in California yet there is no proposed regulations, only regulations that will hurt the industries that pollute very little in comparison. I urge you to please do more research and show the public the facts.

I am the president of a local fishing club in Oceanside. Many of our club members are retired and on fixed incomes. Some fish every week. The price of licenses, bait and tackle have already gone up. The cost of a trip ticket has increased 20-25% from last year! Many sportfishing boat operators have older boats in their fleet. Most boats wouldn't be able to be retrofitted with new systems. The cost of purchasing new boats would be prohibitive; and no trade-in value like cars and trucks. I'm sure these new regulations would more than double the operators' costs. Additional costs and fees would get passed on to us. This would force most boat operators out of business. It would be the end of this sport for young and old as we know it today. Please consider us and choose another option. Ray

For the last 38 years I have enjoyed the experience of fishing from Sportfishing boats in San Francisco Bay and in the Pacific Ocean. Thousands of people want to fish, view whales and be part of this unique environment. These boats do not deserve to be driven out of business.

Please I'm asking you to not pass Newsom's bill. This bill would destroy tourism, which we thrive on. Whale watching and fishing would be a thing of the past because tourists wouldn't be able to afford it with the prices that would be necessary to maintain these types of boats. 1016.1

Myself and my girlfriends have taken fishing trips occasionally to fish on these boats, and we enjoy it so much. We won't be able to afford twice the price tickets, especially now during Covid. My brother goes out on the overnight trips and he loves sport fishing. It's not just tourists you are affecting, and punishing... it's the state of California, and the people within it. 1016.2

All the Best,
Jill Kosinski

Comment:

I am writing to express my resistance for the proposed amendments on the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation. I am a tax paying citizen in San Diego county, working for a prominent biotech company. As someone close to the problem of air quality and effects on long-term healthcare, I certainly can appreciate the impact of a zero emission goal for the state. I love California; I plan to live here for the rest of my life and raise a family here. I go fishing on charter boats regularly, at least 2x per month. The ability to go on a charter has many profound environmental benefits. The ability to go on a charter means I do not need to purchase a boat, which would cause GREATER air pollution than a charter boat if you consider how many fishermen regularly depart on these (20-40 fishermen means 20-40 boats that aren't on the water). Consider also these are blue collar business owner/operators who rely on low ticket price to sustain their businesses. Many of the modifications proposed will drive these captains out of business. The net result will be for more individual fishermen to purchase individual boats. Many individual boats will lead to more environment impact than a single large boat. Your analysis is confounded and not taking into account this impact, which is a net negative for the environment. Instead consider gradually improving emission standards for the commercial harbor craft regulation. We can achieve lowering emission standards without substantially impacting a business which would in turn drive customers to purchase their own watercraft, thus having a net negative impact. The state should consider tax incentives for commercial harbor craft to buy engines that meet your proposed emission standards. There is significant income generated from these trips that are taxed. If taxes are waived when a new engine is installed, there is no impact to the business. The taxes to the state are reduced, and while the state may not be able to write a 300 page report + multiple appendices of the same length with significant state hours required to compile and analyze data, the money goes directly to supporting the goal of zero emissions.

As a former employee of the Federal Government, I have seen how tax incentives can be more efficiently deployed if the government had less of a need to sustain these types of analyses. We should all work together to support the goal of zero emissions, including the state, and the impact cannot solely be felt by business owners and taxpayers. The state must bear a load as well through incentivizing better emission standards, which means less income, which means the state must become more efficient. Thank you for considering this comment.

I'm very concerned about the possibility of so many restrictions affecting our ability to be able to get access to the local fishing population to be able to get the seafood we need to eat annually this is something that our public community should be able to access for as reasonable as possible and the more you make these boats upgrade the higher costs are passed along unfortunately so please reconsider another option to clean up the environment

To the attention of the California Air Resources Board

The new CARB emissions requirements for sportfishing boats are unfairly targeting two distinct classes: people who want to fish but do not own boats and small family owned sportfishing boats.

A large segment of the population does not own boats and relies on friends with boats, fishing boats and fishing piers to get out on the water to fish.

Access to sportfishing, diving, whale watching and surfing the ocean points is a luxury for those boaters that own boats, whether they are moored, docked or parked in their drive way.

This very expensive CARB demand targets one of the smaller vessel groups: family owned sportfishing boats. The compliance shouldered solely by the sportfishing industry and coupled with an unreasonable timeline for compliance with no available parts to remedy the demand. The technology does not currently exist to accomplish the new required directives.

The majority of sportfishing boats are older, retrofitting them is not an option, even if the parts were available. Their power plants run at much lower rpm's than what would be necessary for air scrubbers to work without loading up and damaging the engine.

The time table for compliance is unreasonable, burdensome and prejudicial.

The sportfishing industry somehow survived the pandemic and complied with health guidelines for very long and gradual return to “normal” operations. Coupled with no business for a year, depleting reserves and no commitment by CARB to fund grant programs how does CARB justify issuing new, sudden and drastic compliance laws. Where is the sensible middle ground?

One solution would be to grandfather in the sport boats that are operating now and require new sport boat construction to incorporate the new technology and comply with the new air quality emission standards.

1020.3

What is the end game here? Is this an eminent domain staging for a land grab?

Where is the California Coastal Commission’s protection and defense of access to the ocean for non-boat owners?

Where is the respect, consideration and accommodation for the sportfishing industry that built and sustained the waterfront as much as the boatyards, the ship chandleries, the yacht clubs, the launch ramps?

Please take a step back and help the sportfishing industry.

Thank you. Janet Callow 10-10-21

Ms. Liane Randolph, Chair
c/o Harborcraft
California Air Resources Board
1001 I Street
Sacramento, CA 95814

California Air Resources Board Members,

My name is Frank Ursitti. As President of H&M Landing, I represent largest charter company on the west coast of the United States. Established in 1935 and located in San Diego, H&M Landing manages a fleet of 41 independently owned and operated vessels. Each of these companies employee between 5-30 individuals.

On behalf of the H&M Landing Fleet, I would like to express my concerns with the current CARB Harbor Craft Rule set to be published in late September 2021. As drafted, requirements in the rule will impose unachievable engine and emission standards for the charter boat industry. Proposed rulemaking dictates compliance with technology that does not exist or is physically impossible for a retrofit to take place.

CARB fails to propose a path towards compliance for our sector, and further states we must retire vessels from service that cannot meet compliance guidelines...even though equipment to achieve emissions set forth in the rule for this classification of vessel is not available. CARB staff further exacerbates the issue facing our sector by stating the charter industry can replace the fleet with a modest increase in price or charter rates, since our clientele is well positioned to bear the burden of the cost to build a new fleet.

Commissioners, CARB staff has failed to work through the challenges that will result with fleet replacement. In fact, staff has failed to understand the subject matter they are attempting to regulate all together. Staff has failed to interview stakeholders, business owners and the public at large that utilize these vessels. They do not have accurate financial data with respect to cost of operation nor do they have information from shipyards or vessel builders to make an accurate assessment of what the real impact will be to the customer to offset the cost of new construction. Staff has yet to recognize the overall financial impact recreational angling has to the California economy and the jobs it provides.

We ask that staff do the following to provide you, the decision makers, with accurate data so that a reasonable decision can be made:

- Conduct an economic impact study of vessel owners, using accurate data, to understand their current business with respect to margins and if those margins will support vessel replacement.
- Conduct an economic impact study of coastal communities, manufacturers, and hospitality using accurate data to understand the impact sportfishing and eco-tourism has on each sector.
- Conduct a feasibility study, with respect to retrofitting existing vessels with proposed technology to reduce emissions, and where retrofit is possible, understand how passenger loads will be reduced to accommodate the additional equipment and how this will impact profitability.
- Conduct emission studies to accurately assess what the CPFV fleet contributes in terms of emissions inside regulated California waters based on existing equipment and operational characteristics.
- Survey competitive shipyards to gain a realistic understanding of vessel replacement cost with proposed emission standards.

It is imperative every member of this board understand this proposed rule making is being pushed without a clear understanding of the previously mentioned points, and broad assumptions are being made that are unfounded.

The CPFV fleet is diversified and serves a variety of customers and roles by providing low-cost resource management surveys, marine science education programs, and economically disadvantaged communities through low-cost excursions. The fleet further provides ocean access to those unable to afford vessel ownership. This will all disappear should vessel replacement be the only path towards compliance.

I trust Commissioners, you all understand Commercial Fishing vessels have been given a set of reasonable guidelines for compliance, yet Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels were carved out of this CHC subset for the sake of this rulemaking. The proposed guidelines for CPFV's are impossible and puts this sector on trajectory for extinction. The vessels cannot comply as constructed, and new construction will be so cost prohibitive, the average Californian will be unable to afford the price of admission.

We ask you place CPFV's back into the category of Commercial Fishing vessels for the sake of rulemaking, or that you conduct the requested research prior to passing rule and help create a path towards compliance.

Thank you for your consideration,

Frank T. Ursitti
President
H&M Landing

I first fished on a fishing barge in 1967. My first experience fishing on 1/2 day boat was 1970. While I've never fished on a long range multi day trip, I've fished from 1/2 day, 3/4 day, and over night trips from various fishing landings here in southern, Calif for a bit over 50 yrs! It is a great way to get away from the noise of the streets for awhile, and it's a great way to catch a few days worth of dinner on the better trips. It is heartless to rob citizens of the great relaxation of being on the ocean for a 1/2 day, 3/4 day, or an entire day!

In 1999 my parents moved my family to the San Diego area and shortly afterwards I began fishing half and 3/4 day trips out of H&M and Fisherman's landing. Some of my best times came from those trips. I now live in Washington state and annually fly down to fish for bluefin tuna on the same fleet, albeit, longer trips. Please consider the impact these regulations would have on the future of a crucial part of San Diego, the future of fishing access to kids that can't afford a boat and the memories that will be unattainable. Don't destroy CA fishing.

Dear Board,

The future of recreational Sportfishing is in jeopardy due to proposed legislation which will cause the sportfishing industry to be decimated. Many of the boats that operate for families will not be able to stay afloat. I have taken my kids and my father took me fishing as a young child. Please take into account how the future legislation will effect family run boats and families in general.

Subject: Sport fishing Fleet Emissions

Comment:

To Whom it May Concern,

As a recreational fisherman in California for nearly fifty years I am concerned about the future of our sport fishing fleet up and down our coast in terms of the unfair regulations that are being planned. This financially burdensome plans do not just affect the captains and those employed on deck of the vessels, but the thousands that enjoy being out on the water with family and friends, enjoying traditions passed down by generations of those that came before us.

1031.1

In addition, what of the tackle industry and how such mis-sighted regulations will negatively affect them? California has long been a leader in fishing tackle innovation, from rod and reel design and manufacturing, to terminal tackle companies that make lures, etc. If there aren't enough fisherman on the water because there are fewer boats or the trips are too expensive for many to afford, sales, and thus sales tax revenue, will be drastically reduced.

1031.2

Now is not the time for such a misguided move that affects so many. Perhaps grandfathering in more sensible air quality regulations is a better idea. How about focussing more attention on bigger air quality issues, such as smoke from our record number of fires? How about focussing more attention on the huge number of container ships lining our coast, with no end in sight of when they'll be unloaded, that have their engines running nonstop to run their generators and pumps, some of which dump sewage along our coast?

I hope my concerns, and the concerns of thousands like me, are taken into consideration. It would be a shame to lose part of our heritage because of decisions being made by political leaders that are not sportsman and sports women, or by those that do not have a broader view of the implications of their decisions.

Thank you for your time,

Brandon Gilden

This law will close down the commercial fishing operations in california. The amount of commercial boats operating in these waters is small compared to the amount of commercial truck and rail pollution that is spewing toxic chemicals into the atmosphere. That's where all the studies show the real polluters. across america. Inaddition these draconion measures that are being perpetrated on us the citizens of this state is outrageous. With no hearings, debate, or scientific investigations these regulations amount to a dictatorship. One person cannot control the general population. Your in essence locking up all the people so you can say you saved us all from ourselves. Stop before it is too late.

I am writing you to express my concern with proposed CARB regulations that will effect sport fishing boats across California and put most of them out of business. California's sport fishing industry is unique and found no where else in the country. This industry allows the average Californian access to some of the best saltwater fishing in the world at a price they can afford. If you allow regulations to destroy the sport fishing industry the only Californians who will be able to access this saltwater fishery will be the extremely wealthy who can afford to charter private boats or purchase their own. Additionally this sportfishing industry creates thousands good jobs and significant economic impact locally. Most of these boats are the corner stone of small family businesses that we cannot afford to lose. Commercial fishing boats will not be subject to these proposed regulations, I urge you to apply the same logic to sportfishing boats and spare them from these regulations as well.

It is a silly and fruitless burden to impose on small businesses that are already challenged by so many obstacles to continue as ongoing concerns.

They are so few and generate so little impact to the environment.

Please let them be and find something else to do.

Subject: Against the latest ARB proposal for fishing vessels

Comment:

Sad to see such honest, hard working people be rewarded for their efforts with more regulatory action. When will California realize that we are losing billions of dollars in talent and resources because our wonderful state is alienating and chasing away valuable businesses and talented people by the droves. Stop the madness, stop over-regulating the California sportfishing fleet

I'm opposed to CARB's proposed amendments to the commercial harbor craft regulation as it applies to the sportfishing engine requirements and boat industry. The amendments are unreasonable, expensive, unsafe and impractical. Please reconsider and stop the new regulations.

Hello. I would be a travesty to put so many people out of business or out of a job by requiring technology that is impractical, unsafe, prohibitively expensive, or does not exist. There is a lot of low hanging fruit to be picked before attacking this very small segment of the carbon load. The economic offsets must be considered in these decisions or tax revenues will continue to fall to the point the state will not be able to afford cost effective pollution control programs. Please reconsider the proposed new restrictions on boats. Thank you.

Fishing for the ages....A time and true lifestyle is "Sportfishing," for generations Fathers Daughters and Sons have bonded with the hope and dreams of the "Big one" the anticipation of that nibble and tug of the potential Jackpot and a gunnysacks full of "fish fry's."

The modification of Sportfishing boats to help the environment, I get it....but in these perilous times of Covid recovery a Government bill to help the Sportfishing Owners needs to be enacted so we, the public can continue the generation of hopes and dreams of our beloved pastime of Sportfishing.

Thank you,

I have had 50 years of experiences on the open ocean, from scuba diving to sport fishing, With friends, family and most fulfilling with my children. These are some of the best memories that I have, and I want them to continue for future generations. Most of the older wooden boats I've been on are already gone, replaced by newer modern sport boats, this takes decades, and will continue on its own. If you force the issue with these drastic regulations you will devastate the sport fishing industry. And make very hard for new people to enjoy many ocean boating experiences.

Please consider the impact it will have on every thing involved, Fishing license sales. fishing tackle sales, Travel, and everything people come to the coast to enjoy.

Please consider what you are doing and the negative impact it will have.

Sincerely

Guy Caparelli

Comment:

By the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) own admission, the proposed regulations will likely remove passenger boats made of wood and fiberglass from service. This would apply to over 80% of all boats! If boat owners can't afford to spend millions of dollars for new metal boats --- or you can't or won't pay twice as much for boat tickets to pay for the new boats, boat owners will be forced out of business.

Please do not put our boats out of business.

We all know that it's critically important to continue to work to keep our air as clean as possible. We also need to adopt new rules in a way that will not destroy an industry. We need to be good stewards of the environment as well as work with the industries that are affected. It's not acceptable to adopt regulations that will assuredly cripple an industry. We need to work with the passenger boat and sportfishing industry to find a cohesive manner to implement these new regulations. Please alter the implementation of the regulations to protect the passenger boat and sportfishing industry. Thank you.

Comment:

Please do not over regulate the sport fishing, diving, whale watching and general cruise boats to chase a "pie in the sky" clean air mandate. Requiring major changes at this time that would sideline most of the recreational /commercial boats is not reasonable or productive. The diesel fuel is much cleaner that it used to be, so requiring major changes to the engines on these commercial and recreation related boats is not necessary at this time.

Please concentrate on the ridiculous fire suppression policies of "let it burn" that is spewing hundreds of thousands of tons of pollutants into the air with each wildfire that has been burning.

As an avid outdorrsman, fisherman and lifetime resident of california, I urge you to consider the economic impact of these proposed regulations. Pretty soon only the wealthy will be able to enjoy our waters. Families will be jobless, harbors out of business and overall less tourism dollars for our state.

Comment:

Please do not enforce these new emission standards that would destroy the Sportfishing fleet in California. This would not only put hundreds of hard working people out of work but also affect a huge tourism industry and the tackle industry. This would also affect so many educational efforts but also there is work with the military and at risk children with groups like Friends of Rollo. Please don't stop the Sportfishing in California.

Comment:

This is a terribly misguided approach to mitigating air pollution and this one-sized fits all approach is not feasible, I do not support this effort at all:

#1- the Lithium Ion battery industry is unreliable, dangerous and constantly suffers from supply chain issues.

#2- why require undeveloped and unproven engine technology that does not yet exist?

#3- go back to the drawing board and work with the small passenger vessel industry to come up with a better solution.

#4- as someone who has a degree in environmental studies, I am beginning to loose faith in the environmental movement in California because it has become so drastic, one-sided misguided and unwilling to think outside the box. This approach backfires and now we see the result... common sense in pushing back!

Carb,

As an avid angler I am very familiar with southern Californias sport fishing fleet. Lately it seems that the owners have stated new regulation will be the end of sport fishing as we know it. I for one, do not believe this for a second. The idea that modern vessels that meet air quality standards is not financially feasible is down right disturbing. I urge your organization to please proceed with implementing these new regulations. We owe it to California, and the fishing fleet owes it to us, the customer, to be responsible.

Speaking in behalf of recreational and sportfishing industry. We do a kid fishing program and it is very vital that we have these recreational sport boats to go out and do our educational family engaging fishing program. It's are a big part of what we do on the water education and fishing outings. We need this resource yea in and year out. We are out catching memories with thousands of kids a year and their family members. Most of the kids that we take out, wouldn't have the opportunity to do this, this is very impactful for the growth of fishing and education to the under served community's.

It is not OK for this to happen the way it's happening. People have their whole life's invested in this industry. The regulations are no feasible for most of the vessels and landings. This could definitely put me out of a job with a baby on the way it's not right. I am a capitan of a sport boat and so is my grandfather.

Your going to ruin what we have worked so hard for when all the construction creates way more pollution. It makes no sense.

the passage of this amendment will be a disaster to the sport fishing industry. It would be impossible for compliance as called for. Please reconsider. So many jobs will be lost. Please allow the boating industry enough time to make the change. A marine Diesel engine is designed to last 20 or more years. The timeline you have set is the set is equal to replacing your cellphone every 8 months. We cannot afford to put all these people out of work.

Comment:

It seems like middle ground is achievable with Tier 3 engines for the sport-fishing fleet. Doing something less than this, unfortunately, will kill the industry in San Diego and create even more divisiveness in a country that really needs to come together.

So, PLEASE, give the fleet a chance. I'll note that Mexico is likely salivating as the legislation will push the industry south of the boarder where you have NO jurisdiction. Again, please keep the industry alive, vibrant, here and regulated. Just reasonably so.

Thank you!

Subject: Regulations for marine Diesel engines and the California Sportfishing fleet

Comment:

To whom it may concern:

My name is James McDaniels and I have been the owner/operator of the passenger Sportfishing vessel Grande for 17 years. The Grande is an 85 foot, purpose built Sportfishing boat, known as one of the higher capacity boats designed specifically for Sportfishing in the state. It was built right here in Southern California in 1963 and has offered a tradition of dependable service every year since its launch, primarily in the San Diego region. We routinely take as many as 50 people at a time out for a day of Sportfishing and offer 12 hour trips which are on the shorter side when it comes to average length of fishing trips. These are the trips that are perfect for families and typically referred to as an entry level trip where new people are exposed to the sport of fishing. During the summer, the trip participants are often tourists, coming to California from all over the nation and the world. The fishing trip is usually just a part of their visit, which typically includes hotel stays, restaurants and is a benefit to other surrounding business.

I bought the Grande in 2004 and after my first two years in business I participated in my first ever engine repower program through the Air Pollution Control District of San Diego. We took out tier zero Detroit Diesel engines from the 1980's and installed tier two John Deere diesels which at the time were the most modern technology available.

In 2015 I participated in the program again. This time we took out our set of tier zero auxiliary engines which generate electricity for the vessel and repowered them with tier three new technology.

The reason I feel compelled to talk about this is I feel there is a false narrative that portrays us fishermen as not wanting to comply, being resistant to change. This couldn't be more untrue. I'm proud of the contribution we've made to the states air quality by participating twice in the program and I'm looking forward to participating again. As soon as the technology exists that is safe to use in our vessels, I will be the first one to apply for my third repower.

I own one of a few extremely unique vessels, a true piece of Southern California history, designed and built specifically for its use. Its made of wood, the engine spaces are small and not designed to accommodate the soon to be mandated equipment. Altering it is not an option. Simply put, these mandates in their current form will be the end of Grande Sportfishing and the death of the vessel that has served this community with pride for 58 years. I can't put equipment in this boat that poses a fire hazard and I can put equipment in this boat that takes up significantly more space than the existing equipment. It just won't work.

I am a proud California business owner, I employ a crew of seven year round and we care about California's air quality. I'm looking forward to continuing our emissions reduction contributions just as soon as the technology is available.

Thank you,

James McDaniels

Please take your time to review this very delicate subject. The Sportfishing Industry in San Diego and the whole state of California is a very special and life changing industry for so many reasons, from the dedicated folks who risk their lives everyday to provide an amazing experience for their clients and a livelihood for their families. The educational aspect of what these boats do for the local school districts to the efforts to get out on the water the number of different organizations that help everyone from military veterans, youth organizations, disabled people, the list goes on! Please don't let Sportfishing in San Diego just be a memory that our future won't be able to enjoy. Take your time to make the right decision for all parties involved.

Thanks,

I'm 57. I went on my first Sportfishing boat when I was 5 years old in San Diego. I continued with my dad for years. I graduated high school with no direction. I've made a good living for the last 40 years commercial fishing off the California coast. I will continue for another 15 years probably. It's a respectable way of life.

Comment:

Esteemed Elected California Law Makers,
I am from, have grown up on, and in retirement still love and fish the Southern California Coast. Since 1950, I have seen significant improvement of the salt water ecology with improved water cleanliness, increased fish and bird life, and much better near and offshore sports fishing. The ocean is alive again and it has benefitted from conservation efforts, many created by our law makers from 70 years ago. Congratulations to them for a balanced approach to conservation, one that didn't destroy recreational opportunity or the livelihood of those in ocean business related to boating and fishing. Those laws worked and they didn't jeopardize the citizens access to water sports and the commercial industry on which we rely to do our fishing, whale watching, and diving. Unfortunately, the latest ideas to further protect and regulate access to our coastal resources will not allow we ocean enthusiasts to have access because the stringent boat modifications and mandated new boat styles (metal with electric / hybrid power) don't allow those captains and companies with which we hire and depend on to take us on the water the time and resources they will need to make the changes you are requiring so they can legally keep operating. I am asking you to protect these companies, their captains, and their crew. Please modify your plan so they can continue to to serve us, the voting, tax paying public who desperately need the ocean as a year round, affordable, recreational outlet.
Thank you,
Gene Simon

For years many things have come under assault, the Sport Fishing industry has given Californians the opportunity to catch fresh fish from our local Waters. It has provided thousands of jobs and the sale of license revenue to the State. With the sale of sport fishing equipment also has provided sales tax revenue to the State. Please protect this industry that has been around for decades.

Ms. Liane Randolph,

My name is Nadine Urciuoli and I am the President of the San Rafael Channel Association which is a nonprofit public benefit corporation promoting and supporting the dredging, repair, maintenance and improvement of the San Rafael Channel as navigable waters for the benefit of the San Rafael community and the general public.

I am writing to you to ask not to move forward with the new regulations on Sportfishing. Not only would this effect the sportfishing operations but also the businesses which support them causing catastrophic economic problems for the marine commercial community. In addition, CARB's regulations will require major reconstruction of the boat's hull to account for added size and mass of modified engines and exhaust systems or the vessel must be removed from service. The environment impact of rebuilding or replacement of these vessels outweighs the environment impact of continuing to use the current vessels with tier 3 engines.

With Regards,

Nadine Urciuoli

President

Comment:

My name is Helmut Ahollinger. In 1988 I established Helmut's Marine Service in San Rafael, California as a Volvo Penta dealer and grew to be the Volvo Penta Power Center and engine distributor.

I am writing to you today to share my deep concern on the new regulations regarding our sport fishing customers. To date there are no tier 4 engines available for these vessels and there is a huge backlog is new boats due to the high demand of boats since the pandemic began as well as backorder supplies have not allowed boat manufacturers to produce vessels at the same rate prior to the pandemic.

To ask these fishermen who work so hard to purchase new vessels would be catastrophic not only for their businesses but the businesses like mine which help support them.

We strongly urge to reconsider moving forward with this new regulation.

With Regards,

Helmut Ahollinger
President
Helmut's Marine Service, Inc.

Subject: Sport fishing boat emissions regulations - pending

Comment:

To Whom It May Concern:

As a lifetime California angler I was pretty shocked to hear about the impending regulations regarding emissions that CARB is trying to implement. They are unreasonable and unrealistic and will result in the demise of an entire industry that provides Californians with access to our ocean for food and recreation. Decimating this industry will have a ripple effect that will impact many lives and businesses resulting in yet another loss of revenue for the State. People are already leaving the state in record numbers due to the government's desire to turn the state into a giant Eco Park so I implore you to PLEASE not make things worse! Clean air is a worthy goal but not at the expense of an entire sector of the economy who's contribution to making California a great place to live far outweighs it's extremely minor Carbon Footprint. Please find a better solution!

To whom it may concern,
As a professional Boating Captain here in the So Cal / San Diego / West Coast area. My thoughts when I read this nonsense about this CHC2021. Just makes me feel sick to my stomach. WHAT ARE YOU THINKING !! My question to ALL involved with this decision is ....Please answer these few questions with YOUR FAMILY !!
1) Have you ever been sportfishing on an open party type vessel ?
2) When was the last time you were on any type of boat on the ocean ?
3) Our ocean is OURS as the FREE PUBLIC !! Correct ?
4) Our Ocean is to you ? Please fill in the rest of this question.
5) The ocean is my life and boating is everything to me and My FAMILY. Please don't take it away from us !!

Comment:

Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels (CPFV) should be exempt from the California Air Resources Board pending emission regulations. The pending Commercial Harbor Craft (CHC or harbor craft) regulations should NOT be "blanket" but instead based on a vessels gross tonnage. Larger CHC vessels OVER 100 tons that primarily operate within the seaports, marinas, and harbors or CHC vessels that are docked for extended periods and rely on main/aux diesel engines for electrical operating power would be subject to the new CARB regulations.

Thank you

Comment:

Dear Sirs,

I am writing to suggest a compromise in your effort to have clean air and water without ruining a beloved pastime of mine for 40 years. (Sportfishing off the CA Coast)

I propose a plan to phase out older, inefficient engines over a 20 year period. This will allow time for a new, cost effective type of engine to be built and tested. If you try to mandate something sooner, you will cause damage to the investment many of these boat operations have made, it could also cause a safety hazard if these engines are not tested beforehand. I am a Navy veteran and have spent many years on US Naval vessels, we still had problems and fires aboard these modern vessels, the same will happen if sufficient time is not permitted. Respectfully Patrick Gee

They keep getting hammered and will be out of business if you enact these changes. Fishing on the commercial boats is a source of great enjoyment by those of us who cannot afford to buy or rent our own boat. Their business got hit hard by covid, and is still feeling the effects. Recently they were hit by the oil spill. And with the tighter regulations on the fish that can be caught, they are getting less and less fisherman. Please give these companies and their customers a break by grandfathering any changes that you make so that they can continue on for the benefit of all.

Gov. Newsome and CARB, are out of line on policies and regulations by continually pushing regulations that harm everyday citizens to gainful employment and the enjoyment of everyday recreation. Question: what has Newsome and Pelosi done to curb their own wasteful use of energy and adding to the carbon footprint. They charter themselves in aircraft for unnecessary trips, have extraordinary homes that are energy monstrosities, and now want to curb the publics interest in recreation and killing off jobs because of their proposed regulations. They are killing the economy, this country, and this state and that is why people and businesses are fleeing California. Their over-righteous and overzealous minds does not contribute to a healthier environment. There should have been plans for mass transit in place years ago to curb pollution from automobiles. Now you're targeting more jobs and killing recreational fishing, that contributes minimally to the pollution to the environment. How about this, target the dirty chinese cargo ships that are setting in coastal waters waiting to offload chinese products. You know they're not clean energy users. Get off your high horses and work on policies that actually target the real polluters.

As a long time recreational fisherman (both fresh and salt water) I am extremely upset and bothered by the CARB's continued assault on the little guys. Recreational sports fishing boats are the only way people like me can afford to go fishing on the ocean. I consider the proposed regulation to be a direct assault on one of the few affordable recreational activities left in California. I would suggest the Board regulate the drive through Starbuck lines with 25-30 idling autos then rather than the sportfishing industry.

Subject: CARB requirements on Older Wooden boats

Comment:

I enjoy sport fishing in the Ocean off the CA coast and feel that holding the older boats to the higher standards of the CARB's regulations in regards to air quality and emissions, deisel engines, etc. would put at least 80% of the small commercial sport fishing boats out of business. The sport fishing industry and their families would suffer. The general public that also enjoy whale watching and the like would suffer. The costs of tickets for such excursions would be cost prohibitive to charge the general public and the industry would have to shut down their businesses. They can't afford the expensive retrofitting of the older boats and can't afford the costs of the new metal boats that meet the current CARB emissions standards. Something has to give, and it should be such strict standards.

Ms. Liane Randolph, Chair
California Resources Board, c/o chc2021, 1001 I (eye) Street, Sacramento, Ca 95814

My wife and I are the owners and operators of two passenger sportfishing vessels based out of H&M Landing in San Diego, Ca. We have both worked on many boats for over 37 years and we have immersed ourselves with the everyday tasks to stay in business in California. We have raised two children with a "Fisherman's Salary" and were successful with putting food on the table, sent our children to school and have a good upbringing. Our son Hunter has been the captain of the Poseidon since the age of 19. We have seen some of the best and toughest seasons, but we have always managed to get by. Sportfishing has been carved into our family and on our days off we go sportfishing. The Constitution was re-powered with 2-tier 3 Scania motors, and 2-30kw Onan tier 3 generators 6 years ago. Our vessels are continuously connected to shore power 8 months out of every year and primarily doing maintenance. The vessel's generators are turned on for 30 minutes before every trip and when we board passengers, load bait and literally spend less then 4 hours in California waters running out and 3 hours running back on average. The 7 hours we are in operation we don't feel our operation makes any pollution to the environment of any degree to require machinery that would need to be replaced. 1088.1

Our 2 vessels are constructed of fiberglass and wood and to ask us to rebuild our vessels would cost us $4-5 Million dollars each, 8-15 years to build and with the lack of shipyards, labor and materials available, it would be impossible to be in business if the entire fleet needed to get re-powered and rebuild even with funding from the State and Federal government. We employ 15 hard working individuals and to ask us to come up with $5 Million dollars to rebuild our two boats would be impossible. Given the state of Covid and hardship our family has been put into, we are happy to keep the 15 Family's, Shipyards, Fish processors, Landing, Bait Concession, Fuel Docks, Food Markets, Marine Part Companies, Electronic companies, CA Fish & Game, local restaurants and hotels, all the marine motor, electrical and air conditioning companies paid year round. 1088.2 1088.3

We are hoping CARB will continue to classify our vessels the same way commercial, whale watching has been doing it for many years and to continue to provide motors to the fleet as they become more reliable and safe for our passengers.

If CARB chooses to require us to rebuild new boats we will no longer be in business.

Either this is one of the poorest thought out proposals/Laws or someone wants to put the Sports-fishing industry out of business - FAST.

I took my son fishing when he was 9yrs old to teach him the values my father taught me fishing. Patients and courtesy are at the top of the list and this state could lean more of both. I am now doing the same with my grandchildren.

Most of the time we don't keep our catches for another lesson - Conservation.

I can't believe what is happening to the beautiful state of which I live in. I can not imagine not being able to charter a boat with many people who share the love of catching fish with responsibility. All regulated by the state. Not once have I been on a boat that has allowed a single fish get by because it was just short of being legal length. The fishing industry promotes so much to our economy, including gas tax; fishing licenses, bait and tackle, rod and reel manufacturers and repair. All of them help these employees put food on their tables. Help me put food on mine by not putting regulations on these vessel owners. Help keep the sport we love affordable.

As a sports fisherman, I worry about the passage of chc2021. It is not possible for so many of the small boat owners to comply. There will be many in the industry put out of work. Do not pass chc2021.

What the hell do you think you are doing, this will destroy businesses and do you realize what this is gonna do to sale of licenses! If we can't get on boat, people will stop going fishing which will further the decline in licenses!!

Comment:

Dear Chair Randolph and Members of the Board,
Ships are one of the worst air polluters in California, and harbor boats are one of the top three cancer risks for Californians living near the ports of Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Oakland. California must stop investing in diesel operated harbor boats and instead invest in clean technologies and jobs.

The technology exists to transition commercial harbor craft to 100% clean fleets today. Already, there are over 300 operating zero-emission ships powered by batteries worldwide, with another 194 on order.

Given the climate emergency that we are facing, we need bold climate leadership. I'm asking you to strengthen the Commercial

Harbor Craft rule:

1. Require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule 1094.1

2. Add language to allow the Board to revisit the rule as the zero-emissions boat market evolves to ensure the regulation achieves maximum emission reductions 1094.2

3. Increase funding for zero-emissions boat pilots and retrofits to spur innovation 1094.3

This is a critical time to protect the health of port-side communities, Californian families, and our environment.

Thank you for your attention to this important issue.

Subject: DIESEL EMISSIONS REQUIREMENTS CHARTER BOATS

Comment:

Hello,

I'm writing to express my concern about the upcoming emissions regulations for charter boats in California. These boats take a long time to construct and design. The proposed regulations ask for unreasonable timelines and emissions regulations for the charters.

Not all technology is drag and drop, and if unable to make modifications work, it will be impossible to sell a boat designed for the West Coast. Coupled with the shortages, I booked a charter and the Captain ordered his engines over a year ago, they still haven't come and he is out thousands of dollars. Now the upcoming law expects hundreds of boats to all have access to limited engines, or build new boats does not make sense in the limited timeline.

Comment:

As a charter boat owner and operator I'm extremely concerned about the future of our fishery. Not because of the amount of fish but the amount of restrictions being placed on our way of life. As a fishermen and steward of the sea I care about the environment. With that said CARB would destroy my way of living and make it impossible to provide for my family. This industry is full of hardworking men and women. It's one of the oldest occupations in California and deserves better. Until the technology comes along it makes no sense economically, environmentally or from a safety stand point to replace our engines.

I am not in support with the new regulations for tier 4 diesel engines. There are no engines being made that will fit into my charter boat at this time. Asking for something that does not exist doesn't seem right. Right now my vessel is being re-powered with tier 3 motors which are the cleanest on the market at this time,

Hello, having been born and raised in Southern California I have grown to love the ocean and sport fishing. I learned to fish with my Father who was an expert, I have proudly handed down this Family tradition to my Sons. We have all proudly brought our fresh catch to the dinner table and given away a lot of fish to Friends and neighbors. If you have any knowledge of or experienced this incredible gift from nature you will not change Harbor Craft Regulations that will increase costs and cripple the sport fishing industry. I hope and pray you will not harm or eliminate our opportunities to enjoy our ocean and our fresh catch of wild caught fish. I beg you to consider my plea. Sincerely Steve Ford

Comment:

Hello,

I have been avid fisherman for over 40 years. This new regulation will drive our access to Sportfishing away. At this time it is my understanding there is no economical way to reduce emissions that Sportfishing fishing boat are emitting right. These sport boats employ many people. It will close all of fishing tackle stores in California. Make fresh fish more expensive. The food service industry will not be able to sell food supplies to boat for fishermen to be able to eat meal on the boat.

1101.1

I'm not a person who has a great paying job. I watch my pennies to be able to take these fishing trip. This regulation will just take away a sport that I like.

1101.2

I'm all for reducing the emissions but when it makes good sense and risk people's livelihood. Please wait until there is a device that will allow these boat owner to install this device to reduce the emission.

Thank you

Please don't make it harder to enjoy the sport of fishing. I have fished sport boats for over 50 years. It's a great pass time to forget the many trials and tribulations of every day life just for a brief few hours. It has gotten progressively harder to get out on the water due to costs, fishing licenses, boat fares,MLPA's parking,fuel cost. New regulations for small boat operations will destroy this sport if not implemented wisely. . The fishing industry supports many industries and jobs. PLEASE DONT TAKE OUR PASSION AWAY FROM MILLIONS OF PAST AND FUTURE ANGLERS!!!

I am a 78 year senior that has enjoyed ocean sport fishing all my life. Presently, a 1/2 day trip from local sportfishing landings is over $75. Because of COVID and inflation, I am no longer able to afford my monthly outings on the water. Please do not enact a bill that will either eliminate the poorer folks or completely eliminate the sportfishing industry.

Comment:

Dear California Air Resources Board and Stakeholders,

Sportfishing is a longtime hobby of mine and is a family activity we all enjoy. It's also a pastime in in our wonderful state. Anglers and hunters alike know the importance of clean air, waterways, and our public lands; we probably appreciate it more than most people. But regulating an industry such as sportfishing to meet certain requirements that are onerous and cumbersome will have the exact opposite effect that we'd all like to see.

Before I considered myself a serious hunter and angler, protecting our waterways and natural resources was not top of mind. In fact, you could make the argument that I didn't care much at all about such topics, and you'd be right. But one thing I've noticed is that as I became more involved in these activities I cared much more deeply about environmental issues. I've had friends say similar things as well. It's only when individuals participate in activities such as sportfishing when they realize the benefits of such activities as well as the glorious aspects of our natural resources and wonders.

By crippling an industry such as sportfishing, I believe you will reduce the ability to reach people and convince them of the need to protect our environment. They won't be able to participate in it anyway so why would they care? By limiting the number of opportunities to participate in sportfishing, people will not understand the impacts of climate change, overfishing, and limited access to public lands.

California is a beautiful state. As a lifelong resident, I want people to be outside more often - whether that's camping, hiking, rock climbing, fishing, hunting, or even just sitting by a stream - but by reducing the number of opportunities for people to be outside, we will be removing the free joy that is afforded us in our state.

Please reconsider this proposal and do not regulate this industry out of existence.

Kind regards,
Paul Seitz

Ms. Liane Randolph, Chair

California Resources Board, c/o chc2021, 1001 I (eye) Street,
Sacramento, Ca 95814

My wife and I are the owners and operators of two passenger sportfishing vessels based out of H&M Landing in San Diego, Ca. We have both worked on many boats for over 37 years and we have immersed ourselves with the everyday tasks to stay in business in California. We have raised two children with a "Fisherman's Salary" and were successful with putting food on the table, sent our children to school and have a good upbringing. Our son Hunter has been the captain of the Poseidon since the age of 19. We have seen some of the best and toughest seasons, but we have always managed to get by. Sportfishing has been carved into our family and on our days off we go sportfishing. The Constitution was re-powered with 2-tier 3 Scania motors, and 2-30kw Onan tier 3 generators 6 years ago. Our vessels are continuously connected to shore power 8 months out of every year and primarily doing maintenance. The vessel's generators are turned on for 30 minutes before every trip and when we board passengers, load bait and literally spend less than 4 hours in California waters running out and 3 hours running back on average. The 7 hours we are in operation we don't feel our operation makes any pollution to the environment of any degree to require machinery that would need to be replaced.

Our 2 vessels are constructed of fiberglass and wood and to ask us to rebuild our vessels would cost us $4-5 Million dollars each, 8-15 years to build and with the lack of shipyards, labor and materials available, it would be impossible to be in business if the entire fleet needed to get re-powered and rebuild even with funding from the State and Federal government. We employ 15 hard working individuals and to ask us to come up with $5 Million dollars to rebuild our two boats would be impossible. Given the state of Covid and hardship our family has been put into, we are happy to keep the 15 Family's, Shipyards, Fish processors, Landing, Bait Concession, Fuel Docks, Food Markets, Marine Part Companies, Electronic companies, CA Fish & Game, local restaurants and hotels, all the marine motor, electrical and air conditioning companies paid year round.

We are hoping CARB will continue to classify our vessels the same way commercial, whale watching has been doing it for many years and to continue to provide motors to the fleet as they become more reliable and safe for our passengers.

If CARB chooses to require us to rebuild new boats we will no longer be in business.

Comment:

The proposed changes to the sportfishing fleet with regard to exhaust emissions seem arbitrary and frankly, capricious. Considering the transition that is already taking place to electric vehicles, the total load of pollutants entering the environment continues to decline. This proposal is government overreach which very questionable data to support the position. I do not think that the damage this proposal will do to the coastal economies of California is justified by this attempt to reduce pollution.

Dear C.A.R.B.,

The State of California can neither afford or risk killing not only the sport fishing industry but private recreational boating itself, A absolute death blow to an already shaky economy in California. Talk about a max exodus, people will leave this state in droves, they will go elsewhere to enjoy their hobbies and dreams. I grew up in the 60's & 70's and remember the pollution, C.A.R.B. has done a wonderful job cleaning up the air here in Southern California, but the time has come to help find solutions, rather than just outright bans. Use the technology and resources available to help the boating/fishing communities, before we all pack our boats and gear and leave.

Sincerely,

Dr Miller

The required engine technology that does not currently exist for this class of boats and you threaten to put an entire commercial sport fishing industry out of business. Air quality is important but there should be some middle ground to introduce the requirements.

Hello,

Do not impose such restrictions on small operations like sportfishing and whale watching. The cost will completely ruin the industry. Things cost too much as is with Covid and beyond ridiculous fuel prices. It is bad enough our Commie Governor banned gas powered lawn mowers and leaf blowers. Can you give us folks a break already? Lastly, I have a classic Corvette after 1975, I have to pay a damn fortune to smog it. Nobody makes the smog parts any more. Give us folks a damn break already. I hate this state and cannot wait to leave it.

None of my comments matter but I said my piece, Steve Issa

Below is the comment you selected to display. Comment 1114 for Proposed Amendments to Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation (chc2021) - 45 Day.

First Name: Doug
Last Name: Vernand
Email Address: dvernand@yahoo.com
Affiliation: Channel Islands Sportfishing

Subject: CHC 2021

Comment:

My name is Doug Vernand. Our family owns Channel Islands Sportfishing in Oxnard, CA. We have been in the sportfishing industry for over 50 years. This is our livelihood. Our landing has up to 12 Sportfishing and Whale Watching boats that serve thousands of people a month.

When Covid-19 hit and we were all shut down for several months, we had no idea what we were going to do. When we were allowed to resume business, people were eagerly waiting to get back on a boat and go fishing. Some to escape the stresses of the pandemic, some for food for their families, some for the love of just being out on the water.

As the landing owner, we sell tickets for these privately owned boats. We employ 12 or more year round. All the boats employ 3 - 8 people year round. These owners, captains and deckhands are invested in this industry. Many would have no other place to go to work if they got shut down. This is their LIFE. Their love of being on the water, helping others to catch fish is obvious.

If you've never seen the thrill on the faces of children who catch their first fish, or feel the excitement of an old timer, who has spent many many hours fishing, still feel that same thrill as the first time they caught a fish, you might want to. Did you know that fishing on a boat is a special thrill for those who are blind, deaf or handicapped in other ways? Or the first time, an underprivileged child or adult gets taken out on a boat? Just being out is their excitement but add in catching their first fish or seeing a dolphin or 100. How about the veteran's that go fishing to combat PTSD? This is what it's about.

If this passes, you will be eliminating affordable access to those who cannot afford their own boat. To ask the boat owners to raise prices will make it impossible for low to middle class income people. This is not even an option. Furthermore, to build a new boat will cost $4million or more which, will be out of reach for most of the owners. Not to mention the time it would take to build such a boat times 80 +. The boats will be bigger so docking could be a problem. I know it would be in our harbor.

1114.4

Our company generates a lot of income for the county harbor. With the sportfishing and whale watching at risk, so will the harbors income be at risk. Everyone is trying to recover from Covid-19. California says they want to help small businesses recover. If this industry gets shut down, it will affect employment, the local restaurants, hotels, tackle stores, gas stations, etc. It's a big deal. And no one will be buying fishing licenses. Has anyone looked at all of this? Ocean Sportfishing generates a LOT of money selling fishing licenses.

I believe the proposed Harbor Craft rule will put us and the 12 Sportfishing/ Whale watching boats, as well as the bait company, at our landing, out of business. And this is just our one company.

Please consider keeping the passenger boats in the same category as commercial fishing boats. They all have access to upgrading to the most current engines and technology to help with the air quality.

1114.6

Thank you for taking the time to read this comment.

Subject: New fishing boat reg

Comment:

To whom it may concern,
Please reconsider the new ridiculous items that are proposed for passenger fishing boats. This is owners of these boats, Do not make a lot of money at this industry. We do it for a love of the ocean. What is wrong with the fiberglass vessel? A fiberglass vessel is more structurally sound and it steel vessel or aluminum vessel. There is a point you have to realize that we will need to use diesel engines and wood/fiberglass vessels. Please reconsider this when voting on the governor's ridiculous plan.

I was born in East LA and grew up in rough neighbourhoods. I was an only child to an immigrant mother and father my dad sister had five boys and what kept me from getting into gangs getting pregnant and getting killed was my love for fishing. I will work odd jobs, Mow the grass, paint rocks and do whatever it took to save up money so that I can get to long beach and go out on a day trip to catch some yellowtail. If the fleet has to change out their boats to comply with new regulations there would be no way for people like me to be able to afford fishing tickets as it is the prices are pretty high. I take other girls fishing every chance I get so that I can transfer my love of the sport to them. And imagine what what my life would be like without this sport. Please do something about this it's not a joke it's a place of reprieve in a place where we have safety and sanctuary from the insanity of the hood. Now I don't live in the hood anymore, but I also don't forget where I came from or the things that kept me from going down the wrong pathways. Cooper says that on a daily basis you could should commune with nature. There's no better way to commune with nature than being out on the water.

Comment:

The proposed new regulations for the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations are not warranted and I strongly oppose the new regulations due to it eliminating the ability for commercial fishing boats to comply with the onerous restrictions and it will kill the commercial fishing industry and kill jobs and consumers ability to fish. As written, the new law doesn't take in consideration the "public good" and it harms the public by removing vessels from being able to be used because it is not economically feasible for them to comply.

Please do not act to change regulations on sport fishing boats. There are only a minimal number of vessels that are out on the water at any time and any consideration that modifying them to better the environment is ridiculous I am a senior with limited income and will not be able to do what I love which is deep sea fishing if your actions increase the cost of doing so.

Subject: Reasonable restrictions work

Comment:

Hello.

I'm a lifelong fisherman and consider myself a staunch conservationist. I beleive in reasonable restrictions and change. I believe the regulation to ban outright three star or less motors on sportfishing and whale watching boats will do more harm than good.

People who connect to nature tend to vote and act in ways to protect it, unlike people who don't have any experience with it. Net net, the environment benefits from people who engage with nature.

This new regulation will SEVERELY restrict this ability to interact with, and protect the natural environment, in comparison to the minor harm this industry causes the environment. T

1124.1

THERE ARE BIGGER POLLUTERS OF THE MARINE ENVIRONMENT. Like large, ocean going vessels and cruise ships.

1124.2

Current vessels should be grandfathered in to continue to operate reasonably - as the vintage vehicles are allowed to operate on roads today, and replaced as they age out and no longer function, with 5 star motors.

1124.3

Be reasonable. Unreasonable restrictions are what drive the knee jerk 'screw the authorities and environment' attitudes that many people have.

Be reasonable. please.

Sirs:

Clean air is important to all of us. But this proposed law is just plain ridiculous and the most harmful suggestion for hundreds of thousands of Californians. I sportfish and my only access to the open waters is via a sportfishing boat operation. I am not wealthy and the prices have gone up to where I can afford to go only a few times a year now. If this new regulation goes into effect and forces sportfishing operations to rebuild all of their boats and SUBSTANTIALLY raise prices it will effectively deny me and my grandchildren of our right and ability to pursue open water fishing for pelagic species. Please do not pass this new regulation as it WILL FINANCIALLY HARM THOUSANDS of Californians who support their families thru sportfishing. Many who are not even in the sportfishing industry-- electronics, fuel, repairs, manufacturing, sporting goods stores, food suppliers, and many more. It will HARM HUNDREDS of THOUSANDS of WORKERS AND JOBS !!

I am concerned the proposed passenger boat regulations require new engines and technology that is not feasible from a safety, financial or operational standpoint.

The proposed regulations will likely remove passenger boats made of wood and fiberglass from service. This would apply to over 80% of all boats! Boat owners will be forced out of business.

My family and millions like us will be denied affordable access to the ocean. Our access to the ocean and ability to go fishing is the reason we live in California.

1128.2

There will be a ripple effect, negatively impacting tourism, jobs, and quality of living.

Why would a group of legislators and Senators allow a group of people to regulate something as stupid as requireing a boat to have a Tier 4 Motor that has not been invented yet. 1129.1

Just maybe you should forget the ENVIROMENTALST for a while and look at how many people you will hurt. Maybe you should look at who pays the Taxes in this state. The people that are stirring the pot are often not state of California Citizens.They do not give one hoot about who will be out of a job ,loose their investment or loose their homes. The other issue is poorer people can go fishing and pick up a bit of protein on a half day boat and take their children. But not after these regulations are in affect. I know that some one up in Sacramento is Intelligent enough to figure out a alternitive to the problem. If not then over the next ten years we will develop a vacancy in their offices. 1129.2

Mr. David C. Quiros
Manager, Freight Technology Section
Transportation and Toxics Division
California Air Resources Board
1001 "T" Street
Sacramento, CA 95814

Re: Request for 90-Day Extension for Comments to Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Dear Mr. Quiros:

I am writing to request a 90-day extension of the November 15, 2021, public comment deadline for the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation. We also request a 90-day extension of the CARB public hearing currently scheduled for November 19, 2021.

CARB has provided only 45 days for stakeholders to review and develop comments on the rulemaking package, which contains over 1,500 pages of material. Assuming it takes an average person approximately three hours to read 100 pages, it would take about 45 hours of dedicated reading time to read the entire rulemaking package. Significant additional time would be required to process the contents of this dense rulemaking and to provide CARB with thoughtful comments.

Careful analysis and thoughtful comments are essential because the rulemaking package includes new material and is unprecedented in its scope and impact. It will affect over 3,000 vessels operating in California waters and cost California's harbor craft industry approximately $2 billion, according to CARB's estimate. Industry cost estimates are considerably higher. Additional time is needed because the rulemaking package is large and the scope of impact to California's harbor craft community is extraordinary.

This is not the first time that stakeholders have requested extensions or pauses to this regulatory process. Members of the California legislature, along with dozens of industry stakeholders, have requested extensions almost from the inception of the preliminary rulemaking process, which also happened to coincide with the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. CARB has not been responsive to these requests, providing insufficient extensions of 30 days for the comment period on the preliminary March 2020 draft amendments and a 7-day extension from November 8 to November 15, 2021, for the current rulemaking. Several of those letters are reproduced below to provide context.

Although CARB has incorporated very little of AWO's substantive feedback from earlier iterations of this draft rule into the current final version, we are nonetheless optimistic that careful deliberation and genuine dialogue between CARB and its regulated community may help to improve the rule, if there is sufficient time to do so. Therefore, AWO hereby requests a 90-day extension to develop important feedback on this proposal that likely represents the most dramatic and costly regulation in the history of domestic commercial maritime operations in California. Allowing AWO and other heavily impacted stakeholders to submit public comments and testimony with greater clarity and comprehensiveness will provide CARB with the additional information needed to develop a regulation that improves air quality for the citizens of California in a meaningful and reasonable manner.

Sincerely,

Lynn M. Muench
Senior Vice President – Regional Advocacy

Dear Ms. Haynes,

Thank you again for the opportunity to engage with CARB on its Proposed Concepts for Commercial Harbor Craft in California.

I am writing to request a 90-day extension of the March 31, 2020 public comment deadline for the Proposed Concepts. CARB has emphasized to the American Waterways Operators the importance of robust industry feedback on the Proposed Concepts for Commercial Harbor Craft in California, many of which are unprecedented within the tugboat, towboat, and barge industry. AWO appreciates CARB's willingness to consider modifications to the proposed concepts based on industry input, but the March 31, 2020 public comment deadline is insufficient for AWO to convene and engage a robust group of members and stakeholders to accurately assess:

- The feasibility of new-build technologies to meet CARB's proposed requirements;
- The ability of vessel operators and shipyards to accommodate CARB's proposed requirements for retrofits and upgrades;
- The viability of in-use proposals, including opacity testing and recordkeeping changes;
- The practicability of CARB's proposed compliance schedules.

A 90-day extension of the public comment period on the Proposed Concepts would allow time for AWO to develop feedback without interfering with CARB's proposed implementation timelines. Additionally, allowing AWO and other heavily-impacted stakeholders to submit public comments with greater clarity and comprehensiveness than those submitted after only several weeks of stakeholder and member engagement during a global public health crisis may save CARB staff additional time and research.

Sincerely,

Charles P. Costanzo

Ms. Tracy Haynes
Staff Air Pollution Specialist
Transportation and Toxics Division
California Air Resources Board (CARB)

Dear Ms. Haynes,

I would like to modify AWO's March 12, 2020 request for a 90-day extension of the public comment deadline for the proposed harborcraft rules considering the emergency measures required under the COVID-19 virus outbreak. AWO now requests that CARB suspend the rulemaking indefinitely.

This rulemaking is among the most significant regulatory measures for the California harborcraft fleet and will require robust industry collaboration to provide CARB with feedback from the regulated community. In addition to collaboration among the regulated community, AWO members need opportunities to work with engine and other equipment manufacturers, financial institutions, legal professionals, shipyards and maintenance facilities, and many others to fully understand the impact of the proposed rules and to assist CARB staff as requested. This collaboration simply cannot take place under existing national emergency circumstances, and the end of these circumstances is nowhere in sight.

In these extraordinary circumstances, it is reasonable for CARB to suspend the rulemaking to allow AWO members to focus on the important business of keeping crews healthy to ensure the continued functioning of our national maritime transportation system.

Please know that AWO shares CARB's goals of reducing air emissions from harborcraft and safeguarding the health of Californians and their environment. We look forward to working with you and your staff on this important rulemaking. For now, though, CARB needs to suspend it.

Sincerely,

Charles P. Costanzo

Re: Rulemaking Impacting Essential Services Freight Transportation

Dear Chair Nichols,

The COVID-19 crisis has posed a fundamental threat to California's public health and our economy. In light of the economic impacts of this extraordinary event, it is imperative that the state government not only commit to slowing the spread of the virus, but also take the steps needed to protect our state's economy and employment opportunities for our working families.

Preserving the operations of our freight transportation system will be key to protecting our economy, keeping medical supplies moving, and ensuring that products are available on our store shelves during this unprecedented crisis. We thank Governor Newsom for recognizing that our goods movement industry and supply chains are "essential services" that must remain up and running during the pandemic. Without a fully functioning supply chain, we risk disrupting the delivery of critical medical supplies, the distribution of groceries, and billions of dollars in personal income, job opportunities, and tax revenue.

As such, we request that the California Air Resources Board (CARB) put all current and proposed rulemakings regarding freight transportation and harbor craft on hold until January 2021. This will ensure that the state can focus our essential transportation assets on delivering critical goods and providing transportation mobility options during this crisis.

We share CARB'S goal of protecting our air quality and the belief that we must base any new regulations on science, facts, air quality modeling, cost-effectiveness, and minimizing any negative impact on the statewide economy.

Over the past several weeks, COVID-19 has fundamentally transformed life as we know it in California, and it may take several months after the conclusion of this crisis before we can understand what the new baseline of our economy and environment will look like. Therefore, it is necessary for regulators to pause and reevaluate any proposed regulations based on our new reality once the crisis has subsided.

We are hopeful that by January 2021, we can evaluate COVID-19's impact on our state and work together to achieve the best environmental and economic outcomes for all Californians.

Ms. Liane M Randolph
Chair, California Air Resources Board (CARB)

RE: Harbor Craft Emissions Regulations

Dear Chair Randolph,

Please consider the following concerns regarding proposed draft regulations on commercial harbor craft vessels that will be coming before the Board in the next few months. While we support efforts to improve air quality, the proposed harbor craft engine emissions control regulations slated for publication in late September will have a significant impact on maritime businesses, tourism, local revenues and affordable ocean access for all Californians.

The regulations will require passenger vessels and ferries; tugboats and barges; pilot boats; sportfishing boats; and marine construction vessels to either retrofit or replace vessels that CARB staff has conservatively estimated to cost over $2 billion. These vessels are critical to California's transportation, recreation, international trade, and construction industries as well as residents who rely on ferries to travel to/from their homes.

Technology does not exist for some vessels and will pose safety risks for others: The proposed regulations will require technology that does not exist for many harbor vessels and will require operators to build new larger vessels to accommodate the weight and size of the mandated equipment. In other cases, we understand a Cal Maritime Academy study concluded, and the U.S. Coast Guard has expressed concerns, that the added mass, weight, and energy requirements of Tier 4 engines with diesel particulate filters would significantly impact vessel safety and stability – leaving one passenger vessel operator with a Hobbesian choice of retrofitting a vessel for $12 million or building a new vessel for $20 million. CARB must consider the immediate safety risk to passengers and crew in addition to long-term health effects.

CARB's proposed solution would reduce passenger load and increase ticket prices: Due to the additional weight of the mandated engines and diesel particulate filters, vessels such as ferries and sportfishing boats would have to reduce passenger load; some potentially by half – which alone would double the cost of tickets. CARB staff's suggestion to increase ticket prices will place a hardship on residents who rely on a ferry to travel to/from their homes to the mainland or to work (e.g., those who reside on Catalina Island) and reduce tourism dollars as ocean access becomes unaffordable. The COVID pandemic has hit individuals and businesses hard. Increasing ticket prices will exacerbate those hardships, become a barrier for access to our ocean waters, and negatively impact communities whose economy is reliant on the maritime industry.

Inconsistent application: We understand CARB staff has opted to eliminate the economic and technical infeasibility burden for the largest segment of commercial harbor craft from the proposed regulation while similar vessels and similarly operated vessels are required to comply, creating an inconsistency between which operators will need to undertake millions of dollars in retrofit costs or build new vessels and retire existing vessels before the end of their service life, and which operators will not.

Availability of grant programs: Concerns have been expressed that the proposed regulations will diminish the availability and effectiveness of grant and incentive programs that have been extensively leveraged by vessel operators to fund emission reduction and decarbonization projects that have achieved real beneficial results. These programs must be maintained to assist the regulated harbor craft community in achieving significant and on-going air emission reductions and survive challenging economic times.

California's maritime economy is critical to the future of our state. We urge the Board to provide sufficient time to ensure a robust and interactive process that has unfortunately been difficult to achieve during the pandemic. We also urge the Board to work with the maritime industry on solutions that will achieve emissions reductions while preserving our coastal communities, international trade, and affordable access to our ocean waters for all Californians.

Thank you for your consideration.

To whom it may concern; I ask you to please not pass this bill. I believe that more time and resources are needed for all parties involved. I am the wife of a 4th Generation California Fisherman. Our vessel is our livelihood. We are in favor for keeping California a wonderful state with clean air and clean oceans. We keep our vessel up to code, follow all current regulations, and are Coast Guard inspected twice a year, every year. We have 3 children who are raised on the water and if this bill passes a legacy will be diminished. I beg you to reconsider the effects this bill will have on the future generations of California fisherman, and the industry that is one-of-a-kind.

I find it interesting that the United Nations is funded mostly by USA tax payers money to impose the one of many laws set by california on environmental emissions mostly to appease the wealthy elitist of Santa Barbra co. and San Francisco..the state has complimented not only these stalin mandate on California bu now the world based on their science that is total self gain greed, along with California's drug ,gay rights and racist right to work laws , the taxpayers of the nation are again funding California state laws nationally...and most likely globally..

Where is china and the south east restrictions or india ? These countries once beaten into submission lime the US will be in even more poverty than the US...our tax dollars and the federal Reserve printing press is profiting the elite globalist gangsters while the citizens loose their freedoms to these self righteous thugs.corporate political espionage..this pandemic just showed us the preview of what's to come for the USA...look at ARGENTINA. The emission repower is a tax payer funded program for pay to play, for California USCG COMMERCIAL VESSELS IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA..A FEDERAL PILOT PROGRAM THAT WONT STOP NATIONALLY. AND WILL MOST LIKEY CONTINUE TO BE FUNDED GLOBALLY AGAIN BY THE BLOOD & SWEAT OF THE NEW SLAVES OF AMERICA AND THE RACKETEERING PRINTING PRESS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE CONTERFIET MACHINE

Dear Governor Newsom,

There has got to be a better way to solve this problem than cause an entire industry to shut down due to the high cost of meeting these new air quality regs. When cars were first required to meet new air quality standards, only new cars had to meet the new standards. Can't something like this be done. If boat owners have to change so much, fishing will become something only the rich can afford to do. You were elected by all the people in CA, not just the rich. Please be mindful of this.

I have been in the charter boat industry since I was 14 years old, starting as a deck hand and working my way to a captain and boat owner. Fishing is not just a business it is a way of life for all charter captains.

If we are required to replace our engines with tier 4 engines myself and almost every other charter boat owner along the California coast will be put out of business. I have put everything I have into starting my business please do not force this on us.

Clerk of the Board:

As boats go out of business as a result of these regulations, millions of Californians will be denied access to the open sea and significant economic harm will come to coastal communities that depend on outdoor tourism. I was taught to fish sustainably at sea with my father at a very young age, I brought my joy of fishing to my own kids as well...We are not in a position to have our own boat to fish from and we rely on the fleet in different harbors in So cal for this access to the sea.

Please look hard at the ramifications to these regulations to new generations of kids to gain access to Joys of the sea, and harvesting our own food!

Best,

Kelly J Henry

Don't force the small passenger fishing boats to re-power, this would force them out of business.

I don't live in California and have no desire to, but the restrictions they are placing on truck drivers and vehicles are ridiculous! Is this something Pelosi dreamed up and why do you all leave her in office?!!!!!! Who do they think can afford too replace the vehicles theses truck drivers own--- if they even own them! We need to take action and get every politician on office that has been there more than 3-4 years out the door! I'm 72 and still working because I can't afford to pay bills on social security and I drive a car that is 15 yrs old and has over 250,000 miles on it because I can't afford another USED CAR let alone a new Electric car! Politician's tell us how to spend our money but none are willing to give up any of their salary to help us out, unlike our last president who donated his salary!! Just tired of Washington telling me how to spend my paycheck when they have no idea what it's like to live from paycheck to paycheck!

Subject: CARB Engine Regulations - SAVE OUR BOATS

Comment:

I am concerned that the CA engine regulations may end up removing a majority of passenger sportfishing and whale watching boats from service. It is my understanding that the regulations are based on technology that does not exist yet or is not compatible with a majority of existing vessels in these industries. Further there are concerns with implementing regulations whose safety is still unproven.

1144,1

With implementation and the expected fleet decline, participation will also decline. California fishing license sales will decline as will the revenue they generate for California Department of Fish and Wildlife conservation and fishery programs.

Comment:

I am a fisherman who opposes the harbor craft CARB regulation deadlines. Harbor Craft should be treated similarly as commercial fishing vessels. However if, indeed, the regulations are to go in effect then the state should assist these vessel owners to buy new compliant vessels. Otherwise, this recreation that contributes significantly to the enjoyment of many less privileged fisherman as well as the economy will cease to exist in any affordable manner. It is my understanding that there is no reasonable technology to retrofit current boats for compliance.	1146.1

Please do what is needed to keep these family businesses that bring enjoyment and economic livelihood to many afloat.

For All Those Concerned,

My name is Mark Oronoz. I have been working in the California sportfishing industry for the past 50 years. Built a successful charter business by hand. Based at Seaforth Sportfishing at Mission Bay.

The proposed CARB legislation of repowering our boats, with engines not designed for our boats, would create a number of financial and safety issues that would frankly put us out of business. Engines too large, exhaust too hot, speed parameters too extreme. I'm sure you know more about this issue than I, as I know more about the CPCV industry and it's great history! So please call, maybe we can learn from each other. Thank You.

Comment:

Regarding the commercial harbor craft regulations. I have been a resident of California for sixty eight years and have experienced the demise of freedoms bestowed upon citizens in the name of clean air. I do remember the days of bad air but those have been significantly improved via the auto engine improvements. This approach is such an overreach with such little impact on your big picture and that picture is looking very bleak I own a private diesel powered boat and fear that they are next on the chopping block. Where does all this insanity end? California has become a state I no longer recognize. People that work are leaving like rats on a sinking ship. Putting people out of business doesn't seem like a recipe for success to float this sinking ship.

California Air Resources Board
c/o CHC2021
Sacramento, CA 95814
Attn: Liane Randolph

Dear Ms. Randolph:

At just 12 years old, I found my passion for the industry while spending all my free time on fishing boats along the California Coast. When I was old enough, I volunteered to scrub the boats and assist the deckhands. I loved everything about being out on the ocean while bringing home dinner for my family. It comes as no surprise that I went on to build a successful business right where I grew up. Because of this industry, I am able to provide for my family. Without it, my experience and knowledge would be useless, forcing me to start over with nothing.

It is impossible to work on the ocean and not love and appreciate the environment. I understand the importance of achieving a balance in order to protect the habitats and the creatures that live there. Reducing emissions worldwide is vital to protecting our ocean and our planet. We demonstrated our commitment to this by repowering our engines in 2013.

The regulations, as they are drafted, require technology that has not been developed or proven safe at sea, and consequently are economically and structurally impossible to comply with – requiring boats constructed of wood/fiberglass like mine to be removed from service as soon as 2031. With the COVID-19 pandemic, we already have had to adjust to smaller loads and lower incomes. With these regulations, I would be required to, somehow, overcome the economic hardships I have faced due to the pandemic, and finance a new boat having it in operation by 2034. I cannot afford a new boat and, with my boat deemed non-compliant in California, I couldn't even use its value to help finance a new loan, assuming I could even find a lender willing to approve it.

As a small fishing vessel owner, I provide jobs to several others in the industry and contribute to the local city and county tourism economy. We provide essential access to fresh, nutrient-rich food for every citizen who seeks it. We also donate our time and resources to charities and non-profits giving veteran's, children, and others the opportunity to experience a day at sea.

1153.4

Historically, CARB has regulated commercial fishing/whale-watching boats and commercial passenger boats the same way – their engines are technically identical. CARB's proposed regulations apply a double standard with commercial fishing boats subject to substantially less stringent and less costly requirements. CARB should return passenger boats to the same vessel category as commercial fishing boats so that business owners like me can continue to transition to lower emission engines as it is economically feasible and when technology becomes available. 1153.5

Removing my boat from service would end my business and put me out of work, leaving me unable to provide for my family and rendering my knowledge, experience, and lifelong investment worthless. It would also limit access to the marine environment for all but the most affluent Californians. In the absence of small business owners, unsatisfied demand will most certainly be filled by large corporations without the knowledge, expertise, or devotion to protecting our local wildlife. I am asking you to reconsider these regulations that would result in great hardship for me and many others like me. 1153.6

Sincerely,

Don Rowell
Owner and Captain

Please do not let this pass. Aside from the massive groups of young and old Americans whose lives are enroched by the many facets of the sportfishing industry, my family and many others depend on the jobs the industry provides. It would destroy the livelihood of so many families and put more people on rolls for unemployment. If not completely destroyed, it would reconfigure the industry allowing only the wealthy to enjoy the sport, and eliminating the wonderful philanthropic endeavors by making those services too expensive for vessel owners or progam providers to participate.

I am against passage of "Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation". This will effectively limit people from enjoying the Californian ocean waters by lowering the number of available vessels and driving up consumers cost.

Sportfishing boats should be exempt from any such legislation.

Your objective has to be to end saltwater fishing in California.
The impact on air quality by taking these boats out of service is negligible. You people are insane. So sad to see what this country is going through. Airplanes next?

Please reject the proposals to put regulations in place that would require new engines and technology on passenger fishing and whale watching boats. These boats are the livelihood for many of our California families as well as being an important part of our coastal communities culture and economies. The proposed regulations would destroy people's livelihood (the regulations would be too expensive for many) and hurt local economies that have already suffered a great deal over the past year and a half.

Subject: New Marine Engine Regulations

Comment:

Hello,

I've been going out on fishing charter boats in California since the mid-eighties on multi-day fishing trips and it is a very important part of my life. I look forward every year to the time I can go out on the ocean and get away from all the cares of the world. It really means a lot to me. However, I understand the new proposed regulations for boat engines will be prohibitively expensive and thus I will have to pay much more than the $1200 per year that I currently spend which I'm not really willing to do. If many others feel the same, then the boats will shut down and we will all have lost a life affirming activity. Please don't vote in new regulations that will dramatically increase the cost of ocean fishing.

Thanks,

Mark Potter

Comment:

My family has been part of Sportfishing for many years as captains, deck crew and cooks. If this law passes many of us will be out of work and this would even further remove our clients from being able to participate in the water. We love our fleet and they are part of history and give thousands of people each year the opportunity to enjoy the Ocean. Passing this would be devastating to this community.

Comment:

Just wanted to voice my opposition to the CARB initiative. The negative effects it will have on the sportfishing industry, both direct and trickle down are unacceptable. It will destroy many businesses and many jobs will be lost. Governor Newsome this would be an unnecessary tragedy. Thank you, Fred Brandt

Hello,

My name is Carlos D. I have lived in San Diego, CA for most of my life. I'm an avid fisherman. Fishing is in my blood, my great grandfather, grandfather and uncles were Commercial Tuna fisherman that fished from fleets based out of San Diego. It is something I love to do for the sport, the love of the ocean and to occasionally feed my family & friends if I'm lucky enough to bring home a catch. We the people are pleading against these new regulations. They're not well thought out and will dismantle the California fishing fleet, 100%. We ask that you reconsider and think of all of the job loss, revenue loss and all of the kids who will not be afforded the opportunity to go out into the open oceans for the first time because of cost. My first experience on the ocean was when I was a boy with my and that's when I fell in love with the ocean. I thank you for your time

Comment:

Please do not subject recreational/commercial fishing boats to unaffordable motor upgrades. These owners can't afford to purchase new boats to accommodate these motors. Our children need the opportunity to fish. Without fishing and recreation these kids will never learn why they are trying to protect the resources.

Please don't force our boats to go out of business. This would deny millions of Californians access to the open sea and cause significant economic harm to coastal communities that depend on outdoor tourism. It means so much to my family and me to be able to harvest our own food and to enjoy all the splendors of the sea!

Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Comment:

Ships are one of the worst air polluters in California, and since California has a lot of coastal communities and is usually ahead of the curve in mitigating climate change, it would make sense to get rid of diesel operated boats in favor of clean technologies and jobs.

Given the climate emergency that we are facing, we need bold climate leadership. Im asking you to strengthen the Commercial Harbor Craft rule:

- |  |        |
|--|--------|
| 1. Require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule  | 1167.1 |
| 2. Add language to allow the Board to revisit the rule as the zero-emissions boat market evolves to ensure the regulation achieves maximum emission reductions | 1167.2 |
| 3. Increase funding for zero-emissions boat pilots and retrofits to spur innovation  | 1167.3 |

Thank you for your attention to this important issue.

Ships are one of the worst air polluters in California, and harbor boats are one of the top three cancer risks for Californians living near the ports of Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Oakland. California must stop investing in diesel operated harbor boats and instead invest in clean technologies and jobs.

The technology exists to transition commercial harbor craft to 100% clean fleets today. Already, there are over 300 operating zero-emission ships powered by batteries worldwide, with another 194 on order.

Given the climate emergency that we are facing, we need bold climate leadership. Im asking you to strengthen the Commercial Harbor Craft rule to:

- |  |        |

| 2. Add language to allow the Board to revisit the rule as the zero-emissions boat market evolves to ensure the regulation achieves maximum emission reductions | 1168.2 |
| 3. Increase funding for zero-emissions boat pilots and retrofits to spur innovation  | 1168.3 |

This is a critical time to protect the health of port-side communities, California families, and our environment.

Myself and my entire family have earned a living in the fishing tackle industry in Southern California since the 1980s. This amendment would put many of my closest friends (boat operators, retail fishing stores, small local manufacturers) and family out of business. We enjoy the ability to earn a living, doing something that we love. We rely on the seafood that we catch to be an important food source in our homes, especially with the rising costs of commercial beef, poultry, and chicken. Please vote NO on this amendment.

Subject: Not in agreement to Amendments to Comm Harbor Craft Reg

Comment:

Throughout the history of time Men and Women have created sea vessels for the purpose of defending lands, conquering lands, and transport of equipment and commerce goods for the purpose of world trade. The Vikings of the nordic countries crafted sailing and rowing vessels out of wood, as did other European countries. Some of the most prominent luxury vessels being produced today are constructed of wood and fiberglass via the cold-mold process of construction. Many of these boats built out of wood built from the early 1950s are still being used as they have been re-constructed and maintained as classic craft! With the advent of fiberglass resins and structural cloth, the craft became just as strong and actually became lighter. The point I am trying to make is the vessels on the water today are similar to the past. They have lasted a long time and shall not be considered "unsafe" due to a political ploy to mitigate recreational activity on the water by common folks of this country. Steel vessels require just as much if not more maintenance with the requirement of more detailed cleaning, corrosion protection, and special sealants. This is smelling like a ploy to only allow special interest commercial industries to have sole access to seafood. You have an opportunity to make this right for the recreational fisherman, do what is right and do not pass these amendments.

Subject: CARB - Sportfishing vessels - Tier 4 engines

Comment:

To Whom It May Concern,

I have spent my entire life fishing on local sport fishing boats in Southern California. The earliest memories I have are fishing with my father on a 1/2 day boat out of Long Beach.

I have continued that by taking my two daughters out with me on trips and they absolutely love it.

If the proposed Tier 4 engines/exhaust systems are implemented, you will be destroying an industry that has brought countless people joy over generations.

It will put out of business nearly every single boat up and down the coast which will have a ripple effect for local tackle shops, then hotels, restaurants, bars, airlines, etc. for passengers coming in from out of town to go on longer trips.

I agree something should be done, however I feel that utilizing the current tier 3 requirements and a deadline years down the road to allow for boat owners to begin saving funds for the over haul would be a mutually agreeable outcome.

Thank you very much.

Please dont force small business owners out of business. Build a better state that thrives economically, not forces families out of work.

Didnt California just 10 years ago assist with updating all the sportfishing fleet with newer clean burning diesel engines.

Please make some provisions here that keep California families and small business working.

Thank you

Concerned Fisherman.

I oppose these proposed regulations. These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish. Please reconsider.

I will be short and to the point. Thousands of family's will be put on the street if these mandates are made. These boats put just a fraction of a percentage of pollution. The real pollution comes from the tankers! Please do more research. Let these commercial fisherman continue their way of life. They're just making a living.

Save our fishing boats stop these expensive and unaffordable CARB Compliant mandates on civilian boats, if you want to stop the pollution start with the Cargo Ships that Pollute Millions of Gallons of waste and pollution in our ocean, if you really care about the ocean and the pollution you will start with the real polluters not the small guy just trying to fish for sport or to feed his family, please think about this measure again and stop this ridiculous CARB mandate

As the executive director of Mission Fish, A non profit taking Veterans with PTSD and TBI fishing up to ten times per year, for free, the new mandates would destroy this opportunity for our vets along with the industry as a whole. Due to Covid, boats have already almost double their rates. Ridership is down and many owners are holding on by a thread.

Subject: Vote no on proposed Commercial Harbor Craft regulation

Comment:

I support many of the important changes necessary to protect our environment and stop the negative environmental changes that have occurred from the use of fossil fuels but those decisions need to be tempered by the impact it will have on certain businesses that would be destroyed by certain regulatory changes as the commercial harbor craft regulation changes will impose. This is not supporting local business and will essentially destroy the sport fishing market in Southern California. You need to come up with better solutions that keep small business running and our angler community able to sports fish affordably. Just take a look what the impact has been on the independent trucking industry and our supply chain! Make the right decision for our community and come up with a workable solution moving forward that doesn't destroy the market place.

Also, not only could these emission standards mark the end for California sportfishing and whale watching boat owners, it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it.

Thank you for your consideration.

Comment:

Dear Carb leadership.

Requiring commercial and sport fishing fleet engine retrofits or complete replacement will render the fleet of recreational boats uneconomically viable.

This "Over reach" in regulations by CARB is not reasonable. Destroying economic tecreation for the common man is not the best way to control alleged pollution and emmissiobs.

Surely you can grandfather tier 3 and earlier engines and only effect whole power plant replacements.

Slow down over regulation.

Comment:

Your proposed changes to the laws regarding engines on sportfishing boats will destroy the industry and make sportfishing a thing of the past. Don't make ANY CHANGES to current laws! Leave the sportfishing industry ALONE!

The proposed draconian measures are over the top, and will cripple an industry ... and greatly harm those of us who simply want to spend an occasional day fishing. What's proposed is more drastic than what's needed or warranted at this time.

My son has enjoyed Sportfishing since diapers. I learned from my grandfather and passed it onto him. It has been one of the best outlets for him to be with nature, clear his head, and our family eats his fish too. He's 14. Please don't take away opportunities for these young folk to be mentored by experienced fishermen. Thank you!

Good morning,

I am writing to oppose the strict regulations causing many small businesses related to fishing and whale watching to permanently close. These small businesses cannot afford to purchase new state of the art boats with modern clean diesel engines. If you force them to purchase new boats an large grant should be provided to offset the purchase. Please reconsider your strict business killing regulations. It already harmed the construction and trucking companies.

Thank you
Jason

The regulations your organization is pushing to affect on the commercial and Sportfishing fleet in CA will have a drastic impact on Sportfishing in CA and needs to go back to the drawing board. This is just another example of CA putting the cart before the horse. Please rethink this regulation

Please do not pass any bill that affects boats that are currently operating and registered.

This will put many boat owners out of business. The sport boats are some of the best stewards of the ocean. Sport boats are frequently the only way these passengers get to experience the ocean first hand. They learn to appreciate the ocean as well as the need to protect it. That benefit out weighs the potential decrease in "manmade carbon emissions".

I was born in San Diego and lived my entire life near the ocean. Deep sea fishing is one of California's treasures and something my family and I have enjoyed for years. Nothing abusive or anything, just pleasurable fishing experiences. If this passes, and rates go up as indicated, I won't fish for pleasure any longer, at least in California waters. Alaska, Oregon, Washington State, as well as Mexico, all offer great fishing at reasonable rates. I'm already fed up enough with California with their rules, regulations, taxes and (pardon my language) bullshit, that this would/will be the final straw for me. I'll take my life and my dollars elsewhere.

Comment:

Regarding the proposed amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations: These regulations are a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but to future access to offshore fishing and marine life.

As boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Small boats and businesses will upgrade soon, but compelling so rapid a change only will hurt the fishing participation rates.

Subject: Engine Emission Regulations - Sportfishing Boats

Comment:

Regarding the upcoming CARB vote on engine emissions regulations, any sport boat that is operational and registered should be "grandfathered in" just as any car purchased by an individual is "grandfathered in" to new emission regulations. Creating new emissions standards for boats in service is punitive to those who risked a lot to purchase these boats and it is their livelihood that you are voting on. The emissions of the few sportfishing boats pails in comparison to the amount of emissions put out by airplanes that are chartered by our politicians on a daily basis. Stop ruining people's lives by "saving the Earth" and having a double standard with the way you (politicians) live your lives.

Comment:

The sportfishing industry is struggling and has been for many years. ■ CARB can effectively eliminate the entire industry with strict regulations on these boats. ■ This is unacceptable. ■ CARB's work is important but the responsibility to the people that work on these boats, the people that fish on these boats, and the future kids and adults that will fish on these boats is important too.

1213.1

Sportfishermen and their dollars that they spend on license and equipment funds important conservation efforts. ■ I urge CARB to use common sense and not knee jerk environmentalism in their search for new regulations for an industry that has little impact on the overall environment to begin with.

1213.2

thank you,

Scott Hooten

The feasibility report from the California Maritime Academy and for some sectors are estimating that for vessels operating above the low use threshold that vessel replacement will be likely, especially the categories with wood or fiberglass vessels that can't be as easily reconfigured." - Public Workshop for the Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations, March 16, 2021

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Please grandfather all existing sport fishing boats in California, many of which are family owned and operated. Replacement of these vessels is not financially feasible; will lead to collapse of an entire industry; lost businesses, employment, tax revenue for the State, and income for conservation efforts that are funded through fishing licenses.	1217.1

Dear CARB,

I received a degree in Environmental Occupational Health Science at California State University Northridge. I really know what I am writing about. We must learn to weigh the costs as well as the benefits for any proposed regulations. Fishing and diving boat use in California is a passion for many of us in our state. We all know the real source of air pollutants is vehicles, yet to try to make very small gains, emitters such as harbor boats battle to simply stay in business and provide the leisure many of us crave.

Please weigh the infinitesimal benefits against the costs.

Thank you!

Russell Person
Bakersfield, Ca

Comment:

These regulations are a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, also future access to offshore fishing and marine life. The costs are astronomical to retrofit for compliance. At best these regulations should be at very least over a 5 year time period. Many offshore industries would be forced out of business after many barely survived Covid19 closures.

Subject: CARB rules for sportfishing disadvantages community

Comment:

I grew up in a low income community. Fishing was a way the world opened up to me and got me away from my home and showed me there was more to life. I can't believe CARB is proposing rules that will take this away from future generations. The escape from home, access to the ocean, learning about a different career path and the significance in co-existing with a marine environment.

1220.1

It seems to me that CARB is going after a small, small fleet of boats. The real targets are the ocean liners, military ships, container ships and the big guys idling around our harbors.

1220.2

Very disappointed that staff has gone for a small group thinking it's an easy win over considering a more thoughtful path that does not disrupt generations of youth from accessing a different way of life.

1220.3

Badly done CARB staff.

Please do not change the emission requirements for sport fishing boats. The new rules would essentially destroy the existing industry. It's getting frustrating seeing these laws passed with complete disregard to working class individual or the ability to implement these changes.

Comment:

Exactly four weeks from today the California Air Resources Board (CARB) will consider adopting such draconian engine emission regulations that would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased, forcing ticket prices to be raised by 2-3 times existing prices. Not only could this mark the end for California sport fishing and whale watching boat owners but it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it.

DON'T MESS WITH OUR BOATS!

I am a North Carolina resident that visits family in the Ventura area at least twice a year. My 14 year old granddaughter has just learned the absolute joy of fishing on one the Charter boats. This is an activity she and my son share with me at least 4 times every year when I visit. I hate to think the one thing the three of us look forward to such much will be taken away by government regulations that completely take for granted the sportfishing public. Not to mention the jobs taken away from an already struggling economy

Please consider the lives of the captain's and their families that would be devastated by this new emissions law. Not being able to retro fit an older historical boat is not tolerable. Forcing them to buy boats that they can't afford, and anglers who wouldn't be able to afford the fare to fish either. Just say NO!!

As a fisherman for many years I can not believe that this is being considered to wipe out fishing here in California. How are going to past this down to our children and their children is fishing prices are unaffordable for the common working people. There is got to better a better solution other than the extreme measures that are going to be implemented. Fishing will be wiped out, owners of vessels will shut down and then what? Hope you all rethink this and help us save our fishing industry.

This legislation is irrational and unfair to Sport fishing. The cost to boat owners will cripple the industry. If the technology doesn't exist yet or is cost prohibitive. Shouldn't we be requiring the commercial fishing industry to fund the technology and abide by the same environmental restrictions? CHC 2021

It would be a major mistake to make this change. If you go ahead with these changes 90% of the sport fishing industry will go out of business. They cannot afford to make these major changes.

This would mean that most of the ocean sport fishing people, like myself will not have the ability to go fishing. Allot of children learn important life lessons by going fishing with their parents and grandparents.

We need to stop this change or at least push it off til 2030 so landings & owner operators can start saving for newer boats. If this goes through it will hurt CA fishing forever.

Subject: Rising Fuel costs will self regulate this industry. Please do not deploy this regulation.

Comment:

Please don't do this level of enforcement to our successful Sportfishing fleet.
The added fuel costs over time will self regulate this industry and its impact on our waters / airways.
Thank you

Please consider the thousands of California citizens whose jobs you will be costing if this action is taken. Also consider the thousands more who will lose the opportunity to enjoy the experience of fishing in California ocean waters as a result of this shortsighted action. Do the right thing!

Please don't stop sport fishing because the proposed changes CARB is considering will do just that. If at all possible consider all possible options before the planned proposal takes place. Many people's lives, livelihoods and their way of life will be so negatively affected and even possibly destroyed forever? Thank you, sincerely, joseph schwark jr.

Dear CARB,

Please do not implement these draconian changes which would cripple the existing CA coastal sport fishing and whale watching fleet. Thousands of jobs and millions of dollars in tourism revenue will be lost.

1244.1

Please go back to the drawing board to work out a phased plan which considers current technology and economics of the small businesses which are dependent on the current vessel / engine technology.

1244.2

Sincerely,
Tom Ehrich

Subject: CARB requirements for Recreational Charter Boats

Comment:

Hello!

I am writing to express opposition to the CARB requirements for Recreational fishing vessels that are quickly approaching. These emission requirements are physically and financially unattainable to passenger-carrying fishing boat owners. Most will be forced out of business and the few that can afford it would have to basically build new boats to comply with the proposed standard. The cost to build new is outrageously high and most vessels cannot be retrofitted with compliant engines. This will basically make the sportfishing businesses along the coast have to shut down permanently, depriving the recreational angler and whale watcher of the opportunity to enjoy the beauty of our ocean resource.

1245.1

Please re-consider this requirement on boat owners or the future of sport fishing and whale watching will be gone forever. My business (fishing supplies) will also be greatly impacted if the public will no longer be able to engage in recreational fishing. California has a long history of fishing and whale watching. Please do not take it away!

1245.2

Sincerely,
Alex Masumoto

CARB has effected many good changes. I have noticed a marked improvement in air quality since I moved to Los Angeles from Portland, Oregon in 1983. We can see the mountains most days now. Congratulations!

But let's be reasonable. Let us not go so far as to decimate our livelihoods. We should protect our resources FOR the people, not FROM the people.

You can be sure that those elected officials now in power will find themselves looking for new jobs if CARB is allowed to proceed with such draconian measures. Please do not take away a person's means of making a living.

Sincerely,
Glenn Rueger

Will this even be read? I doubt it. Does anyone here care about freedom even a little bit? How could they?, when their actions clearly show that the price paid for our FREEDOM has so obviously been forgotten. What a sad state of affairs! Who are you to impose such measures upon the people? You are the tyrants our forefathers warned us about. If you refuse to remember their sacrifice then you won't remember what they did to the usurper's to secure freedom as well. Until the reckoning. Then you will know first hand. Keep it up.

Hello,

I'm writing in regards to the new emission standards for sport fishing boats in California. While clean air is extremely important. The fleet of California sport fishing boats is relatively small and spend time out to sea far from populations and has extremely minimal effect on air quality. The process of manufacturing new vessels will use more resources and cause more environmental harm than using older vessels. Additionally the added cost will likely put many of the boats out of business and therefore people that depend on them for a job and food source. Please do not change emission standards for sport fishing boats.

Thank you

Please reconsider the impending laws that will decimate the sportfishing fleet. Future generations will be denied the experiences of fishing off shore, not to mention the loss of local revenue and revenue from fishing licenses for wildlife conservation.

Subject: Fishing Vessel restrictions

Comment:

Please review and hold off on making drastic changes to the fishing industry. I understand the need for cleaner vessels, but it can be done in a much more manageable manner that won't harm the sport fishing public. ME! Realistic and practical should be the move forward and match existing equipment with the timing of adoption of those changes.

Please don't change the lives of many people. So many memories that kids have with their fathers fishing will soon be gone. This will lead to more kids just sitting at home playing video games and not getting out creating memories with their fathers. Not to mention the many people who will be out of work.
This is a selfish move and please do not pass this law!!!

I am opposed to your ridiculous proposed engine emission regulations that would require existing sport fishing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased. This is just another job-killer and tourist-killer regulation that California is unfortunately known for.

Comment:

My mother was a lady angler for many years before she passed away. She cleaned houses for a living and waited tables. She never dreamed that CARB would threaten the fishing she loved. My mother lived hand to mouth and was homeless on more than one occasion. The sport fishing boats were the only way she could afford to fish. Now it looks like only the rich few can fish in our waters. It's a sad thought. Fishing will no longer be affordable.

Subject: Objecting to proposed repowering mandate on Sportfishing Fleet

Comment:

I would like to object to the mandate to repower the owner operated boat in the So. Cal Sportfishing Fleet. There are no engines which meet the current projected requirements and when they are made available they may not be adaptable to the current vessels. I really enjoy sportfishing offshore, and probably would not be able to travel to Mexico to go fishing. The Mexican boats fish the same waters as the San Diego and Mission Bay Fleets.

Comment:

I'm writing to express my opposition to the current draconian engine emission regulations under consideration that would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased, forcing ticket prices to be raised by 2-3 times existing prices. Not only could this mark the end for California sportfishing and whale watching boat owners but it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers, like myself, won't be able to afford it.

Is this fair to the everyday law abiding small taxpayers???

Dear California Air Resources Board,
I ask that you please do not adopt new engine emission regulations that would require that many existing fishing and whale watching boats be scrapped. This would require boat operators to acquire new multi-million dollar boats, which would force ticket prices to be raised by 2-3 times existing prices. Not only could this mark the end for California sportfishing and whale watching boat owners but it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it.

Comment:

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Please consider the boat Owners, many of these people are small business owners and can't afford to take the hit you're proposing.

Why are you going after fishing boats? Their quantities of pollution are so low compared to other sources. Don't kill sportfishing. I will not be able to afford the new boats required from your legislation.

Comment:

To whom it may concern,

Please reconsider the proposed regulations for commercial watercraft emissions. Putting small operators out of business for what are widely regarded as inconsequential impacts on climate change is short sided and destructive to the long term benefit of California's economy. California can still be on the leading edge of addressing climate change by implementing more thoughtful watercraft regulation that considers the economic impact to small business. Grandfathering in existing operators and allowing longer phase in periods would allow these businesses to plan and budget for the changes that they will eventually need to make. The rate of implementation in the proposed regulations are extreme, unnecessary and damaging to the citizens of our state.

I do not support the CHC2021 bill to shut the Sport Fishing Fishing and other ocean related industries. We need these businesses for all people to enjoy. It is our heritage and right to have them as we own them because we pay the taxes to keep it going for our families and all people who enjoy the Ocean. This is another Ploy by government crooks to control the the public. The official who proposed this Bill should punished and kicked out of office and Tar and Feathered by the public. Like all politicians he is a dumb ass who is out of touch with very people who voted for him. May he rot in Hell.

Comment:

Please reconsider the changes that you are asking for in the amendments to the CHC regulations. These changes while intended for good - will sink an entire industry of family run sport fishing vessels. The technology is simply not yet available for them to adapt to these regulations which is no fault of their own. Their boats do not have the capacity for these engines. They are too large and they burn too hot. Fishing on charter boats is a huge part of my life, these harbors are like family to me. They have pulled me out of the darkest times in my life and made me a much better person for it. This is a death sentence to them and it breaks my heart. I'm not against better emissions but I am against the way this is being done. Please give them the opportunity to meet these standards when they are able to rather than just simply shutting them down and putting them out of business. This regulation is shutting down entire industries up and down our coast and will put families out on the street. Fishing is their life, and has been for generations - I can't imagine what they would do I or where they would be if that was taken from them.

I am in opposition to the proposed legislation and urge my representatives to not adopt the proposed amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation.

The negative impact these proposed amendments will have on our State greatly outweigh the benefit - for all Californians. Any major change to an entire industry has to be carefully considered and gradually implemented.

These regualtions are overly burensome on small business, and will deprive the state of tax revenue, while proving marginal reduction in actual pollution.

Dear Carb. please reconsider the draconian emissions regulations you are considering imposing on sportfishing/whale watching vessels. These regs. will destroy recreation and educational participation by the public and livelihoods of boat operators. Consider the effect of the expense that will be incurred and the loss to the public. Your regs. will have a minuscule effect on emissions considering the lack of cooperation by other countries but further diminish the quality of life we have here in California. Thank you, John Taxis

Your proposed re-engineing of most fishing boats makes no sense. It has minimal impact on the environment at unaffordable costs. Many fishing outfits will be forced to close their business because they don't have the resources to comply with this ridiculous idea..

Comment:

CARB ,

The proposed rules for Commercial Harbor Craft is just another money grab by the politicians in Sacramento. This new regulation will not help clean up the air in California. If you want cleaner air, then shutdown the container ships that are delivering goods from overseas, and stop this anchoring of ships off the coast of California while they wait to offload. The amount of pollution that one ship generates while anchored within 5 miles of the coast is more than all of the commercial harbor craft in the entire state. Currently there are 65 plus ships anchored off the Port of Los Angeles and the Port of Long Beach, and the high sulfur, impure under refined bunker oil that they power the ships onboard generators with is a gross source of pollution. This out of control situation is generating in excess of 50 years worth of pollution, and nothing is being done about it.

This is the area that needs your attention, not the Sport Fishing Fleet in California.

The Sportfishing Industry is a recreation and it is here that the following generations will be able to enjoy the harbors and ocean along the California coast.

What CARB is trying to do is target an industry in hopes of shutting it down, unlike other businesses that have left California the Sport Fishing Fleet can't pack up and relocate. The whole approach is bad for businesses that support Fishing and sightseeing in our coastal waters.

Sincerely,
Dan Copp

I have been a California resident my entire life, 59 years. I have been Sportfishing on the ocean since 1978. Fishing has been a great recreational activity for myself, family and friends. I have been involved with the special needs community since 1993. I am av39 year retired police officer . I know how important fishing is for our youth and disabled communities. I am begging carb to reconsider the tier 4 requirement for sport fishing vessels. Allow them tier 3 so they can stay I business and your citizens can continue to enjoy fishing at a reasonable price. The Sportfishing community has cooperated with the various fishing closures and regulations and it is time that they are given requirements that are reasonable. I can't understand how the hundreds of tanker ships that traverse California waters will not be required to meet the tier 4 requirement but our small Sportfishing fleet will be decimated out of business and thousands of people out of work. This will be like throwing a rock I a pond the ripples will last a long time and numerous other California businesses will suffer. Tackle, sporting goods, fish mongers, mechanics the list goes on and on. I love this state. I am a life tie Democrat I understand global warming but we have to clean our environment in a responsible manner or we will lose the people. Thank you for your time	1296.1

Clerk of the Board,

Please DO NOT vote to remove the existing commercial recreational boat fleet from service. This would be an economical disaster for the owners and operators of these vessels. This would essentially put this important and viable sector of the economy out of business. The costs associated with this proposal would mean the end of recreational ocean fishing for thousands of people. These are Mom and Pop businesses that operate on little profit.

1298.1

If the State and the Feds stepped up and helped with small business grants to fund this change, I would support it. But, as written this is a disaster of a proposal.

1298.2

Please reconsider your proposal.

Thank you,

Ronald Stewart

Comment:

Sportfishing is a favorite pastime among many California anglers. The carb proposal is not only going to eliminate sportfishing as an outdoor activity but it will also put many fisherman who provide this service out of business. This special interest group has not considered the livelihood of those affected nor the affect it will have on those who sport fish regularly as a favorite past time. This special interest group needs to be stopped. Why should a very fewve allowed to eliminate an entire industry.

I am a recreational sportfisherman. I go out on party boats whenever I can. Please take a more measured approach to your regulations. I could not afford any drastic price increases. Also, I would hate to see family owned boat owners forced out of business. Thank you.

I am apposed to the passage of your draconian proposal to adopt the amendment to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation which will in my opinion make my offshore fishing experiences a prohibitively expensive proposition in the future. Please consider the negative impact this will have on the San Diego commercial fishing fleet.

Comment:

Please modify the emission requirements for existing sportfishing vessels so that they will not be forced out of service. I applaud efforts to protect environment and clean air and support strict emission standards for new vessels coming into service. However for the existing sportfishing fleet to come into compliance would be cost prohibitive and sometimes technically impossible forcing many boat owners out of business.

1304.1

For fifty years I have fished on these boats and fear if the proposed regulations go into effect I and many like me will no longer be able to afford to go fishing. It will become a rich persons sport reserved for the elite.

1304.2

Please save our sportfishing industry.

Comment:

This proposed legislation is more harmful than good. I do understand the need to clean up our air, but at what cost? This harsh new regulations would practically spell the end Sport Fishing in California. It's not just the 1000s of boat owners, but the support personnel on the boats, and the landings, and the landing operators themselves. And the local tackle shops, suppliers and manufacturers. Can California afford more un-employment? Loss of license and tax revenue?

I am a private boat owner, so the loss of this industry may not directly affect me today. But what is next? Will my boat be targeted in the future?

Because of the high cost and excessive regulations, California is rapidly becoming a state where people do no want to live.

Don't enact these regulations,

We feel the regulations for charter boats should be the same as our commercial fishing vessels. These new regulations for charter vessels would be putting them out of business and affect a lot of their customers who cannot afford their own boats and depend on the charter vessels for recreational fishing,

I have been in this industry for over forty years. The sport fishing community generates millions of dollars to this states economy. If this bill passes you will be putting thousands of people out of work and ruin family businesses that have been passed down for generations. Our fleets have all complied to all regulations mandated by the state and Coast Guard. Again if this bill passes the sport fishing vessels will be worthless. PLEASE DO THE RIGHT THING AND SAVE SPORTFISHING AND DO NOT PASS THIS BILL.

Thank you

Sportfishing has always been a part of my family. My husband began working as a fisherman shortly after graduating high school. We moved away from our families to start our own and our own business. We have worked years to build our small sportfishing operation. Many ups and downs along the way as with any new business. Growing up in the desert, the ocean and central coast of California quickly became our passion. Being around boats has fought me a lot about the importance of all the aspects of life in and on the water. And we give many many people the opportunity to get a glimpse of this wonderful environment. Spending a day on a sportfishing boat teaches people who usually wouldn't get a chance to learn about the ocean and what lives and how to protect what we have so we can teach and connect with generations to come. Fisherman care about the ocean and love her dearly. Our boats should be able to give the community a chance to explore and experience the wonders of the ocean, the beautiful water, massive whales, energetic dolphins and sea lions, mysterious jellyfish, amazing birds that fly with the boats, and the list goes on. Please keep the ocean a part of of lives.

Please reconsider this new regulation...the fishing industry has already been hurt by restricted areas of "no Fishing". This regulation will put boat owners out of business because of the enormous costs to comply.

Comment:

Hello,

My name is Ethan Ballard and I have been an avid fisherman for many years. Some of my first experiences with fishing came from fishing San Diego fishing charters with my uncle. Whether on the Dolphin or on the Condor, I have continued this hobby into adulthood and contributed hundreds, if not thousands, of dollars into the local economy by doing so. An increase in ticket prices- necessitated by mandating Captains to update or replace their boats/boat engines, would make driving the 2 hours to San Diego unfeasible for myself and others.

San Diego has developed a reputation as a sport fishing capital, and to pass legislation that would lead to its demise is not only unfair to those working within the industry, but also to those who take enjoyment in the services offered.

I have many years left in my life, with many more fishing trips planned. To be denied access to one of California's greatest natural resources, our vast amount of coast line and fishing grounds, I would feel cheated. Such a denial would be akin to preventing one from seeing the magnificence of Half dome in Yosemite, or the great sand dunes in Glamis, or the white shining slopes of Mammoth.

I understand the drive and need to preserve California's clean air and blue water, but by preventing people from enjoying these things, a fundamental love is lost. A love that is needed to garner interest to establish conservation measures. How can we love what we cannot see? What we cannot experience? What is withheld from us behind a steep paywall? We cannot; and by removing this love we remove the desire to protect the very waters this legislation aims to preserve.

I ask for you to reconsider this legislation, to continue to allow the people of California to enjoy one of our most stunning natural beauties.

I would like you to look at the CARB ruling to make the Sportfishing Fleet the Level 4 requirements. Since there are NO Level 4 motors out there yet or that Most of the Boats can't ever met that level ever. This would whip out 90% of the fleet and stop me from fishing the ocean ever again.

CARB,

Please do not implement the proposed regulations against Sportfishing boats. It is simply too much to fast for many including myself to be able to absorb such costs. It would likely put very many people out of business which is not good for California's citizens.

Thank you for your consideration,

Jesse Hall

Comment:

If you are wondering why there is a mass exit from state of California its because of all the rules that you people want to imply like this one , which makes no sense just like the EPA implementing 15% ethanol in our gasoline from the 10% which does nothing but ruin fuel tanks, hoses etc. These stipulations will ruin the sportfishing industry which in turn will be more costly to people like me who enjoys fishing. This will do more damage to our economy as if you think it can withstand more damage. Sport boats going out of business including manufactures of all fishing equipment.

Angry fisherman

Please do not push new regulations that will ruin boat operators lives and make this state worse than it already is getting. I understand you guys want to be leading in championing change to try to be the first but with all the foreign carbon footprints you'll just be giving them the advantage for profits and the new law will not even chip at carbon.

Comment:

Hello,

I'm not one that writes a lot of emails regarding bills up for decision but I'm passionate about families being able to affordably fish our beautiful oceans here in Southern California. I grew up fishing out of Queens wharf in Long Beach and raised my five children on the ocean. We live in San Clemente and fish out of Dana wharf. Years later it's still an affordable family outing and tradition for us. I'm so concerned that this new bill will stop our family tradition due to obviously increased ticket pricing that would be required if new engines and boats were mandated. Please consider our request as I believe we represent countless other families in California. Don't pass this bill.

All the best,

Ken Potter

Comment:

Please, reconsider the proposed action against the Sport-fishing Industry.

Please, listen to the citizens of California who earn their livelihoods on the ocean, and those who enjoy chartering days on the water in pursuit of game-fish.

Please, avoid taking your apparent intended action in that it appears illegal per se as an arbitrary and capricious, per se illegal taking of property and livelihoods of thousands of men and women who, across the board, have a heightened regard for the ocean environment insofar as they earn their livings on the open water.

I don't have much to say other than fishing means the world to me personally. It's an escape from real life and and a stressful job. Please don't take the one thing I look forward to on my weekend from me and many others like me. Consider looking at this issue from a personal stand point of individual anglers and well as the operators of this businesses and not just from your overly restrictive emission controls in CA.

CARB board,

I know you try to do good for your politicians that some how keep you in a job. your decisions cannot be based off any ideas that support the public at large. the tech does not exist that is feasible in a wood boat in the less than 100 foot class. you make laws hoping to drive tech to solve difficult issues. cart before the horse. kind of backwards. get you heads out of the dark places!

250 of these motors working off shore for the most part does not have any discernable impact on global air conditions. local or otherwise. stop being big brother, stop this requirement!

To whom it may concern,

This proposed emissions regulation is an abomination. Many hardworking and good people will lose their jobs as well as many others who will lose their favorite recreational activity. I have many good friends and family members in the commercial fishing world that this bill would crush and put them out of work. I also know many recreational fisherman who would not be able to afford fishing any longer if the old boats get pulled and the ticket prices skyrocket. It is unfair and unconstitutional to put hard working Americans out of work to try and clean up the emissions issue. If you want to stop emissions go after oil tankers, cargo ships and cruise ships that actually pollute the world not family owned and operated fishing vessels. We have a very special ocean environment off the coast of California and acts like this will prevent the state population and others who visit to enjoy its beauty and have amazing experiences on the water. Please consider my letter and leave the hard working fishing community alone.	1328.1

Comment:

The bureaucrats at CARB are compelled, like a computer program, to "progress forward" to continually tighten restrictions on CO2 emissions. Given enough time in years, they will regulate human respiration. Note - The CDC through the Covid hysteria has effectively done just that with mask mandates that cause people, including pregnant women and children to "recycle" their own CO2! Insane! It's also probable that both organizations ultimately take their "orders" from billionaire oligarchs who are "purchasing" Agenda 2030 delusions. Never mind the diminishing returns on ever-tightening restrictions. Diminishing returns that will likely negate any minuscule "improvements" in efficiency, through the destruction of existing boats and construction of new, expensive ones. ■ No mention is made of the destruction of livelihoods and the massive number of fishermen who will be deprived of much needed recreational opportunity. ■ Many of them will be "forced" to purchase their own personal crafts, further eliminating any environmental gain. Stop the insanity! We're not robots, to be regulated for pure efficiency. We need to be able to fish. For fun. For food.

I feel these new restrictions on vessels will devastate the fishing industry. These measures will increase the cost for a fishing trip to levels that many of us can not contend with. Let's look for alternative ways to combat climate change where it does not affect family owned businesses.

Thanks

Comment:

I am a fisherman in southern California and I enjoy going out on sport boats to fish often. I think that if these new amendments are put into place they will devastate the sportfishing industry all over California not only for sport boat owners who cant afford to make the changes for these proposed amendments but also for their customers like myself who will not be able to afford the cost increases that will happen due to the changes. I'm sure other commercial fishing boats will be affected as well which will cause prices to rise for the consumer. I feel that the number of commercial boats in CA is minimal compared to the number of vehicles the road and forcing them to make expensive changes that aren't feasible for most boat operators will cause more harm than good. It will deprive people of work, income, opportunities to fish, cost increases etc. If any changes are to made they need to consider the livelihoods of not only the boat operators but also their consumers. I think the current proposed amendments doesn't do any of that since the feasibility report stated that vessel replacement will be likely especially for wood or fiberglass boats.

regards,

Gabe Benavides

Comment:

CARB's plan to remove sport fishing vessels from operation is ill planned and a real job killer. It would be better to phase out vessels over time. Yes, it may take a long time, but it would be a better way.

Subject: Partyboat engine change requirements.

Comment:

I am concerned that the new possible engine requirements will eliminate the access to ocean fishing. Since I do not have the ability to own and run a boat I utilize the party boats for my fishing. If the engine requirements are implemented the costs and ability to even install these new engines will put that part of the fishing industry out of business thus eliminating me from fishing. The will also eliminate the revenue I produce to the state Fisheries support.

This potential mandate should be given exemptions until a more affordable solution is obtainable.

Comment:

To whomever is reading this, I wanted to state my vehement opposition to the planned emission regulations for recreational sportfishing / whale watching boats. While I certainly appreciate the intention, this is a misguided approach. This will only serve to kill an industry which already is highly regulated by the state of California, and negatively affect thousands of jobs, directly or indirectly. This in turn will affect state and local revenue sources as well. These companies cannot bear the cost brought on by the new regulations nor can customers bear the cost from the companies that are able to survive. Also, I'd like to point out no other states are going to extreme measures. Lastly, is there a true benefit to the climate vs. the cost to industries that produce a miniscule amount of pollution compared to countries like, India, Brazil, Mexico, and most importantly, China? Thank you for your time.

This is crazy! If you wanna ban something ban cargo ships. The amount of exhaust from one cargo ship is more then the whole sport fishing fleet combined. Why handicap California when the rest of the world is doing much worse things to the environment?

Comment:

Please consider the repercussions upon on the ocean sport-fishing community when deciding how to move forward on Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations. I am a supporter of clean air/water, but as with most industries, sport-fishing in California has taken a negative financial hit due to COVID.

Sport-fishing is an amazing activity for tourist and locals, alike. An outdoor activity for family and friends to build memories. Most people fishing will remember their first caught Calico Bass caught with her dad, or the biggest Bluefin Tuna three college friends from Iowa took turns reeling in, or the surreal sight of a pod of dolphins 2 football fields wide.

Your actions could cripple the sport-fishing boats that cater to friends, families, and tourists looking to make these life-long memories.

Now is not the time to sideline sport-fishing boats. Until an affordable way for boats adhere to new regulations is available, I ask you to consider carefully what amendments you choose to move forward.

Best,
Robbie Robbins

I have just heard about the new restrictions that will be placed on sport fishing boats. This will kill the sport fishing industry and deny many people who enjoy being out on the water. This coming after the shutdown of the industry in 2020 due to COVID. What are you people thinking? I don't get it. Please reconsider these ridiculous new rules. Thank you.

Comment:

Dear CARB;

I am retired and am an ardent recreational angler, scuba diver and conservationist. I support all well planned, efficient and effective regulations to protect our environment. I supported all of the original CARB regs implementing clean gasoline and diesel, catalytic converters, ethanol, etc to help air quality. Thanks to CARB regulations California enjoys cleaner and healthier air than ever.

CHC2021, however, is terrible. If fully implemented these regulations would have a trivial positive impact on the environment, but would cripple an entire industry and negatively impact all Californians and out of state tourists who enjoy sports fishing and diving in California. The total pollution caused by these older boats is negligible in the grand scheme.

The millionaires and billionaires won't be affected. They will continue to use or charter their luxury yachts. This law will have a huge disproportionate affect on minorities and poor folks who will not have access to private or charter yachts and will not be able to afford the huge increase in prices if these regulations go into affect. Prices will dramatically increase because of the change in supply and demand - boats will go out of business reducing the supply of boats. And owners making the investment will have to dramatically increase their prices to pay for the capital investments required by the regulations.

Please reconsider this very bad, very ineffective and very inefficient regulation.

Thank you,
Larry Brown
San Diego fisherman, diver and conservationist

Tyrants are at it again. Destroying is what Non Elected officials do. First they created these agencies for themselves in order to fill these jobs once their terms have expired in the state assembly and senate. Corruption throughout CARB. Go out and get a real job, oh you can't that's because state elected politics have already forced high paying jobs out state.

Comment:

I am a Southern California native, and have enjoyed fishing for most of my 71 years. I find it difficult to afford offshore fishing, but if these new regulations are imposed on the California Sportfishing fleets, it will eliminate any chance for me to enjoy some truly great fishing experiences. This would not only effect me, but my grandkids, who really enjoy fishing. Mexico is going to be the only option, but their safety inspections leave a lot to be desired. This I know from first hand experience. A boat I fished, and vowed never again, sank killing I believe 5 American sport fishermen. Truly a shame. Is this what we have to look forward to? Please don't destroy the California Sportfishing fleet with these crippling regulations.

Thank you, Mike Cone

The proposed Amendments will take away the pleasure and excitement of being on the open sea in a safe environment for all who love to fish and eat fish. My dear departed husband and I were enthusiasts all during the 1990s and 2000s. This was a happy Friday night to go out and come back on Saturday, forgetting all of our troubles and the world other than where we were at that moment. The camaraderie and experiences were the best! Many young men were able to go out there and either work on a boat, which was therapeutic to them and were able to make some cash, much less having the adventure of a lifetime. My sweet husband passed away in May of this year and I have a lot of rods, reels and gear in my garage that I would love to donate them to a cause for young kids who want to learn to fish. I hope this blessing will not be lost to regulations that would destroy West Coast Sportfishing. My Prayers are with you.

Comment:

All you rich politicians need to find better ways to regulate stuff us normal people enjoy. It's really easy for a rich person to sit and make laws laws that make everything to expensive for us (that make your wages) to do. This is just another way for you to pad your pockets and make regulations to fine us. How many people do you wanna put out of work? How expensive do you want seafood to be? This isn't a small hit this will decimate an entire industry and make it to hard for already struggling people to survive. You really think this will impact the environment that much when we boarder states with absolutely no smog laws? Please rethink this preposterous law and come up with a better idea!

Subject: Sportfishing Engine Regulations

Comment:

Hello,

I am a lifelong angler and fellow offshore sport fisherman. I am very concerned that the rules being proposed by the CARB will limit my ability and access to enjoy the natural resources offshore. I am concerned that the fleet of sportfishing boats will not be able to retrofit their fleets to meet the emissions standards that are being proposed. I worry that access to enjoy sportfishing offshore will be limited to those who either have their own private boat or can afford astronomical prices that sportfishing captains and landings will have to charge to become compliant with these new regulations. Please, consider the financial impact on the users and consumers who will be impacted and who will bear the brunt of these rule changes.

Dear Sir,

Please be advised that as a avid angler and outdoor enthusiast I am voicing my concerns that pertains to the sportfishing boat industries and how these actions could hurt both jobs and the very persons that are key to protecting the environment that we love. We are asking for a rational approach to the legislation that would impact the fishing industry by making it extremely difficult or almost undoable with this requirement to bring boats to a emission levels that for the most part don't even exist. It would even be more cost prohibitive in the retrofitting of existing vessels and therefore putting these boats out of business. Therefore I urge you to make reasonable ways to gradually implementing policies that are good and reasonable. Thank for your time and consideration.
Sincerely: Lamar Laub

Comment:

Dear CARB Committee Members,

While I appreciate your efforts to make the air cleaner in California, I believe that targeting sport fishing boats and boats engaging in whale watching excursions is going to far.

In your literature you talk about taking steps to fight global warming. It is a well-known fact that the entire United States of America contributes to only 15% of the emissions that may contribute to global warming. The real offenders are developing countries like China and India. You have absolutely no control over those countries, so why are you punishing us? Any negative effects sport boats contribute in the overall scheme of global warming is less than a grain of sand on the seashore. But, the negative effect your regulations will have on the private owners of these boats could be economically catastrophic.

Your literature also brings up the health equity issues of neighborhoods surrounding the harbor areas. Here we have some agreement - but only with boats that operate mainly in the harbor. Sport boats and whale watching boats spend the vast majority of their engine running time offshore, resulting in a minimal effect on the local neighborhoods. In addition to that, they run their engines at low to moderate rpm's to conserve fuel. That results in lower emissions. School bus drivers, not so much.

Your graphs and data are suspect. I have learned through difficult and financially painful experience to be wary of data provided by state officials. Remember the Bullet Train? I need to say no more.

In closing, I respectfully request that you remove sport boats and whale watching boats, for the reasons previously outlined, from the proposed new emission standards.

Sincerely,
Christopher Olsen

Comment:

I am a senior citizen and I have enjoyed deep sea fishing for over 70 years. I am shocked to learn that new emission regulations currently being considered by the Board would drastically change or destroy the sportfishing industry in California. Most sportfishing boats are owned by individuals and operate as small businesses, most of whom could not afford the cost of drastic upgrades or, in many cases, replacement of a perfectly good craft. Many other businesses depend on the sportfishing fleets to create a demand for their products or services and they would be seriously impacted by a major change or elimination of the sportfishing industry. The imposition of these proposed regulations could result in a serious loss of jobs and recreational opportunities. While I am a strong advocate for protecting the environment, I feel that this proposal represents a case of dramatic over-kill. Thank you for your consideration

I am an owner of a small sportfishing charter service with one vessel in Moss Landing, CA. I just repowered 3 years ago to Tier 3 engines on my vessel which cost me $100,000 out of pocket. 1366.1

The regulations as drafted require technology that has not been developed or proven safe at sea, and consequently are economically and structurally impossible to comply with requiring boats constructed of wood/fiberglass to be removed from service as soon as 2031. I wonder if you have checked with the Coast Guard about the safety issues on a passenger carrying vessel. 1366.2

Timing could not be worse. With the COVID-19 pandemic came economic consequences and I'm still trying to recover from my repower 3 years ago.

I am 67 years old and ready to retire with my vessel being my retirement. I have worked hard my whole life building and maintaining my small business and now it's worth nothing? Just wondering how each and every one of you would feel if that happened to you..... Why is it not the same for all vessels? Why pick on passenger vessels. I know many in the commercial fishing fleet that have engines that are 40 years old!!!! Please do not pass these new regs and let us all work together to implement sound innovative ways that are doable without putting thousands of people out of work and in the poor house. 1366.3

Putting these restrictions on sportfishing, harbor cruise, whale watching and private boats would put thousands out of business. Not to mention the retail market that supports boating AND everyone employed by these boating markets. Proper research is more in order than implementing changes that are unattainable. As a sportfisher woman, passing this would end a recreation I enjoy throughout the year.

Comment:

The proposed changes under consideration by the CARB concerning emissions and changes for sport fishin and whale watch vessels are far too draconian and should be phased in differently. The proposed changes will severely economically affect both the fish landings and whale watch operations. The proposed changes will also directly affect customers of these businesses. I urge you to vote them down and to reconsider how and when future changes to these rules are implemented.

Please reconsider these proposed regulations. Fishing boats are a very small segment of the vessels producing emissions. In comparison to ocean liners and freighters, their emissions are miniscule. Most of these sport fishing businesses are family run. They cannot afford to retrofit or buy new equipment and would put them out of business. Please reconsider these new proposed regulations. Thank you.	1371.1

Comment:

I have not fished in 2 years now because of covid and the price to go on a sport fishing boat. When you are living on Social Security, you can not afford to do this. Lets get back to normal for a while before you even think about some thing like this. I really like to Salmon fish and eat it. Long time fisher man.

Comment:

Please do not pass the new regulations that were considered in the March 16th workshop that proposes amendments to the Commercial Harbor Crafts Regulations. These new rules would destroy many small businesses that serve not just fishermen, but families everywhere, who deserve an affordable ability to enjoy our oceans, bays and harbors on the current inventory of commercial watercraft.

Whatever benefits you think this draconian measure will accomplish towards stopping climate change, is outweighed by damage done to peoples livelihoods and quality of life for many citizens. Haven't we already seen enough destruction to our lives and economy such that Covid continues to cause?

CARB Personnel,

Please hear the cries of tax paying, voting California sports fishermen/fisherwomen. Protect our beloved and necessary access to salt water sportsfishing. Make the standards for sportsfishing boats so that state/federal subsidy is available to help the fishing captains make the transition to new boat technology reasonable and business friendly. Don't punish your constituents by essentially reoving our cherished lifestyle sport by making environmetal air restictions so sudden and severe. thank you for your concern, understanding , and sensitivity to this huge issue for tens of thousands of saltwater enthusiasts. Sincerely,
Gene Simon

Comment:

By their own admission, CARB's staff have stated that boats will be removed from service!

"We, through this process, discussed the findings of the feasibility report from the California Maritime Academy and for some sectors are estimating that for vessels operating above the low use threshold that vessel replacement will be likely, especially the categories with wood or fiberglass vessels that can't be as easily reconfigured." - Public Workshop for the Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations, March 16, 2021

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Sincerely,

Arnold Joe

Comment:

Your proposal is a recipe for disaster and doomed fishing industries, whale watching and giving access to fishing the ocean by recreational anglers. The emissions from boats is a drop in the bucket compared to other polluters. There are many fatal consequences to putting your plan in action. Namely the end to commercial fishing, the end to sportfishing charters to take anglers out for outdoor recreation and fishing to feed their families quality fish. Reduction is fishing licenses which help fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs which are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish. Your own feasibility study shows how disastrous this plan will be. Please go back to the drawing board and come up with something that doesn't destroy the fishing industry for both commercial and recreational fishermen/women.

Sincerely,
Terri Odom

Comment:

Hi it's very disappointing to learn that this board is focused on ruining sportfishing for what it is. I believe that if there truly is a desire to cut out pollution the approach would not be by making deep sea fishing inaccessible. I believe the correct approach would be making changes to the regulations for all the cargo ships that have been sitting on our coastline for so long now that produce the vast majority of our air pollution. If you all, who are on this board, want to make an impact to our air quality you might want to consider where the largest impact would result from. It would be nice if for once the changes would start with the large corporations that are producing the bulk of pollution. Thanks

Please do not pass this and require boats to scrap! This is a way of life, our livelihood! My family relies on the sports fishing industry to put food on the table. This is also a huge hit to tourism. Why is this necessary?! It's not! It's about money and politics, while not taking into account the amount of fisherman that will be on unemployment and the amount of families that will be on welfare and broke if this happens including my own. Don't do this! There's barely any positives to this, other than politicians and corporate pockets being lined.

Please do not force the proposed engine emission regulations on California's sport fishing fleet! The costs far outweigh the slight benefit to clean air. You're trying to put out a birthday candle with a fire truck. Too much for too little!

The passage of this regulation is not necessary and will do no good to protect the environment. This will not have any positive impact but will have an enormous negative impact not only on our fishing industry, but upon the economic condition of our local economy. I urge you to reconsider and to vote against this unnecessary and destructive bill.

I am writing to you to request that you do not pass regulations that will put charter boats and small time operators out of business. Most of these businesses are struggling now after the covid shutdown ,price of fuel, insurance etc. Please consider the livelihoods of these people and even if they could afford to reconfigure their boats they would have to raise the prices to go out fishing so high that their customers would not be able to pay it.

Please reconsider what you want to do. I love Sportfishing and want to be able to take my kids when they are old enough to be able to go. Also, please rethink all of the people that will lose their jobs because of these new regulations.

Sincerely, John Darcey

Subject: My view as a 17 year old on CARB

Comment:

Dear CARB Board,

My name is Maffick Arie, I am a 17 y/o student, lover of the ocean and craftsman. All my life I've been active around our beautiful coast; and have partaken in a few boat projects: buying, fixing and selling boats. I am really grateful for all these experiences and how they have helped me grow as a member of society. Though recently I have seen a spike in the California Government trying to limit these life changing experiences. I will admit, some of the goals that CARB aspire to meet are great when looked at in a glance, but in the long run this could be quite harmful to local Californians like me. If CARB is interested in helping the environment improve why target boats when there are much more cars destroying our environment? In the United States alone there are only 9.7 million boats, now this may seem like a lot but in comparison to the amount of cars in the United States (286.9 million) this number is quite small (let alone the amount of cars in California: 14 million).

1393.1

Likewise, by enforcing all boats forward to be made of metal or other expensive materials you steal the opportunity of owning a boat from teens like me, families who are not upper class, and local fishermen trying to catch a dinner. I honestly don't think there could be anything worse than stealing lifestyles of millions, watching while the higher class people go out on the water in their million dollar boats. It's a heartbreaking thought. On the other hand, think of the amount of waste and/or environmental impact that manufacturing aluminum, plastic or other boats will have: no matter what material you use there will always be a toll on the environment; don't try and abolish these boats when you can find better alternatives in making them. Lastly, please don't steal my

(and millions of other kids) childhood. Boats are our lives. We live on the coast, seeking adventures, and exploring the sea. Don't take our lifestyle. There are millions of other potential ways to save the ocean, be the one who helps the ocean and its community, don't hurt it. Thank you for your time and understanding -Maffick

Please do not kill the sportfishing industry here in California. I am a Veteran that like to go fishing to relax and get away for the day. With out fishing I will have to go to guns and go out shooting just to get some out door activity.

Comment:

Please do not implement mandatory boat motor upgrades for all boats! It would be too costly for commercial and private boat owners alike. We would lose tourism, recreational sports, commercial fishing, private fishing, and all the money associated with it. Maybe consider limiting seasons, or odd/even numbers for days of usage. We can't have everything taken away! Like they say...all work, and no play makes Johnny a very angry person!

Ladies and Gentlemen

Please use common sense in any modification to the type of engine used for commercial fishing boats (especially those used by week end anglers.) Modification or replacement should be put some years down the road and include specifically new boats. This is very important to the emotional health of many retired persons as well as a clean healthy week end pursuit that would all but disappear

1401.2

Many young people are being introduced to the sport at no cost by various organizations who could no longer foot the bill.

Comment:

There has to be some common sense in implementing a new regulation when there are no engines available and the technology is far in the future, the safety factor alone would be enough to discourage the board from considering this regulation- if your going to pay the farmers not to plant almond trees then the least you can do is try and do the same for the businesses which this law would effect and put out of business, Please reconsider this regulation. Thanks

Sport fishing boats Are a vital recreational asset in California. The economics of the clean air situation would basically spell an end to recreational sport fishing fishing except for the very wealthy. I feel that it is vital to grant an exception to the air quality rules and put time effort and money into finding a suitable alternative for all.

I am strongly opposed the the proposed requirement to replace the diesel engines used in the vast majority of sportfishing boats on the coast of California. It would make it impossible for most of those businesses to survive. The ones that do would have to increase ticket prices so much as almost nobody could afford it. Thank you for your consideration. Comment:

Making changes that impact sport fishing such that only the richest of people can afford to fish should not be something you are considering. This is a public access issue and any negligible air pollution should not be taken as more important than public access and affordability. Yea f that is the only consideration then beaches should be closed because beach sand - otherwise known as silica is a known cancer causing agent for the lungs. Children have less and less access to these outdoor activities which should be encouraged. Please make decisions not based on only one directional viewpoint - continually limiting outdoor recreational activities is and does have negative impacts to our communities and our children.

I am very concerned reagrding the attempts to destroy off shore fishing and whale watching by mandating untenable restrictions on boat owners to change boat engines. Due to the design of "acceptable" engines, boats will have to be replaced which are far too expensive for small operators.

This will further aggravate critical offshore and inland conservation program funding as fishing licenses will no longer be purchased depleting funding. These programs are essential to sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

I am deeply troubled by the proposed legislation to further regulate sport fishing boats. The costs to have a day on water is already prohibitive for so many. Further regulation will drive many boats out of the water and costs will skyrocket.

Cant we just have more millionaires buy forests and protect the trees from harvesting? What a farce.

It seems we could make a bigger impact on the environment if we fixed the existing loop holes rather than putting charter boats out of business.

CARB,

Please do not create new regulations that would restrict the economically disadvantaged access to our oceans and waterways. It would also create a financial burden on the owners and operators of such vessels that could not be met without raising food prices, fare prices and access fees.

Comment:

These are two of the most used activities for tourists coming to California and as such generate a lot of income for the State through taxes.

1412.1

This proposal will seriously jeopardies these activities by making it more expensive for the operators that stay in business and their customers. Many operators will go out of business because they can not afford new equipment.

1412.2

If this proposal is adopted it should be gradual in nature to allow small business to gradually adapt.

Hello,

I urge and implore you NOT to adopt the new regulations that would require sport fishing boats to adopt the new proposed standards so quickly. This should be a 10-15 year approach where both boat owners, as well as sport fishermen, could slowly adapt and make the necessary changes to meet CA emissions.

Why government continues to propose these major, industry-ending, Knee-Jerk reactions with regard to regulations is NOT OK.

I personally believe it's based on the fact that you only have 1 year and one month until you LOSE control of both house/senate and 2 years until you lose the Whitehouse as well.

Give it up and do SOMETHING for once that makes sense and is actually logical and won't end an entire industry.

And you wonder why people are leaving CA in droves. Mirror much?

Please save ocean sport fishing on the california coast. New CARB regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! As boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Once again california would make ocean fishing expense and out of reach except for the rich. People of poor and normal means would not be able to afford ocean fishing and recreation. Please don't cut us off from this enjoyment.

The new Regulations will, basically wipe out any affordable boating access to our oceans, for what is a minimal gain in exhaust pollution.

To whom it may concern.

Please reconsider passing these regulations on the sport boat and whale watching industries, as it will decimate the businesses and livelihoods these communities depend on. Not only will it kill a billion dollar revenue for the state, it will also kill the revenue the Department of Fish and Wildlife depend on from fishing licenses. This is a no win situation for everyone.

Subject: AMENDMENTS TO COMMERCIAL HARBOR CRAFT REGULATION

Comment:

I grew up fishing southern California sportfishing vessels from Ventura to San Diego with my family. Those fishing trips were foundational for my brothers and I with my father and mother. The beauty and education of the ocean is second to none. Growing up in South Los Angeles I was blessed to adopt the ocean and sportfishing as my peace, tranquility, and getaway. Over the years I have watched the industry change and the quality of the motors the boats have become cleaner and quieter. I believe it is a gross misnomer to fault the sportfishing industry for gross polluters. The proposed regulations will for certain put the fleet and industry out of business affecting first a large industry contributing to our economy in California possibly placing life long fisherman by trade and career in line at the nearest food giveaway and homeless shelter.

My grandchildren will not have the opportunity to enjoy the ritual of sportfishing that has been passed down in our family some 7 generations now. The proposed changes are without proper research and knowledge of these vessels. Please hear the voices of anglers and future anglers, whale watchers, ecological researchers, and divers as we plead with you to to not place a murderous and destructive plan upon the sportfishing and water craft industry. We as anglers are definitely protectors of our beautiful earth and its eco-systems but this is an egregious uninformed regulation that cannot be accepted or allowed to destroy a pastime and hobby that brings everyone regardless of socio-economic, racial, gender differentiation together forming friendships and relationships that have, do, and will last for decades and beyond. Please save our sportfishing.

To require that all fishing boats meet new emission standards is ridiculous you are going to run a lot of fishing charters out of business and increase the cost of sport fishing in the state of California

New emission Standard should only be imposed upon new vessels

What about the engines in the bulldozers, backhoes and other heavy construction equipment in use today? What about all the older heavy trucks still in use today?

Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations

Comment:

I reviewed the "Initial Statement of Reasons" with particular attention to the new CPFV category of vessels. It is my opinion that the proposed regulation will put most Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels out of business as most will not be able to comply with the regulation, even given the allowable extensions. The section "California Employment Impacts" may paint a rosy picture for shipyard operations and mechanics, but the many businesses that support the Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessel industry on a daily or weekly basis will be negatively impacted. The CPFV industry is a small industry with little environmental impact compared to the other industries that are affected by this proposal. I believe that identifying a set of criteria for providing an exemption for these small businesses will allow them to continue to operate. However, I suspect that CARB has little regard for these small operators and will regulate them out of existence.

Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Comment:

Dear Board Chair:

With regard to the subject proposed regulation, we believe the intent of the regulation is to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from existing and future marine craft. While to many this may be a worthwhile and lofty goal to "do their part" in reducing atmospheric CO2, the risk versus reward does not appear to justify the action. The emission produced by the marine craft fleet, especially the small recreational and commercial craft fleet is but a mere fraction (drop in the bucket) of total greenhouse emission produced by all other forms of transportation in California. The consequences of these regulations will be punitive not only to commercial businesses, their employees, and supporting business services dependent upon commercial harbor craft, but also to all those that utilize such services including poor and under served communities. Many commercial craft that are involved in recreational fishing for example provide recreational opportunities for poor and under served communities, especially children. Many sportboat operators provide charity charters for inner-city youth to give them a once in a lifetime opportunity to fish, whale watch, or conduct marine science aboard a recreational-commercial vessel (RV). Enacting regulations that impose requirements that will essentially put them out of business for negligible environmental benefits is illogical if not unjust. The state of the science and industry for propulsion replacement from gas or diesel to all electric is just not their. The range of such craft is a fraction of what a diesel engine can produce. The battery cell size needed would likely take up the vast capacity of the craft to make it practical, thus making it impractical. The regulations proposed may be considered a step in the right direction with regard to reducing CO2 emissions, however, now is not the time. We need to let the "state of the science" catch up with the proposed regulation. Putting thousands of people out of work and killing a	1432.1

Comment:

Dear Sirs,

My family and I operate a charter fishing vessel based in Sausalito. We provide recreation, fishing activities and public access to 1000s of people each year. Currently we use tier 3 emissions engines. The mandatory use of tier 4 engines will put me out of business. We have updated our engines numerous times over the years and these new tier 3 engines are unbelievably efficient. Please reconsider the possibility of mandating the use of tier 4 engines!!!

Comment:

Dear CARB -

As an avid fisherman who primarily uses charter boats for fishing activities I feel compelled to write that forcing these companies out of business due to changes in requirements that end up causing their existing boats to be scrapped is an unreasonable and unfair activity to enforce. These are small businesses, and many cannot afford to purchase brand new boats just to meet changes to CARB requirements, thus resulting in them either having to close their business or increase their prices beyond reasonableness. This will have an overall negative impact on San Diego as a whole due to the loss in revenues, tourism, and just the general leisure we enjoy today.

Please reconsider any changes that would have such a detrimental impact to this industry. The amount of emissions from just a small fishing charter fleet is going to be statistically zero, so there is zero to gain while losing so much. This would not be prudent management.

Thanks,
Jim Quagline

Please protect public access to our oceans and sportfishing by NOT adopting new more restrictive regulations that will kill many family run sportfishing operations by making the cost of compliance prohibitive. It will also end up taking funds away from valuable fisheries projects and resources that will have a long term negative environmental impact.

Comment:

CARB,

The only way I can see the commercial industry (sportfishing, island tourism, etc.) being able to comply with the tier 4 emission standards is by offering grants to purchase tier 4 compliant engines and offering those engines to the commercial fleet similar to what is currently being offered. Otherwise, I'd suspect the current boat owners will most likely lose their business due to having insufficient funds to purchase these engines. In addition, the assumption also assumes the tier 4 compliant engines are even compatible the boats allotted engine room space and ventilation. It will be really sad that whole commercial industries will go bankrupt in order to comply with a ill prepared and poorly thought out plan. This is America and we as Americans should work together verses against each other in order to make this a better and safer place.

1438.1

1438.2

Please think this through and come up with a sensible & reasonable plan and approach to this problem.

Thank You for your consideration.

Dear Sir or Maam,

I respectfully ask that you re-consider the proposed regulation to commercial Harbor Craft. While I 100% agree that our environment is one, if not the most important asset our state of California has, I firmly believe there are many other sources of pollution / emissions that can be addressed with great impact at protecting our states resources. The impacts that this proposal could have would not just be financially devastating to many, it would negatively alter the entire states identity while providing minimal results in its efficacy.

I ask that you please consider opposing this regulation.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Comment:

Please do not burden our family run sportfishing boats with unbearable regulations and fees. Our California economy is breaking and every person working needs a clear path. These draconian engine emission regulations would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased and would effectively make it nearly impossible for small business owners and operators to continue to function but also make it too expensive for the majority of the anglers who enjoy trips on these boats. This will kill the entire industry of sportfishing for generations. Please do not pass these proposals.

Hello there,
Im writing to ask you to reconsider the proposed regulations related to engines used in sports fishing on the California coast. As a native of the coastal town of bodega bay, I can appreciate the desire to keep air clean but feel this propels will be detrimental to the sports fishing industry. I'm also since fed how those funds from fishing licenses will be lost if this sports fishing charterers are no longer in business. Thanks, Bill Olson

Hello,

I'm writing to request you do not pass this regulation. I enjoy sportfishing and whale watching. This new regulation will put all that to a stop. Many boat owners will not be able to afford these changes and force them sale off and leave the boating / sportfishing business. The last 18 months of Covid has put many boat owners near bankruptcy. The boat owners who could afford the changes and new boats will have to charge too much for most of us and most likely put an end to sportfishing and whale watching or making it only affordable for the rich.

Subject: Preserve Sportfishing

Comment:

Sportfishing ad a industry needs to be preserve. The proposed legislation is unfair and not logical in its written processes. It needs to provide a longer time frame for implementation and a different method of implementing new engines/fuel.

This legislation is written poorly without regard for the public or the fishing industry's Please rewrite this to make it fair and responsble.

I am writing so the California Air Resources Board (CARB) DO NOT adopt the draconian engine emission regulations that would require existing Sportfishing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased.

These regulations will simply put an end to the local sportfishing and whale watching business and will not solve the climate crisis, nor will it have much effect on improving air quality. My friends and relatives have been working in this industry their whole lives and we would be devastated to watch it be taken away. Please see us as people with livelihoods because that is what we are.

Comment:

As a lifelong sports fisherman, I urge you to reconsider this draconian legislation which would effectively put many independent charter boats out of business and/or force them to raise rates so high ( to help cover the cost of engine replacement) that senior citizens such as myself could no longer afford the price for a day of fishing. This is a classic case of "unintended consequences " from legislation which intends to do good (cleaner air/ minimize climate impact) but will have a catastrophic impact on commercial charter boat owners, their families, their employees and "old geezers" like me who enjoy going out fishing at an affordable price.

I feel that the proposed amendments to the commercial harbor craft regulations will be harmful the sports fishing industry and sport fishermen in general. Changes could be made for any new vessel entering into service but existing vessels should be exempt from the new regulations.

We do not need any new restrictions to reduce the ability of the public to enjoy our outdoor activities.

I devoted 35 years on the bench in service to the people of the State of California

My hope was to enjoy my retirement by fishing and enjoying whale watching with my children and grandchildren. Imagine my sadness at learning that all opportunity could be lost for my family and so many others because of regulations that are well meaning but misguided because the technology is not yet in existence to implement the regulations without prohibitive cost.

The providers of fishing and whale watching have struggled through Covid. Please do not put an economic noose around their neck. Please look long term as you consider this regulation and save the hardworking small businesses that are the bedrock of this tax generating sport and industry.

Comment:

I want CARB to pls reconsider also this is 2nd time I've emailed still haven't received an explanation of how much pollution this will remove or EPA impact report on what damage these boats contribute also these boats were ok when they were built is it the position of CARB that no boat is I. Compliance any moment CARB changes the rules?	1458.1
Meaning if all the sportfishing boats comply how long will these boats be ok for? 1year , 2year 5 years? How can any company keep up with that uncertainty.	1458.2
How come international fishing 3miles out for commercial CARB isn't going after , seems it's the low hanging fruit for symbolic unless there is some data that can be provided? On the surface it looks very unjust and if this happens my family will no longer vacation in California for anything as I see this is very overreaching.	1458.3

Thank you for your time , sincerely Erik Zemanek

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Hello California Angler and Marine Life Enthusiast!
Exactly four weeks from today the California Air Resources Board (CARB) will consider adopting such draconian engine emission regulations that would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased, forcing ticket prices to be raised by 2-3 times existing prices. Not only could this mark the end for California sportfishing and whale watching boat owners but it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it.

By their own admission, CARB's staff have stated that boats will be removed from service!

"We, through this process, discussed the findings of the feasibility report from the California Maritime Academy and for some sectors are estimating that for vessels operating above the low use threshold that vessel replacement will be likely, especially the categories with wood or fiberglass vessels that can't be as easily reconfigured." - Public Workshop for the Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations, March 16, 2021

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Comment:

The proposed passenger boat regulations under consideration by CARB are draconian and will crush an entire industry, most of which is made up of small independent owners and businesses. This, in turn, will affect the thousands upon thousands of Californians who love to fish, whale watch, and otherwise enjoy time on the water. While protecting California's air quality is important, consideration must be given to the massive negative impacts to those affected. I ask that you consider a step-wise approach to achieving CARB's mission and goals. Implementation of new regulations must be incremental so as to provide reasonable time and opportunity for compliance. Honest consideration must be given to the fact that these CARB regulations require more than 80 percent of passenger sportfishing and whale watching vessels to be removed from the water because boat owners can't comply with regulations that mandate technology that does not exist (much less proven safe at sea). Don't destroy local businesses and local economies. There must be a better way.

Comment:

Board members I send you my greetings and my request to be heard regarding new regulations to make the sport fishing industry to follow new regulations to make the business more expensive and more difficult to go fishing or to go whale watching, I request you to not apply these new regulations. I would like to keep the regulations as they are now,, we do not need to bankrupt the fishing industry. We need to have these industries to be available for the general public. To force new regulations on the industry will make the fees to go higher, and eventually the industry will go away, the experience to go on board these ships will be gone, children will not be able to experience a wonderful adventure.....Thank you. Please do not consider passing the Emission requirement for California fishing boats. Fishing is already expensive enough for us sportsman and will only means to an end of one of our passions and great pass times.

My name is Matthew Wydro, I grew up fishing in San Diego, and would be greatly saddened to loose my only access to saltwater offshore fishing. The proposed regulations will be a severe blow to our fishing community if they are implemented.	1469.1
Please, from a born and raised California citizen, exempt the sport boats as you did the commercial fleet. These boats are family owned small businesses and cannot conform to these constantly changing regulations. The	1469.2
engines do not exist for these vessels, and replacing them would drive out of business.	1469.3

Thank you for your consideration.

THE REQUIREMENTS THAT ARE BEING CONSIDERED ARE TO COSTLY AND WOULD TAKE AWAY OPERTUNITYS FROM FAMILYS TO ENJOY THESE GREAT ADVENTURES THAT BOND PARENT/CHILD/AND NATURE. TO REQUIRE SUCH AN LARGE INVESTMENT TO THESE OPERATIONS WOULD CRUSH THIS INDUSTRY, THE LOSE OF JOBS DIRECTLY AND INDIRECTLY SHOULD BE AMPLE REASONS FOR RECONSIDERATION. Comment:

Dear sirs,

I have reviewed the proposed legislation and I urge you to vote no on this bill. While reducing pollution is an admirable goal, one must be careful not to kill an industry. "Party Boats" provide ocean access to anglers that don't own a boat who buy fishing licenses, purchase bait & tackle and contribute to other coastal businesses like restaurants and hotels. The scale of the change required by this bill will, by the committee's own admission, take many boats out of commission. Operators will not be able to replace these boats without drastically raising their prices which are already almost prohibitive effectively killing the business

1475.1

The small amount of pollution from these boats does not warrant the large expense that this legislation will require. Please vote NO on this bill.

1475.2

Thank you for your consideration.

Dave

To whom it may concern

There are smarter ways to deal with this issue. Canceling an industry in such an unprofessional matter is of concern. The way to go is to use current technology and transform it better by improving fuels and other lubricants as well as parts that are not priced to take a business into chapter 11. I would really like to know how much experience do politicians who make these decisions have within the fishing industry. One can always suggest but when push comes shove, decision makers should be held accountable.

I am a recreational fisherman and I believe CARB is planning to damage and sabotage many small business owners with this act. Boat owners and operators are a dying breed and they need our support in order to continue their operations.

CARB actions to dismantle these boats is criminal at best. There is no available science that supports this mandate. I urge you to use common sense and reject this plan as unreasonable and ineffective.

Respectfully,

Paul J Doty

This bill is bad for everyone. Fishing is not just fishing for a lot of people. For some, like myself, fishing is what keeps us sane. It's our therapeutic outlet to deal with our current stressful lives. For some, like my uncle it gives them a different kind of high that drugs would give him. Without fishing he may revert back to that life style. I want fishing around so I am able to pass it to my kids so they can have a better understanding and respect for our ocean waters. I also enjoy fishing because its a way to get fresh and organic food.

And on the other side many jobs will be lost. Many live off the tips we give after a great day of fishing. The captains will just have a dead boat that they can no longer drive. It's not just fishing for us, it's a way of life

To all ,
This is something that can not happen . You have to ease into a change that you want . I feel that there are powerful people in charge wanting to line their pockets . The companies that benefit from this should work with those who don't and come together with a long term fade out soultion. Commerical fishing is a problem and this should not happen .

Hello,

My name is mark miller, I've sport fished social on open party boats since 1975. I feel greatly enriched for the experience and thru my children and scouts. Think making sport fishing inaccessible to future generations will rob them of the memories and good times like I and my family/ scouts have had. The boats are running green diesels and they are a very tiny part of overall transport. Meanwhile 100s of cargo ships burn fuel oil and at idle, per the LA times, each ship emits 100,000 cars worth of air pollution per hour. I hope the board considers all the hard work the party boat owners have done to be in compliance to be clean and accept what they have done. By far the worst polluters are the cargo ships, I'm not sure what can be done to make them better, but they should be the focus. They could improve alot I would think. Thank you.

Please do not vote to place any additional restrictions on the small commercial boating industry. These are small businesses that play important roles within their communities and bring the ocean to many people who would be otherwise denied these opportunities.

Subject: CARB EFFECTS ON SPORTFISHING

Comment:

I am writing to express my concerns about the changes that could potentially prevent us from being able to afford to go fishing on party boats.

I have only been fishing offshore in California for about 4 years now but it is something I have come to love as well as many people that live in Las Vegas. It has been hard enough to make the trips to the coast since the increased prices do to Covid and gas prices skyrocketing. If the boats disappear or the cost becomes anymore prohibitive I, and the others that make the trips several times a year, will no longer be able to make the runs down to the coast. There are several people from Arizona, Southern Utah, Southern Nevada, interior California and even Colorado that make the journey to Southern California for the fishing. If you make the mandates to eliminate older boats effective, then the loss of revenue to the state will be drastic.

I implore you to rethink the decision being considered to eliminate the fleets as we know them. This will not only have a major impact on fisherman and the boats they pay to fish on but the state, the cities, and all the business that gain revenue from the visitors to your state that utilize the fleets that are planned to be disrupted or destroyed.

As a fisherman, both on the ocean and on fresh waters of the United States, I find it disconcerting that the California Air Resources Control Board is planning on passing engine emission regulations that will cripple the fishing industry for California residents.

Besides eliminating a sport enjoyed by the young, old, and California residents between the young and the old, the Air Resources Board is forcing a regulation that will cripple this industry and basically eliminate sport fishing for the citizens.

Forcing mandates by regulations is a crime against the citizens and the private entities that provide this necessary sport of fishing.

I can't support a dictator type of regulation that impacts current fisherman and future young fisherman as well as the folks that provide the medium of fishing vessels for sportsman of all ages, present and the future.

Withdraw the regulation.

The sports fishing industry affords a relatively economical source of recreation enjoyed by many. It also supports a number of industries which provide goods and services such as hotels, restaurants, boat yards, fishing equipment manufactures and retailers, fish processors, and many more. CHC2021 is ill conceived, will put the boats out of business and negatively impact many support industries. The benefits of this industry significantly outweigh its costs.

Dear CARB,

I am a 56 year old native Californian who has been enjoying ocean sportfishing since I was in 4th grade. My early years were spent fishing on boats out of San Pedro and Long Beach. I now reside in Orange County and have been sportfishing out of Newport Beach and Dana Point. Please reconsider these new regulations that will certainly put the California sportfishing industry out of business as we know it or make it financially unfeasible for local fisherman who enjoy the occasional fishing trip. I really can't believe that one of my favorite pastimes is at risk of being gone forever.

Thank you,

Chris Saalberg

Re: Letter of Recommendation Regarding the CARB's Amended CHC Regulation, and In-Use Compliance Deadlines for Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels

Dear David Quiros and CARB,

On behalf of B M Sportfishing/malihinisportfishing INC. I want to express my concern for the proposed amendments to the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation (CHC Regulation). Under the amended CHC, beginning January 1, 2023, Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels (CPFV) will be required to replace engines with cleaner tiered engines, perform opacity testing and pay annual fees.

I have been a fisherman for 30+ years, and I know my colleagues, our communities, and the benefits and challenges of our industry very well. We act as stewards of the land and water, not only for our use but for the benefit of our future generations. We make this active choice to bear much of the cost and responsibility of protecting our natural resources.

While we value the importance of quality air, we also believe in the importance of the three pillars of sustainability - economic viability, environmental protection, and social equity. As the current amendments stand, the regulation is not sustainable for our industry and is not equitable for CPFV operators.

If it is enacted, it will put me and other sportfishing businesses in California out of business. I have been in the Sportfishing industry for 30 + years, as I said earlier. I am currently in my 15th year as an owner-operator. We have been a member of SAC Since 2006. We run 1/2 day, 3/4 day, and full-day fishing charter trips, Out of San Diego Bay. Some of the charters that I do are for the inner-city kids. in the areas of Encanto logan heights, Bairo logan, And are funded thru me and some good-hearted people who sponsor these trips. If these regulations are enacted, it will take away the very reason I am doing this. These young at-risk children, who otherwise would not know what ocean fishing is. I make an average living, To support my wife and me. 2023 based on the regulation that is being proposed, Tier 4 engines are not a viable option at this time for me. And don't exist yet. I am trying to understand why we are being singled out? If you do this, you have effectively taken away ten to fifteen years of work I have put into the inner city to give these kids who don't have an avenue to do something different other than run the streets, join gangs because that's all they know and have seen their whole life. I like to say I made a difference in a child's life, that matters.

1497.3

please don't do this; it is wrong on so many different levels

Regards

Capt Bill Wilkerson

Re: Letter of Recommendation Regarding the CARB's Amended CHC Regulation, and In-Use Compliance Deadlines for Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels

Dear David Quiros and CARB,

On behalf of B M Sportfishing/malihinisportfishing INC. I want to express my concern for the proposed amendments to the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation (CHC Regulation). Under the amended CHC, beginning January 1, 2023, Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels (CPFV) will be required to replace engines with cleaner tiered engines, perform opacity testing and pay annual fees.

I have been a fisherman for 30+ years, and I know my colleagues, our communities, and the benefits and challenges of our industry very well. We act as stewards of the land and water, not only for our benefit but for the benefit of our future generations. We make this active choice to bear much of the cost and responsibility of protecting our natural resources.

While we value the importance of quality air, we also believe in the importance of the three pillars of sustainability - economic viability, environmental protection, and social equity. As the current amendments stand, the regulation is not a sustainable option for our industry and is not equitable for CPFV operators.

If the is enacted, it will put me out of business. I have been in the Sportfishing industry for 30 + years, as I said earlier. I will be in my 14th year as an owner-operator. We have been a member of SAC Since 2006. We run ½ day, 3/4 day, and full-day fishing charters. Out of San Diego Bay. Some of the charters that I do are for the inner city kids. And are funded thru me and some good-hearted people who sponsor these trips. If these regulations are enacted, it will put me out of business. People think I make a lot of money. I make an average living. To support my wife and me. It will take me seven years to save up the money to put three new mains into the malihini. And that's not feasible if it will have to be done by 2023 based on the regulation that is being proposed; Tier 4 engines are not a viable option at this time for me.

I, William Wilkerson Of B M Sportfishing, align with the SAC and GGFA recommendations to modify the following elements of the proposed CHC Regulation.

1. That CPFV continues to be considered a "Fishing Vessel" and receive the same compliance deadlines as the Commercial Fishing Vessels, with Tier 2 serving as final compliance. Tier 0 and Tier 1 engines will follow the proposed replacement and low usage exemption requirements.
2. That Opacity testing requirements be eliminated for CPFV's. These requirements are cumbersome, and a majority of our operators will not have the capacity, resources, or wherewithal to complete this task.
3. That Fee Schedules be removed from CPFV obligation.
4. Those CARB initiatives a thorough outreach campaign for all California Fishing Vessels. SAC and GGFA have several recommendations on how this can be completed more effectively.

1497.4

I believe I am not the only owner/operator in Southern California's fishing community with the same issues as me if this regulation were made a reality.

Sincerely,

William Wilkerson
B M Sportfishing Inc

Dear California Air Resource Board,

Please understand that the economic impact to tens of thousands of Californians will be severe if they are no longer able to operate their wood and/or fiberglass fishing vessels. This will put nearly the entire fishing industry out of work as well as negatively affect ancillary businesses that will be unable to generate income.

Additionally, the fishing industry supplies restaurants and markets with seafood that will also be impacted. Economic impact studies need to be performed and understood before this type of radical legislature that will affect so many.

Please reconsider to not adopt these radical measures.

Thanks,

Alex Bravo

I am the co owner of Dana Wharf Sportfishing and Whale Watching, located in Dana Point Ca. Dana Wharf is celebrating 50 years in business, we operate year-round, and we employ just under 50 employees. My Father Don Hansen founded this business and for all of the 50 years we have operated we have always instituted programs to bring customers to our locations and introduce them many for the first time to the sport of fishing. our industry provides jobs and helps other small businesses as well . We also sell the 2nd highest amount of California Fishing license through our location , supporting the Fish and Wildlife Department of California. I am requesting your assistance in directing staff at the California Air Resources Board (CARB) to revise their proposed rule. Specifically, returning Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels (CPFV) back with Commercial Fishing Vessels (CFV) for compliance with the Commercial Harbor Craft (CHC) rule. To not do so will have a devastating impact on our family-owned business, coastal communities that surround us, and ocean access to those that can least afford to participate.

1499.2

For the first-time ever, CFV and CPFV would be separated. The proposed regulation grants CFV a different proposed timeline for compliance and the use of different equipment even though the report CARB commissioned from the Cal Maritime Academy (CMA) finds that our vessels are similar in nature. It appears to make little sense to separate us out and impose the use of equipment that CMA indicates is not available and, if it was, would cause significant safety concerns and economic impacts to passenger vessels.

CMA indicates that even if the equipment could be installed it would create stability issues and reduce passenger counts by up to 42%. Reducing our passenger capacity will devastate our bottom line, but even more of a concern is the use of this equipment and its impact on safety to passengers and crew. It is extraordinary that CARB would propose to require technology that would require such structural modifications that CMA found it is not appropriate to be utilized in these vessels. CARB has made public statements acknowledging the equipment is not available and would not work for sportfishing and has suggested we remove our current vessels from California, how can this be ? We can not relocate our business so this must be they want us to go out of business entirely. CARB staff believes that we should purchase new vessels that are made of steel, which would be required to be significantly larger to accommodate the mandatory equipment but would not be able to carry any additional passengers. This would make the cost of tickets soar to at least double current rates putting ocean access out of reach of families and those from disadvantaged communities. As an example my 56 foot boat of steel would need to be retrofitted to be 95 plus feet and help the required large equipment reducing our passengers by 42-50% , a few things that no one talks about 1. I can't make a 105 foot boat fit in a 65 foot slip ? 2. The equipment known as DPF's are very large and weigh a lot and are said to be very very hot requiring the boat to sit at idle and run for long period of time , they are also not approved yet by United States Coast Guard . 3. The largest issue by far is that there will be no more grant funds like Carl Moyer , surely this is a mistake?

As you know, these are almost exclusively family run operations like mine that are attempting to recover from a year of lockdown during the COVID-19 Pandemic. The Governor announced the his intention was to help recover the tourist industry and CPFV are a significant driver of coastal economies. This proposal would create several economic hardships and likely drive many CPFV operators like me out of business. Meanwhile, those with similar vessels in the Commercial fishing fleet would maintain opportunities for grants to assist with upgrades to proven technology that doesn't create safety issues.

The CPFV fleet provides value to our communities far beyond their operations for fishing and tourism. Many individuals use the fleet as their only access to the ocean as they cannot afford their own boat, this part of our customer base can not afford any increases to the ticket costs , also the trips we donate we will not be able to donate anymore due to the high costs of operations . Please put us back with CPF so that we can phase into the new engine requirements , the technology needs more time and frankly so do we . My father once thought he would leave a legacy for his family to take over when he leaves this earth now at 87 he is watching an industry he loves face total devastation . We are just one family business , we have just under 50 employees but our stories are all the same, complete devastation if this rule was to pass in its current form.

I don't understand this. Why would any civil person want to destroy decades of family fun and history? You need to figure out another way- go after the cargo ships, go after the yachties, the US NAVY, the USCG, HARBOR PATROL- none of any of those boats have anything that you are trying to make charter boats aquire.

Hello,

I am writing to urge you not to pass these proposed new regulations that would raise the cost of sport fishing and whale watching.

Sport fishing should be something that all people can enjoy and aside from hurting the businesses of tourist companies and fishermen, these regulations will make it harder for ordinary Californians to enjoy the ocean.

We already have so many regulations. If they have not been effective, then how will more help?

Thank you for considering my comment on these new regulations.

This will do more harm then good. I see no good for this measure. This industry needs help as Covid did much harm to these fishermen. These people work so hard to make a living and now California wants to punish these hard working men. Don't destroy these men as California is doing to the private trucking industry

Comment:

This law is simply crazy you know by implementing this law you are putting hard working people out of business. it will also increase costs to the regular fisherman and stop them in their tracks from a sport that means everything to them.

How would it be for a family that always has crab on their table when it comes to Christmas and now that dinner will cost the family not $100 but $500 dollars the increase in costs alone will stop them from their tradition.

A fishing trip now costs a days pay for most fisherman and to put this law into affect would mean that the fisherman now can't afford to go because the cost is simply too much for a struggling family. In my youth I fed my family with the fish and game that I got and it helped the budget out. Now the cost will mean only the rich can fish and hunt....What a STUPID law

I just want to take a moment and tell you that this proposal will unnecessarily burden the Sportsfishing industry and our communities, effecting jobs and the local economies who depend on revenues. Some government regulations are welcomed for sustainability when they support the overall masses of our community, but this one is will have a devastating effect on my neighbors and friends who depend on Sportsfishing to feed their families!

Please allow for more time for people to meet expectations. We all know we need to improve emissions, it best to do it together and with the least amount of resistance.

Provide or agree upon another date with a slow implementation of emission devices. Allow the economy to settle. Times are very stressful already.
Please reconsider,

Dear CARB,

Take away are boats you take away our customers, take away our customers and you take away billions in tax revenue and conservation dollars. What are you thinking I mean with how greedy Gavin Newsome is one would think he wants all that money. Instead of shafting your states own citizens maybe you could help them and provide them with cleaner engines instead of effectively stealing thousands upon thousands of jobs. It's a big fucking industry and you can't just shut it down with the snap of your fingers. Go to the docks and see for yourself and ask the captains. It's about time politicians actually started caring what's right for the people. I agree our oceans need saving now more than ever, but pissing the people of that rely on them every day and care about them more than anyone else because they rely on our oceans to make a living is just absolutely out of line. Perhaps the government of California could purchase 100 new clean energy boats and divide them among the coastal landing s and wharfs. Beyond fishing boats this ban is including whale watching boats, bird watching boats etc, all these people going open those boats care about nature and there there to spread awareness of an issue, without exposing people to the beauty of our oceans how are they ever going too care enough to make a change and save our oceans. If you care so much about the ocean then you should have Made disposable masks illegal because now there's millions of them floating around of our Lucious California coast.

Dear Board Members.

As a lifelong California resident, I do not disagree with measure to improve are air quality. I can relate to the air quality in Southern California in 1950's and 1960's. Watching the improvements over the years.

I do feel all Californians want to help. However, please do not destroy our economy as you implement regulations for change. The California Coast is a haven for all types of on the water activities. These activities generate millions of dollars annually, as well as, taxes. Many communities depend financially on these activities, directly and indirectly.

I know the boating industry wants to help but PLEASE work with the boating, etc. organizations to establish reasonable regulation and time frames to make it a "WIN - WIN" situation.

Thank you.

Comment:

My son has been in the Sport fishing business for 20+ years. It has provided a nice living income for him. He is proud of what he has accomplished. This new law will not only take away his livelihood but that of many others who make their living in this industry. This new law, proposed by the California Resource Board, will destroy the Sport fishing industry in CA. Men and women have built their whole careers in this industry. It will cost millions of dollars to each boat owner to do what this law requires. It is not only very costly but not feasible to pass these costs on to their customers. The wealthy can travel out of state to get their sport fishing. I am asking, at the very least, for CARB to revise the proposed law, make it more realistic and financially feasible for these boat owners and the sport of fishing to survive.

Hello, my name is Scott Meisel. I have been working in the Southern California Sportfishing fleet since 1976. At this time I own a 90' boat called Condor that operates out of fisherman's landing in San Diego. My boat is finally paid off, and at 58 yrs old, I'm trying to get to retirement. The condor is my biggest asset towards that goal. Passing a law that makes said asset worth very little will assure that my goal is never reached! I have owned boats in the fleet since 1993, and have worked most of my life at sea to get where I am. Starting over with a new boat at 4 plus million dollars is not an option at my age! This law will kill an industry that literally saved my life by giving me a direction and a means to make my own way. I have upgraded engines once already and would surly do it again, if such a product was available. Passing this law when NO such equipment is even available, is not a fair solution for multiple industries up and down the coast.

Scott Meisel

Scrap the proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation. This regulation would put most of the Party Fishing Boats out of business.

It is just plain unjust to put these boats out of business for the insignificant gain in air quality these changes would achieve.

You are doing great harm for very little benefit. If commercial vessels, like tankers who account for approximately 90% of the pollution, are exempt, this law will only hurt small boat operators. Please vote against this bad idea.

These regulation that are being proposed are un ethical and un fair to all involved for years familys introduce their children to the ocean thru the charter fleets, pass it on from generation to generation . Not to mention the lively hood of the owner operators that provide this service as their livelihood and as stewards of the ocean, which is over regulated already ! If this is put into effect it'll all be just a memory . Families that rely on sport and commercial fishing and whale watching do not have the resources to accomplish this un realistic regulation that you guys are proposing .

I am writing to you as a very concerned boater/fishing enthusiast.

I am opposed to the proposed changes that will ultimately destroy the sport fishing industry. The changes are extremely costly to the boat owners and we the people that enjoy them. I do not see a major change or benefit to these changes, other than to drive business out of business. Please do not move forward with these proposals.

Many thanks

Comment:

These engine emission regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! As boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Comment:

please do not out law existing marine engines. this class of vessels contribute very little to the overall carbon problem. Those on the vessels will be polluting less than if they where on land.

Subject: converting existing boat engines to the newer emission standards

Comment:

Please do not consider this new regulation to become a law. The older engines in use today were never engineered to run with this newer emission equipment. It will make the engine compartments 1540.1

EXTREMELY hot and probably cause many boats to catch fire!! These systems rob power from the engine so that they have to run harder to produce the same results in moving the boat thru the water. This reduces the fuel economy and increases costs by having to burn more fuel. More fuel being burned negates the "GREEN" savings of what the new emissions system is supposedly saving. 1540.2

This idea of a greener ocean fleet will kill off most boat owners the way this same system did to most private tractor-trailer operators! The expense of a new MANDATED emission system will drive the cost of the new compliant vessel out of reach of the average tax payer!!! 1540.3

Please don't let that happen!!
Thank You
Charlie Samms

REALLY? From a logic point of view, this fails. This attack on the industry and to ocean loving residents and visitors is not necessary. Stop killing jobs, the middle class, and sports enthusiasts. No doubt this will save the world... ha. Did you get buy-in from China, India, etc. on this? This "fishy" idea stinks!

Comment:

I am an elementary school teacher and marine life enthusiast. I participate in whale watching excursions and, because of my experiences on the water, I took the class to be an American Cetacean Society naturalist volunteer. Every year, I teach my students about the marine mammals we see off our coast as a science unit and end the unit with a whale watching field trip through Newport Whales or Dana Wharf Whale Watching. Nothing compares to the experience of viewing whales and dolphin in the wild and the field trips have had a profound effect on my students. People protect what they love. It is my hope that by providing students and the public with information and experiences related to ocean wildlife, people will have a sense of stewardship for our oceans and the animals that live in it. It worries me greatly that if Whale Watching tour businesses are forced to purchase new engines for their tour boats, they will have no choice but to close or it will become unaffordable for the public due to increased cost.

My name is Craig Hanson, I run Argo Sportfishing in S.F., as currently proposed, the new CARB regs would put me and most other charter boat out of business. It makes no sense to change regs when there is not even technology available to do the new regs for boat is proposing.

The preposterous thought that we can just get new boats and charge more to pay for those boats is make-believe. Do not let this happen. It will kill not just the industry, but recreation for tens of thousands of anglers and future anglers. Again this proposal make zero sense!!

Comment:

I don't understand how you could even think of passing this law with all the irreversible damage it would cause not only to our already strained economy but also to the conservation programs that are funded from the fishing licenses which are bought because of the boats you want to get rid of. You may see it as only a few boats and how much impact could it really have but you would be wrong. There are thousands of jobs that revolve around the Sportfishing industry, which would all be gone if this is passed.

1547.1

That's right thousands! Also if it does pass the cost to go on a boat to fish would be out of reach for most people especially the people who live in the inner city's who already are having to save and scrape just to go fishing maybe just once or twice a year. This brings me to wanting to share the experiences I had with you from when I worked on the sports boats growing up. So some of my favorite trips we would do were when we have a group of inner city kids and their parents would come out for a day of fishing or whale watching with us. The smiles on there faces when they would get to experience catching there first ocean fish or seeing there first whale was priceless. They would go from just knowing what they have learned in school to having a passion and love for the ocean. This intern meant they wanted to go back and learn more or even join us for another great day on the water. It was really a life changing experience. I even had one kid thank me because he could if only for a short time not have to think about the daily struggles of his everyday life.

1547.2

I beg you to not pass this regulation because what would be taken away would be more then just some boats.

Comment:

The proposed amendments will not only destroy small fishing businesses but also reserve sports fishing to only the wealthy with private vessels.

At a minimum, existing vessels and powerplants should be exempt to preserve fishing options to the average fishing enthusiast. These are the same people that pay (excessive) fees to the state's fisheries for such a privilege.

Considering the small number of fleet vessels subject to the proposed amendments, their contribution to ocean pollution pales in comparison to privately owned vessels and commercial container ships stacked up along the Southern California coast.

1548.2

Get real and support these small fleets. Imagine if even half of the folks paying for access to these fleets buy small private vessels to continue fishing. Pollution would be even worse.

1548.3

I'm for a clean environment, but GET REAL. Literally.
Environmentalists are out of control.

No pun intended, this proposal represents a drop in the bucket against air pollution. While effectively shuts down an industry and putting many, many hard working people out of work, it shuts access to the sea for ordinary folks and fish resource protection through licensing and active protections provided by the industry and sports people. Don't destroy something the helps the environment and offers significant joy to anyone going out for a day on the water.

To whom It May concern, please put a stop to this demand to get new engines you will put the sport fishing business out of business, most of the boats that I fish with have updated engines and they simply cannot afford or run with the new engine requirements that are absolutely ridiculous. Let alone the captain's will not be able to afford to run trips, they already have to run limited loads because of covid protocol this will further destroy their ability to earn a living. Let us catch our own fish please, thank you

Dear California Air Resources Board,

Please reject the Newsom Administration's proposed passenger boat regulations that require new engines and technology. I do not believe that this proposal is feasible from a safety, financial or operational standpoint. The aim of the proposal is noble, but the implementation is too sudden given how extensive and far-reaching it is. Please consider a more gradual phase-in of new requirements that will not harm the vast majority of boat owners who could not afford the new requirements, safeguard access to the ocean by the millions of low-income citizens who depend on charters, and protect the coastal communities who depend on the tourist dollars that would rapidly disappear.

Ms. Liane Randolph
Chair CARB

Sacramento, CA 95814

My name is Richard Powers. I presently own and operate two large charter boats out of Bodega Bay, California. I have owned four C.P.F.V's in the past 45 years, a full-service bait and tackle shop, a charter boat reservation service, and a restaurant all built around the charter boat sportfishing business. My business has employed hundreds of people over the years and my vessels have carried hundreds of thousands of clients on sportfishing, whale watching, pelagic bird, and marine Eco trips.

The engine emission regulations that C.A.R.B has proposed for our industry if adopted will most certainly put myself and many others who provide the public access to the ocean out of business. Our vessels are registered as commercial by the State of California. C.A.R.B for some reason has chosen to remove the commercial designation from our vessels. They are continuing to allow commercial fishing vessels to repower and follow upgrades to Tier 2 and Tier 3 engines. As a result of C.A.R.B's decision, the charter boat industry has been excluded from this process.

We have been told by engine manufactures that Tier 4 marine engines do not exist and that the heat/size/weight of these engines would not work or be allowed by the USCG on our existing boats. C.A.R.B has maintained that vessel replacement is the answer and steel would be the construction material to be used. All four of my vessels are and have been of fiberglass construction. I cannot afford to purchase new vessels to comply. Economically the cost of vessel replacement would sum into millions of dollars for two boats.

I have worked on charter boats since my early years and have been blessed to make this my life profession. The thought of losing this industry up and down our beautiful coast is extremely disturbing to say the least. Coastal communities rely on our vessels operations to provide ocean access to the public and the tourists that frequent our coastal towns. The financial impact will be devastating to our communities and the businesses that rely on us. The biggest loss will be to the public, who use our vessels as access to the ocean and its bounties. Observing marine life in its natural environment will become a thing of the past along with providing healthy affordable recreation and sustainable sportfishing opportunities for the public.

Comment:

Dear CARB Board Members:

Please consider the financial impact of the diesel engine emission standards you are considering adopting for the California Sportfishing industry. Many sportfishing boats are owned by very small businesses. Case in point, the boat I fish from frequently is owned by a husband and wife. The regulations you are considering will require replacement of engines and related systems in these vessels. The feasibility and cost of these changes to an existing vessel will force owners to scrap their existing vessels and purchase new ones. This would drive costs to their business that will not be supported by anglers like myself.

1555.1

The sportfishing industry in California is small and it's hard to believe the emissions impact from their vessels warrants these financially impactful regulations. The sportfishing industry is recovering from COVID shutdowns and I believe these regulations will force many of these vessel owners out of business.

1555.2

Please consider these impacts when you discuss the proposed regulations. It would be far more practical if you considered applying these regulations to only new vessels purchased and operated in California. Over time you would accomplish the same results without impacting these existing small businesses.

These new Regulations will put so many people out of business and raise costs at a time where small business is already struggling.

Much as I'm concerned about the pollution, I'm equally concerned about the industry and the future of my grandchildren's access to fishing enjoyment. 1558.1

This measure seems to be too drastic for the old boards to survive. 1558.2

I do not want to scapegoat and sacrifice the industry that only inherited old technologies, not created them. There are bigger polluters such as the recent oil spill and oil tank ships, which could have been intentional or the result of accidents, but we allow them to go on with their business. 1558.3

Personally,
I rather watch my grandkids enjoying outdoors fishing on a party boat than smoking pot and drinking beer in a sports bar.

Trying to make California a better place to live.

Thank you for listening.

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

I know personally how important the "Rite of Passage" fishing on a Sportfishing Boat is to our youth of today. I have organized youth fishing trips for over 22 years.

The "on the water" experience these children enjoy can be life lessons that cannot be duplicated anywhere else

Do not remove what has become a safe and rewarding activity for our youth especially during these very difficult times they are experiencing with restrictions to many activities. Our Youth deserve what generations before them have enjoyed.

Do not bring more harm !

Comment:

To whom it may concern:

Adopting such draconian engine emission regulations that would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased, this will force ticket prices to be raised by 2-3 times existing prices. Not only could this mark the end for California sportfishing and whale watching boat owners but it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it. These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life.

To whom it may concern,

I am very concerned about the new proposed regulations regarding required upgrades to existing fishing vessels. I am a long time deep sea fisherman who certainly has been a beneficiary of these activities. I have enjoyed for many years the joy of fishing, not only individually but with many members of my family. The new proposed regulations will be a tremendous cost to the fishing boat captains, and the majority of them will either go out of business, or have to drastically increase their prices. This is a no-win situation for the fishing industry, and will have a negative economic impact on San Diego in general. I would ask that you please reconsider these regulations in light of the negative consequences.

Hello,

I am reaching out to you because I am avid surfer and fisherman here in Southern California. I am all about having a clean ocean and clean air however I do not support this measure. These charter boat owners need more time to update their boats. This will run them out of business and or make it impossible for guys like myself to even go fishing because of the cost passes down to us, it is already a pretty expensive proposition to go fishing this will put it way out of reach for anybody who is not wealthy. I believe there has to be a better way to work this out.

Comment:

The Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulations would be a disaster for the economies of California and should not be approved.

1574.1

Many boats will be forced into landfills because the cost of moving them to another state or county would be prohibitive. This long term Hazardous material disposal should be part of the considerations. Please do not let this poorly considered Regulation go forward.

Thank you,
Steve Santen

The amount of emissions saved won't make any sense when you compare it to the thousands of jobs lost and the incredible amount of WASTE that will be generated! Too many negative effects from this!!

Your proposal as written and well intentioned is completely irresponsible! It would devastate local sport fishing fleet and innumerable support businesses as these fleets can not comply to the level prescribed. MODIFY the tier level to what is practical and would still support your objectives. THINK ABOUT THE IMPACT, DO NOT OVER REACH !

To whom it may concern:

As a person who has enjoyed fishing off the Southern California coast since I was very young, I Truly appreciate the functions the Southern California fishing fleet serve.

Via this email I am asking that you reconsider The proposed measures. At a very minimum phase them (the changes) in much more slowly. Also hopefully they can be done by the size of the boat and the fleet, et cetera.

These fleets are not big, not near as big as the amount of trucks, as an example, that come out of the LA port. Working in LA commonly, I see many polluters every day. There is a lot more "low hanging fruit" coming out of the port of LA. I would put a focus on those before the fishing fleet.

1580.2

Thank you for lisrening to me and Sincerely,

Allen Hardison

Lets no scrap pile California's great fishing fleet and the family businesses associated with these ships. Reconsider total destruction of functioning vessels for a slower more thoughtfull approach. I don't see any proposed amendments to commercial trucking regulation which is a much bigger footprint on the environment. Please consider our side of this conversation, concerned California sports fisherman Frank Fraccalvieri

Imposing non-existent technology -as well as unaffordable engine & hull changes is unrealistic & outright bullying. Considering a 'phases & practical approach' to protecting the environment while avoiding the destruction of yet another slice of the economy would not only help preserve Southern California outdoor tourism, but also the spirit of the working class individuals who rely on the ocean for their livelihood.

We must preserve our family trips -our memories -& our right to continued exploration & education. What is elementary school without a whale watching field trip??

From the boat captains to the deckhands & galley cooks...to the average angler who has been fishing the Channel Islands with his dad since he was 5 years old -the ability to create a living, while harvesting one's own food from the sea...is a way of life.

Please don't allow this to go through. As a wheelchair dependent fisherman it is the only way for me to access the waters we are blessed with here in Southern California. It will make any choice I have financially unattainable and cut down the options of accessibility dramatically.

Please reconsider legislating such unrealistic demands of owners and operators of purely recreational craft. Fishing, diving, whale watching, and other businesses will be priced into oblivion if the operators are forced to make unnecessary changes to their vessels.

I go out on the fishing boats a few times a year & love it. If the price was higher, us common folks, wouldn't be able to go.

Thank you for your consideration

i HAVE FISHED CALIFORNIA WATERS MY WHOLE LIFE, OVER 45 YEARS. PRICES HAVE RISEN CONSIDERABLY AND CAN STILL AFFORD TO HAVE FUN ON THE OCEAN UP TO A DOZEN TIMES A YEAR. I HAVE DEVELOPED PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS WITH VARIOUS CAPTAINS AND DECKHANDS. THEY ARE ALL WORRIED AND UPSET THAT THEY WILL NO LONGER BE ABLE FISH AND OWN A SPORT FISHER. i AM WORRIED AND CONCERNED I WILL NO LONGER BE ABLE TO AFFORD TO FISH ON THE OCEAN ANYMORE. PRICES WILL CERTAINLY RISE FOR ALL TRIPS IN ORDER TO OFFSET THE EQUIPMENT COSTS INCURRED BY THE FLEET. I WILL NO LONGER AFFORD TO ENJOY MY FAVORITE PASSTIME. THE REGULATIONS CONSIDERED WILL EFFECTIVELY LOCK ME OUT!

THIS IS NOT ACCEPTABLE AND AN OVERREACH BY LESGISLATORS. THIS ATTACK ON SPORTFISHING UNDER THE GUISE OF IMPROVING AIR CONDITIONS IS ABSURD! THE POLLUTION THE BOATS PUT INTO THE ENVIRONMENT, PALES IN COMPARISON TO ALL THE AUTOMOBILES ON THE ROAD IN CALIFORNIA. MAKES NO SENSE AT ALL! PLEASE DO THE RIGHT THING AND STOP!!!!

Comment:

Emissions from recreational charter boats operating on the ocean of the coasts of California are not a global or even a local problem. Please reconsider amending your current regulations. You would do better to focus your time on the commercial boats of which there is a substantially larger number, they run longer, (sometimes 24/7) and they can more easily absorb the expense. You can easily modify your amendment to exempt commercial/recreational boats and or add a size limit so as to reduce the impact on this important segment of the overall fishing fleets in California. Simply add language stating Charter Boats are excluded from this regulation.

Comment:

My Dad first took me fishing on the local half day boats out of Long Beach, Redondo Beach and San Diego at the age of 8. I caught the bug and 50 years later, I am doing the same with my son and daughter ages 15 and 17.

The new engine regulations proposed by the Newsom Administration are likely to put many of these boat operators out of business or contribute such price increases as to make it impossible to get out on the water due to the significant price increase.

The California Air Resources Board admits the proposed regulations will likely remove passenger boats made of wood and fiberglass from service which is 80% of all boats! Businesses in California are struggling - with the large case examples of Tesla, Apple, Oracle, Nestle and Hewlett Packard moving their headquarters out of California. Add to that the 1000s of small businesses that have permanently closed. When will you give our California business people a break? They need and deserve it.

1590.2

I have had a life long love affair with the ocean and want to pass that along with my family. Please do not pass this legislation for the good of all of us families who have a passion for the sea.

Subject: CHC2021 Save Our Boats

Comment:

Please find a better way to manage emissions from the San Diego fishing fleet. I am all for reducing emissions, but we need to grandfather the existing fleet into the legislation. Require tighter emissions for new boats. Otherwise you will kill the industry.

Comment:

This will destroy the sport fishing and whale watching industry!
Some boats will move to Mexico moving tourism dollars there. Boats that don't will be scarpd or sunk at sea causing more environmental damage. I suggest making the rule to require new boats meet the standard.

The steep increase in the price to go offshore fishing would put me and my grandson out of the game along with many others. The economic impact to the areas around sportfishing landings would also suffer. We all want clean air. Call on our great universities and technology institutions to come up with a solution that would be less costly. I don't have a solution other than to let the technology catch up with your demands. Please don't put California sport fisherman landing owners and boat owners out to pasture. I would like. love to take my grandson fishing but would not be able to if a steep increase in price would happen. I know this would be the case for others as well.

Subject: New Sport Boat Regulations

Comment:

I began fishing [and working] the sportfishers in the late 70's and a trip leaving early morning to the Coronados and returning at night would run you $35 and perhaps another $35-40 in filets, food, and tips. With inflation and the many [and often extreme] regulations--and the multiple agencies a boat has to work with to even go on a trip, a one day trip is often $200+. Not to mention food, tips, filets, and often a fuel surcharge--and US and Mexican license. That puts most recreational fishermen--like me--out of offshore fishing. PERIOD. Already. I left the State this year because of the ridiculous over-regulation. If I came to visit, the only way I could fish would ve to look up old friends--and pay for a passport. Please don't starve most of the Captains and workers out of business by yets more regulation----Ones that they either cannot meet or will force them into retirement. And will make offshore fishing in California a rich man's sport.

Please reconsider these draconian measures that will kill sport fishing and the livelihoods of many working Americans and don't pass this bill. Further this will result for less funding from fishing license fees and taxes for conservation measures. DON'T PASS THIS MEASURE!!!

Can't you go after the big polluters rather than small business types like the fishermen? Standard Oil, and the refinery's in east Contra Costa are good targets. When you go after the fisherman you act like bullies. Are you afraid of the big polluters in the Bay Area?

Think over your roll!

Comment:

You have to stop eliminating the options that are currently available to the public for fishing. Many of the boats are so expensive that any more regulations and there will be no viable options for the average US person to fish, while the rest of the world continues to enjoy what we should all be able to do.

Comment:

Your proposed regulations alarm me! Do you have any knowledge or association with the sport of fishing? Can you believe you're attempting to abolish sport fishing? I have a better idea! Go after the NFL! Yeah, get the NFL in a tizzy but for a real issue -- unlike your alleged issues with sport fishing. The players in the NFL suffer great bodily injury & brain damage from concussions leading to abuse & psychological suffering. Too painful for a family to endure.

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Please reconsider dropping your proposed regulations.

Sincerely,
Suzy Byers

I 've been ocean fishing since my dad took me when I was a kid 50 years ago. If you take this away it would be a travesty for many many people, Not just the anglers but the boat owners. Most boat owners can't afford these emission changes and if they can afford it they'll have to raise the prices and the average angler will no longer afford to enjoy the awesome ocean we have. This will destroy the fishing industry and many people will lose there job! I'm all in for saving the plant and our oceans, but this has to be a slow process so it doesn't hurt many business's, employees and anglers who have a passion for this sport. I ask you please! do not take this away.

Thank you Mike Duggan

Via online submission portal: <https://www.arb.ca.gov/lispub/comm/bclist.php>

Dear California Air Resources Board:

On behalf of the City Council of the City of Emeryville, I submit the following comments on the Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation, which is currently set for public hearing on November 19, 2021.

The City of Emeryville was the first city in the Bay Area to align all its greenhouse gas (ghg) emissions targets with the State of California, and through our various mitigation and adaptation goals, has already updated our Climate Action Plan as we are ahead of pace for reaching the state's goal for deep decarbonization. We share CARB's vision of reducing NOx and PM emissions to relieve pollution overburdened and disadvantaged communities of harmful toxics.

While we support the goals and vision of the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation, as a small city with a marina, we have concerns about how implementation of these amendments would potentially decimate part of our local economy, harm working families, and undermine environmental justice and equity programs that are accessible to youth from the same disadvantaged communities the proposed amendments aim to protect.

- (1) Under the proposed regulations, the amended regulations would take effect on January 1, 2023. The documentation CARB provided our city states that "22 models [of Tier 4 engines] are certified." However, the California Maritime Academy has reported that these engines are not approved for passenger fishing vessels at this time. They report that engine manufacturers are still working with the U.S. Coast Guard to ensure safety and seaworthiness of Tier 4 engines in passenger vessels. We are concerned that the timeline proposed by CARB is not realistic and could result in mariners retrofitting boats with equipment that is not yet approved as safe for passenger use.
- (2) The cost estimations utilized are not adequately sourced. Passenger fishing and other commercial vessels are made of a diverse variety of materials, including wood and fiberglass, among others. These vessels vary greatly in size, weight and passenger capacity, and their dimensions may or may not accommodate the required retrofit technology. The associated costs are likely to vary widely. Additionally, the estimated costs to replace vessels if retrofit is impossible also lack adequate references and sources for explaining the estimated calculation. No information is provided on local markets for new vessel construction. Most new commercial passenger vessel construction occurs outside of California, further inflating costs on these businesses. Because many of the impacted businesses are small, family-owned businesses – many of which were decimated during the pandemic due to state and county health orders prohibiting their operation as a "non-essential activity" = the ability to finance vessel replacement in compliance with these draft regulations is significantly over-estimated and appears to be largely unaccounted for in the development of this rule.

- (3) In Emeryville, some of our commercial passenger vessels service nonprofits that provide ecological access and experiences for a variety of vulnerable populations, including children from nearby disadvantaged communities and other neighboring communities, children with PTSD and others with disabilities. CARB should be extremely careful about how implementing emissions reduction could negatively impact the positive contributions that members of the commercial passenger harbor craft industry make to sustaining diversity, inclusion and natural resource access for our communities.

As one of the Bay Area's stewards for access to the San Francisco Bay, Emeryville has been a leader in promoting environmental stewardship. We want cleaner air and believe that the goals set by this rule are appropriate and achievable. We have concerns about the proposed implementation timeline for this rule, the cost assumption made in this rule related to retrofit and replacement, and we think there has been inadequate attention paid to the potential impacts to the social and health benefits provided by partners and stakeholders impacted by these proposed amendments. We believe that CARB should give much greater study to this issue. Many of the issues could be addressed by including these vessels by simply including them in the timeline provided for commercial fishing fleets, which they were previously aligned under. Accelerating retrofits on this subset of vessels is likely to harm an important maritime industry under the proposed timeline. If CARB continues with this distinction, we believe CARB should leverage additional state funding to make grants available to small businesses to help them comply with these provisions if we are truly serious about reaching our climate goals without harming local economies. We ask that CARB reevaluate the proposed amendments with these considerations in mind and circulate a revised set of amendments that better balance all stakeholder interests.

1603.4

Dianne Martinez

To whom it may concern,

As a native Californian and someone who enjoys the Access to the great Pacific Ocean, I am writing to discourage the major draconian changes that CARB Is trying to implement on the whale watching and sport fishing industry of California. It is through the whale watching in sport fishing industries that many individuals learn to respect the wildlife of the ocean. By implementing heavy-handed policies on these industries many individuals who would otherwise not have access to such activities will no longer be able to afford nor have access to the worlds oceans. I kindly request that Actions that would destroy these industries, especially at a time like this, not be an acted.

Thanks for your consideration,
Roger
Native Californian and ocean enthusiast

Subject: Keep wooden and fiber glass boats on the ocean

Comment:

I am asking to keep the existing boats to stay on the ocean. It would be a monumental financial burden to have boat owners to replace or upgrade their current situation.

If the vast majority of people are not able to upgrade their boats, recreation on the ocean will just go away.

Thank you for your consideration.

Brendan

Comment:

Requiring commercial small passenger vessels to install Tier 4 engines is not economically, technologically or financially feasible. 1609.1

Our industry strongly supports clean air initiatives but this proposal will force many small passenger vessel owners to go out of business. As a result many low to middle income California families will lose their access to the Pacific ocean's resources-food, healthy outdoor recreation and student marine environmental education opportunities. 1609.2

The small passenger vessel industry does support going to TIER 3 engines (with appropriate grant funding made available) to significantly reduce diesel particulate emissions. 1609.3

We ask you to please adopt this reasonable and viable compromise which serves all parties well. Thank you for your consideration. 1609.4

Subject: CHC2021 Save Our Boats

Comment:

Dear California Air Resources Board Members:

I am writing as a private citizen and outdoors person. I am concerned about the proposed passenger boat regulations requiring new engines and technology that are not feasible from a safety, financial, or operational standpoint. By the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) own admission, the proposed regulations will likely remove passenger boats made of wood and fiberglass from service. This would apply to over 80% of all boats! If boat owners can't afford to spend millions of dollars for new metal boats --- or you can't or won't pay twice as much for boat tickets to pay for the new boats, boat owners will be forced out of business.

1612.1

As a long time recreational fisherman, this will drastically impact my ability to enjoy the ocean and participate in my favorite pastime. Some of my best times have been with family and friends out on the water and I do not want to lose those opportunities - for myself and future Californians. If these regulations are adopted, and boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

1612.3

I appreciate the hard work the Newsom Administration and CARB have done for our state, however the negative aspects of the proposed regulations far outweigh the good they may generate. I ask that CARB pull the proposed regulations and work with the sport fishing community to find a solution that protects their livelihood, our access to the ocean, and also helps reduce air pollution.

Sincerely,
Michael Mark Brady

Pasadena, CA 91107

Re: Request for 90-Day Extension for Comments to Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Dear Mr. Quiros:

I am writing to request a 90-day extension of the November 15, 2021, public comment deadline for the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation. We also request a 90-day extension of the CARB public hearing currently scheduled for November 19, 2021.

CARB has provided only 45 days for stakeholders to review and develop comments on the rulemaking package, which contains over 1,500 pages of material. R.E. Staite Engineering, Inc. is a small, family owned business. We do not have our own in-house attorneys and experts that review material for us and provide guidance, we do it ourselves. As you can imagine, with a company with less than 50 employees there are many hats that get worn by a few people. To make sure that we understand the full impact to our business, we have a team of employees that are reviewing the proposed amendment and proposal materials from their area of expertise, which pulls them away from other projects and priorities, at an ultimate cost to the company.

R.E. Staite has been very generous with CARB staff over the past year to provide data and business information about our company. This data has been incorporated into the proposed documents. While we are experts in our field, we are not air quality analysts, and making sure that our information is represented accurately is very important to us and to other stakeholders. We need time to review and process the information in order to provide CARB with honest and accurate feedback.

We are concerned about the outreach efforts by CARB to inform stakeholders of the proposed changes. We have been following the proposed regulations since their publication in March 2020, but not because we were notified (at the time we were not on the CARB Listserve). We ran across the information when we were looking at the CARB website for possible grant opportunities. The marine construction industry is a fairly small niche. We have reached out in the last few months to let our colleagues know of the proposed changes. There are several large companies that are aware of the proposed changes, but we found that many others have been unaware, especially the smaller organizations and ancillary industries that support the marine construction industry, such as hydrographic surveyors, divers and environmental monitors. These companies may only have one or two vessels that qualify as Commercial Harbor Craft that they use for construction support activities, but they will be greatly impacted. R.E. Staite has been processing this information for over a year, imagine how overwhelming this task would be if you only had 45 days to figure it all out?

R.E. Staite Engineering, Inc. has been in business since 1938. The proposed amendments will have a profound impact on our business, and may ultimately put us out of business, should this move forward. Allowing R.E. Staite Engineering, Inc. and other heavily impacted stakeholders to submit public comments and testimony with greater clarity and comprehensiveness will provide CARB with the additional information needed to develop a regulation that improves air quality for the citizens of California in a meaningful and reasonable manner.

Sincerely yours,

R.E. STAITE ENGINEERING, INC.

California Air Resources Board - chc2021

The attached 20,659 individuals support rules that are fair, equitable and can be feasibly implemented to ensure access for all Californians to our marine environment is maintained. The Commercial Harbor Craft Rule as it pertains to the 174 inspected Commercial Passenger Sportfishing Vessels (CPFV) fails on all accounts and is requested to be amended to return CPFV to the same compliance pathway as Commercial Fishing Vessels (CFV).

CARB states in the SRIA that all but one CPFV that supports sportfishing and marine life education (whale watching) tours would need to be replaced with new steel hulled vessels to meet the mandate.

CARB further has received documentation from marine engine manufacturers in September of 2020 that the engines do not exist for commercial fishing and CPFV, and they do not intend to manufacture them for California.

The California Maritime Academy informed CARB that the technology does not exist for CFV or CPFV and if it did it would create vessel stability and heat issues creating life health and safety concerns for passengers and crews.

Even given the same information on vessel and passenger safety, CARB has arbitrarily chosen to separate out CPFV from CFV for a separate, infeasible, and economically damaging compliance path that will increase global GHG emissions.

By proposing a rule where existing vessels can't be retrofitted those vessels become effectively worthless. Thus, CARB creates an economic hardship on existing vessel owners who will be unable to sell the existing vessel to retire loans or to raise capital for a new vessel.

Further, CARB provides no opportunity to mitigate the cost of acquiring new vessels, thus ensuring that the cost of constructing and financing a new vessel and the loss of value in the old vessel will need to be fully recovered in ticket prices or owners will go out of business.

1615.3

The necessary increase in ticket prices will adversely impact those of lower economic means to access the ocean for recreation, harvesting food or educational adventures.

1615.4

Because recreational pursuits are elastic and compete with all other opportunities, increased ticket prices will reduce participation rates impacting coastal communities, California tourism, and conservation funding as families choose other pursuits and anglers choose other states or countries.

1615.5

The closure of businesses will have a significant impact on coastal communities where sportfishing and whale watching help to drive tourism or simply provide an affordable opportunity for a family to access the ocean. In addition, sportfishing vessels work with local Title 1 schools, non-profits, veteran groups, and others to provide marine education and access to those that may live near the coast but otherwise would never be able to afford to be on the gorgeous Pacific waters of our coast. Even for those that can afford to construct a compliant vessel, the increase in ticket costs will be significant and jeopardize affordable access and decrease the reach of school and non-profit programs.

Sincerely,

Comment:

Making sport fishing boats comply to new regulations is all good and fine. However, there must be a means for them to comply. As of now, the tighter motor emission regulations can not be performed because there aren't any marine motors available on the market that they can purchase in order to comply.

1616.1

In addition to this, you are forcing a group of people to comply to emission regulations who represent less than a fraction of 1% of the emissions produced in the entire state of California. Shouldn't you focus your attention and regulations on the gross polluters in our state? Specifically the fossil fuel industry. If you want to solve the pollution problem, you go after the source, not the end-users.

Comment:

As a California resident and voter, I very strongly urge your board to NOT institute the emission measures proposed in chc2021. These proposed amendments will destroy the sport fishing industry. Small businesses struggling during this COVID restricted time need no more regulations dropped in them and this measure will surely put more people out of business. As a sport fisherman who lives on the coast of California, destruction of the sportfishing industry will leave a huge hole in my life. I very strongly urge the board to NOT adapt these amendments. Thank you for your consideration.

Please, please! abandon the boat engine emission regulations initiative being contemplated! Other than the fact that it will create a huge environmental disaster by dumping non compliant boat and ship engines, at a minimum, it will also cause to cease many small operators who won't be able to afford to stay in business.

There is simply no common sense visible on this initiative CHC2021!

Comment:

I am one among many fishermen and CA resident that disapproves of these measures.

I, like everyone else, am all for environmental regulations that save our oceans. I am pleased that our bluefin tuna populations survived the mass slaughter of the 50s, and that I am alive to experience their return this last year. I volunteered as an angler for the CCFRP research in the California Marine Protected areas, and witnessed the impact of humans on the environment, and the benefits of MPAs.

This does not mean, however, that we should start flinging regulations left and right that are not economically feasible. These passenger boat regulations have the potential to cause insurmountable economic disaster by killing the CA sport fishing industry for good. 80% of sportfishing boats are based on fiberglass and wood, and cannot be expected to be replaced in such a small time frame, especially given material shortages and price increases. The price of these boats go up to $1 million, and, due to supply shortages, inflation, and mass employee walk-offs, replacing entire boats is not at all affordable by any just means.

We already saw a large push to oust Newsom from office and replace him with a republican executive. If mistakes such as these continue to be made, and damage the fabric of the CA economy, we will likely see political repercussions like this, due to immense dissatisfaction with the management of the Golden state.

1622.2

I urge all board members to reconsider before pushing these regulations. Please consult with any specialists before pursuing these solutions, as any capable macroeconomists would scoff at the idea of such an ill considered proposal being passed.

- A concerned citizen

I'm writing to protest the proposed ban on Diesel engines on California Sportfishing boats. This regulations are unsure and would only succeed in destroying an industry, jobs, recreation. The economic ripple effect would effect hotels, restaurants, fishing tackle manufacturing and sales just to name a few effected business. While California wants to destroy jobs and recreation with it's INSANE regulations , China, India continues to build coal plants non-stop!!! Air pollution knows NO Borders! Your regulations won't effect air pollution. , so-called global warming a fraction of 1%. It will only hurt Californians and tourists who visit California to salt water fish and whale watch.

Comment:

Please don't consider adopting draconian engine emission regulation that would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi- million dollars to be purchased, forcing ticket prices to be raised 2-3 times existing prices. This could be the end for California Sportfishing and whale watching boat owners but it would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it. Even at the current pandemic prices raised by the Sportfishing Boats are already too much of a jump from pre-pandemic prices.

These proposed regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life.

As boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Greetings, I am writing in response to proposed regulations for boat emissions. I am not in support of these proposed measures. While some regulations may be necessary, what is currently being proposed is far to extreme. These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish. The costs associated with modifying vessels into compliance will be too great to overcome and so too will be the impact on the economy in coastal regions.

thank you,

William McIntire

Dear Sir/ Madam, please do not vote for eliminating gas engines and changing over to electric on boats, it's way to costly and will put many people out of business and cost the private boat owner way to much money. Thanks for your help.

As an avid sport fisherman, I strongly oppose requiring the CA sport fishing fleet to scrap their boats and purchase costly replacements. The impact of the emissions of the existing sport fishing fleet on the global climate can not even be measured. The cost of replacement boats and the cost of recreational sportfishing will become burdensome and oppressive. I urge opposition to this ill conceived idea.

Comment:

CARB needs to refocus its power not on a VERY SMALL part of the potential polluters, but on polluters that actually make a difference. There was a bill before California legislature that would have allowed the clean up of dead trees, branches and leaves around the base of power lines. For the first time in California history, it was passed UNANIMOUSLY by both houses, the the governor vetoed it. Easily predictably, California had the worst fires in its history. WHOLE TOWNS were burned to the ground.

How about instead of being the laughing stock of the nation because of the stupid, non-sensical actions California carries out, try to become the leading edge again. The time spent on this bill could be much better spent elsewhere. The fishing boats are out on the open ocean, or did you not know that? How about at least trying to solve the homeless problem, how about actually doing common sense legislation to help stem the spread of COVID.

I know it is a big ask, but at least try. What used to be the most desired state to live in is now the laughing stock...

WAKE UP.

The proposal that you are trying to push for boats is entirely an act of dictatorial policy brought on from people who have no concern for the wellbeing of the others not like-minded! Many boats are owned by fishermen to give mental health from stress, but for food on their table. Tourism for fishing would not even exist! Millions of dollars, which bring taxes, will go away! That is only a couple of negative issues this raises!

I, along with my brother and a friend go fishing in California's coastal waters at least twice yearly, with each of us spending about $1,000 each per trip. I am sure that we are not the only out state or even out of town visitors who do this . Can the state really afford to make the cost of such fishing trips so expensive that it is unreasonable ? I think not.

Fishing from a charter service provides food for us, our fees for licensing helps conservation efforts on land and ocean. If you take away our fishing you take away our chances to get food from a sustainable habitat and take money away from the state by less money from customers licensing. Thank you.

Please reconsider this legislation as it puts undue stress on an already struggling industry. The financial burden of replacing equipment is huge. California already has the strictest regulations for emissions and the everyday person is not responsible for the amount of carbon that has caused climate change.

Save Sportfishing Boats!

As boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

All anglers are concerned about the environment but do not punish us by making us implement a new system that has not been fully developed. The cost of offshore fishing has skyrocketed over the last ten years and it's becoming less and less affordable. Fishing is the most inclusive sport of any sport. Every race, creed, gender, age group and socio-economic group participates in the sport with a passion. We should be making this sport MORE accessible not less so. Save this 14 Billion Dollar industry and promote equity, equality and inclusion by allowing more, not less, folks to fish.

California Air Resources Board

RE: Proposed CARB Engine Emission Regulations; Sportfishing/Whale Watching Vessels

Dear Madam Chair,

The following state business organizations and chambers of commerce representing coastal communities from San Diego to the Oregon border are devoted to expanding outdoor recreation and economic development within the hospitality and tourism industry.

We are gravely concerned about the engine emission regulations proposed by the Administration that will decimate recreational fishing's $5.6 billion annual contribution to our State's economy and undermine the Administration's efforts to restore half of the 1.2 million hospitality and tourism related jobs lost during the COVID-19 pandemic. 1643.1
1643.2

As you well know, sportfishing and whale watching boats provide coastal communities a valued source of outdoor recreation and tourism dollars. Their boat owners are in the business of introducing millions of Americans a year to the splendor of the open sea and its wildlife. However, before these boat owners can recover from financial losses associated with the pandemic, the California Air Resources Board (CARB) has proposed costly engine emission regulations that require technology that has not been developed or tested safe on passenger harbor crafts. Similar technology used on trucks and farm equipment has been known to stall engines for hours at a time to clean emission control systems, and in worst case scenarios, catch fire. On land, a stalled engine or fire is a serious economic disruption; at sea, it is life threatening to both passengers and crew. 1643.3

CARB readily admits the proposed regulations are not compatible with some vessels, specifically stating that "vessel replacement will be likely, especially the categories with wood or fiberglass vessels." When more than 80 percent of vessels are constructed with these materials, industry leaders have reasonably concluded that many, if not most, boat owners will go out of business within 6 years from the adoption of the proposed regulations due to the cost of vessel replacement. 1643.4

Moreover, CARB's expectation that these small business owners can easily finance new steel vessels is unrealistic. Even during the best of economic times, no business can lose its most valuable asset long before the end of its useful life and have to completely replace that asset within six years, especially if their existing vessels, many of which are still being financed via loans, are deemed illegal and have no resale value in California.

We share your desire to reduce engine emissions, as do the boat owners that have been repowering and upgrading their engines for years. The Administration should consider amending the draft regulations to incentivize passenger sportfishing and whale watching boat owners to continue to upgrade their vessels to lower emission engines, using available technology that is feasible and does not create safety concerns. This is the reasonable approach CARB applied to commercial fishing vessels, vessels with engines that are technically identical to the sportfishing boats. 1643.5

The Governor has repeatedly underscored the importance of recreational fishing. It is a great form of outdoor recreation that is experiencing newfound growth among nontraditional participants that are younger, more urban, and more diverse with significant gains among women, African Americans, and Hispanics.

Rebuilding the State's post-pandemic economy is dependent on continuing this growth and not undermining it by denying millions of Californians access to offshore fishing and marine life by putting sportfishing companies out of business or making excursions unaffordable for disadvantaged communities and the vast majority of Californians.

Thank you for your consideration.

I live in the San Francisco Bay Area and introduced my grandson to riding sport fishing boats 2 years ago. I have consistently gone on many sport fishing boat, both out of San Francisco Bay and Half Moon Bay. I know that many of these boats were built in the 1950's and are still well maintained and continue to offer sport fishing to fisherman such as myself at a reasonable rate. Many of these boats have been handed down and have been running multiple decades by the same found family. I would love to carry on this tradition with my family patronizing these boats but if they need to be replaced they will price us out of this family sport fishing tradition and will kill this industry completely. I'm all for better emissions but not at the expense of family businesses.

Subject: CHC2021

Dear California Air Resources Board Members,
Prior to the COVID-19 pandemic, recreational fishing contributed $5.6 billion annually in economic activity, supporting nearly 40,000 California jobs. Sportfishing and whale watching businesses are also a major contributor to Oceanside's economy, drawing tourists from all over the world, supporting local jobs and generating tax revenue for public services.

The sportfishing industry embraces the need to reduce engine emissions, securing air quality grants over the years to upgrade vessels with cleaner burning engines. However, the Oceanside Chamber of Commerce believes harborcraft engine regulations recently proposed by the California Air Resources Board (CARB) place an undue burden on family-owned boating operations.

The California State Maritime Academy concluded in a report commissioned by CARB that the proposed emission standards cannot be achieved because Tier Four engines do not exist for use on harborcraft vessels. Furthermore, the size and weight of the proposed diesel particulate filters (DPFs) would make sportfishing vessels unstable, posing significant safety concerns for passengers and crew. Operational issues with the DPFs could result in unexpected equipment failure when the boats are out at sea with passengers. Rather than trying to find a reasonable alternative afforded to other vessel categories, CARB responded by stating that boat operators should purchase new vessels when it is not possible to reconstruct boat hulls to accommodate the new engines and DPFs.

As a result, in just 18 short months from when the regulations are scheduled to be implemented later this year, the vast majority of sportfishing and whale watching vessels will have to be taken out of service as vessels made of wood and fiberglass cannot be modified as steel hulls can. Vessels that can be modified will incur a significant cost for retrofit and will be faced with the potential safety issues noted above.

Unfortunately, for many boat owners, the option of financing new boats is not possible when existing boats will have little to no resale value once deemed noncompliant in California. To further impact boat owner's ability to do business, passenger loads will have to be reduced by over 40 percent to account for the engine modifications that are greater in size and weight.

Consequently, the proposed regulations force boat owners into an unattainable position. They can't afford to purchase new vessels and reconstructed vessels are too expensive to operate with reduced passenger loads, resulting in fewer ticket sales and lower revenue. As a result, the industry strongly believes that the State will run many boat owners out of business within 3-6 years after the new regulations are implemented.

Boat owners also have serious reservations about a host of unresolved safety concerns that extend beyond the stability of reconstructed boat hulls. Engines equipped with DPFs have not been thoroughly tested at sea. It is common for DPFs used on farm equipment and trucks to experience blockage, creating significant heat and severe back pressure on engines, sometimes taking hours to clear exhaust systems and restart engines. While this circumstance is manageable on land, under the best-case scenario, passengers could be adrift at sea for hours as boat crews try to recover the system. The more likely scenario will result in sea rescues due to engine failure. In a surprising omission, CARB has not solicited the input of the United States Coast Guard which regulates the safety of commercial passenger vessels.

As a community, we share the State's desire to reduce engine emissions, however, the regulations as drafted will adversely affect sportfishing and whale watching businesses, and communities economically dependent on a strong and vibrant hospitality and tourism industry. This is why we believe the proposed regulations will undermine your economic plan that aims to rebuild California's economy and recover 1.2 million tourism and hospitality jobs lost during the COVID-19 pandemic.

1647.3

For the aforementioned reasons, we encourage your Administration to work with the sportfishing industry to develop air quality regulations that are economically feasible, take into account existing technology and not putting the safety of passengers and crew at risk.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Scott Ashton, CEO
Oceanside Chamber of Commerce

I have fished on commercial charters all my life and spent many hours whale watching and it would be a shame to take this away from so many other people.

Hi!

I'm a resident of Long Beach, recreational sailor and lover of the Pacific Ocean! Living in a portside community and we bear the brunt of toxic emissions from ships on a daily basis. Diesel harbor craft are one of the top three cancer risks in my community as a result of their particulate matter emissions. Fortunately, just like for cars and trucks, the technology now exists to transition ships off of fossil fuel propulsion and phase in 100% zero-emission ships for nearly all vessels in the harbor. As written, however, CARB's draft harbor craft rule misses the opportunity to fully embrace this technology transition. While California claims to be a leader on climate action, we continue to concentrate impacts in low-income communities and communities of color.

We need to strengthen the rule to eliminate fossil fuel pollution and advance zero-emissions technologies.

This is critical for protecting the health of our communities and the ocean we all love so much!

Thank you!

For too long harbor craft technology has been hurting communities by emitting harsh pollutant from gas and diesel technology. CA is the largest economy in the country and can do better to help our pollution. A strong zero emissions harbor craft rule can save lives. Please pass the rule.

Hello Chair Randolph and Members of the Board:

When I was 25, m mother died of breast cancer. Now, I live in a state where pollution from the harbor causes cancer and this terrifies me. California has the opportunity to protect community members and make a bold stand for the environment.

I urge the Board to require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which the rule as it is written now exclude.

This issue is important for the health of the ocean, the health of the planet, and the health of Californians.

Sincerely,

Sari Fordham

Comment:

These regulations are not only a direct threat to family businesses and outdoor tourism, but future access to offshore fishing and marine life! Mark our words, as boats are removed from the water, fishing participation rates will decline and so will fishing license sales that fund critical offshore and inland conservation and fishery programs - programs that are essential to environmental sustainability and access to plentiful fish.

Subject: zero emissions now!

Comment:

Ships are one of the worst polluters, set to surpass trucks in just over a year. Their emissions threaten our ability to limit greenhouse gas emissions, which have clearly already led to much more rapid and extreme change than most people imagined was possible. Equally importantly, both ship and truck emissions have plagued harbor-adjacent communities for decades, leading to higher cancer rates and many other ills - a major environmental injustice issue. CARB now has the opportunity to require that all harbor boats go electric rather than just allowing them to upgrade to new diesel engines. The technology is available to transition to electric boats now. The environmental justice choice is clear, and California is already losing so much to climate change that we must take every opportunity to stem emissions. Please act now to require 100% electric harbor vessels.

Re

Comment:

Response to the proposed new CARB boat regulations

These new proposals are not reasonable and will do little to have the desired effect on environment. They are not proven safe for watercraft and some do not even exist. They will unfairly put many owners out of business and kill recreation for the general population not just fishermen. Whale watching has become big and also has educational value, much more than going to the zoo.

There are less than 100 sportfishing boats on the coast of California serving not just sportfishing but many other interests. There new regulations will put most out of business and raising prices is not going to offset the cost; it will only make it harder for the general public to participate. The public is already losing economic security due to other measures and even the boats are becoming more expensive to operate as it is.

1656.2

The pollution caused by this small fleet is nothing compared to the cars on the freeways. Here is a place where some real progress could be made. Incentives for ride sharing, better public transportation, more cooperation between businesses to get employees to ride share. I would have loved to use public transportation but it would have taken me 4 hours a day to do a 17-mile trip to work and back. That is half a work day and makes for 2 1/2 day extra work week without pay! 2 hours to go 17 miles is terrible so I drove by myself like most others on the freeways. Think if even 1/3 of the cars were off the roads during the week. That would be effective as even cars burn cleaner when not in congestion and the benefits would not even end there.

1656.3

Please think of something more constructive for the entire population not just punish a few that serve many. This is not helping anyone of anything.

Thomas Jordan

Comment:

MY name is Mandeera Wijetunga and I am a climate campaigner at the Pacific Environment. I wanted to submit this public comment supporting the proposed commercial harbor craft rule and urge the California air resource board to adopt a stronger rule.

Diesel harbor craft are one of the top three cancer risks in my community as a result of their particulate matter emissions. While California claims to be a leader on climate action, we continue to concentrate impacts in low-income communities and communities of color.

We need to strengthen the rule to eliminate fossil fuel pollution and advance zero-emissions technologies.

I urge the Board to require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule

CHC 2021

My name is Frank Rescino I am a third-generation fisherman whose family has been in business since 1908 my son is a fourth generation fisherman and he has a son that is fifth generation who loves fishing

I am asking you to not pass bill CHC 2021 it will put my family and the family have many small businesses like mine out of business I ask you to wait for the technology for the engine that would fit in the existing boats I am very much into a clean environment and want to clean air for the future and believe the tech will catch up

I have a problem with your comparison that are both spurred as much is 162 school buses I feel it is very misleading you based it on a bus that is 400 hp running at 20 miles an hour against an 800 hp tier two engine running at 100%

I do not know of many or any sport boats in the bay area that have 800 hp engines the average is around 400 and while fishing we run at 10% power most of the day and cruise at 50% power the rest of the time which is about three hours this cuts are exhaust mission to about 10 buses and I have a tier 3 and she would bring it down even more there are less than 200 boats and there are thousands of school buses These new engines have to run at full power Bernhardt and have not been proven safe by the Coast Guard to operate in our boat yet yet

I ask why can't we be put in the same category as the commercial boats since we are a commercial passenger fishing vessel and buy a commercial fishing stamp if this bill goes into affect I will have to buy a new boat and it will double the cost to the public to go fishing or use any marine resource

1658.3

I want to know what makes you think it will only raise the price 15% well it would be more like 100 to 150% if I have to buy a new boat when I have a boat that's paid for already these new boats will cost millions of dollars I don't know how I will be able to pay for it I've done this all my life I know how much it cost to stay in business over the years I have taking many children veterans and various other programs out fishing this will not be affordable to them or many if I have to buy a multi million dollar boat

1658.4

So I will ask once again please do not pass this bill for the future of my family all the families and all the future families in the fishy business
Thank you

Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Comment:

Ships are one of the worst air polluters in California, and harbor boats are one of the top three cancer risks for Californians living near the ports of Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Oakland. California must stop investing in diesel operated harbor boats and instead invest in clean technologies and jobs.

The technology exists to transition commercial harbor craft to 100% clean fleets today. Already, there are over 300 operating zero-emission ships powered by batteries worldwide, with another 194 on order.

1659.1

Given the climate emergency that we are facing, we need bold climate leadership. Im asking you to strengthen the Commercial Harbor Craft rule:

1. Require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule

2. Add language to allow the Board to revisit the rule as the zero-emissions boat market evolves to ensure the regulation achieves maximum emission reductions

1659.2

3. Increase funding for zero-emissions boat pilots and retrofits to spur innovation

1659.3

This is a critical time to protect the health of port-side communities, Californian families, and our environment.

Thank you for your attention to this important issue.

I must strongly object to the proposed regulations. I am looking at "Groupon" right now and a child between ages 3-12 can go on a 2 hour whale watching or dolphin cruise for less than $10. If these regulations were to go into effect and the price would increase by a factor of 3 or 4, this would adversely effect communities of color and would not be inclusive. Please don't enact these regulations.

Thank you for allowing me to comment publicly on this matter.

My name is Frank Perez. I have been fishing Southern California ocean waters for the past 50 years. I am a Vietnam veteran and this is my only form of enjoyment. If prices go up for sportsfishing boats at various landings I will no longer be able to enjoy my favorite thing in life. I have PTSD from the Vietnam war. If boats that I go out on are to be retrofitted, the landings will have to raise prices. I can barely afford the the costs now. PLEASE do not pass this law!

Dear staff,
Retiring so many older boats all at once will put a strain on an industry and the recreation so many people enjoy.
Many of these older boats cannot be refitted but as with all other things have a life that will come to a natural end.
New boats can meet carb requirements.
And old boats will be retired in time.
I think this is the most sustainable way to move forward into the future

Mr. David C. Quiros
Manager, Freight Technology Section

California Air Resources Board
1001 "I" Street
Sacramento, CA 95814

Re: Request for 90-Day Extension for Comments to Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Dear Mr. Quiros:

I am writing to request a 90-day extension of the November 15, 2021, public comment deadline for the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation. We also request a 90-day extension of the CARB public hearing currently scheduled for November 19, 2021.

CARB has provided only 45 days for stakeholders to review and develop comments on the rulemaking package, which contains over 1,500 pages of material. Assuming it takes an average person approximately three hours to read 100 pages, it would take about 45 hours of dedicated reading time to read the entire rulemaking package. Significant additional time would be required to process the contents of this dense rulemaking and to provide CARB with thoughtful comments.

Careful analysis and thoughtful comments are essential because the rulemaking package includes new material and is unprecedented in its scope and impact. It will affect over 3,000 vessels operating in California waters and cost California's harbor craft industry approximately $2 billion, according to CARB's estimate. Industry cost estimates are considerably higher. Additional time is needed because the rulemaking package is large and the scope of impact to California's harbor craft community is extraordinary.

This is not the first time that stakeholders have requested extensions or pauses to this regulatory process. Members of the California legislature, along with dozens of industry stakeholders, have requested extensions almost from the inception of the preliminary rulemaking process, which also happened to coincide with the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. CARB has not been responsive to these requests, providing insufficient extensions of 30 days for the comment period on the preliminary March 2020 draft amendments and a 7-day extension from November 8 to November 15, 2021, for the current rulemaking.

We are optimistic that careful deliberation and genuine dialogue between CARB and its regulated community may help to improve the rule, if there is sufficient time to do so. Therefore, Centerline Logistics hereby requests a 90-day extension to develop important feedback on this proposal that likely represents the most dramatic and costly regulation in the history of domestic commercial maritime operations in California. Allowing Centerline Logistics and other heavily impacted stakeholders to submit public comments and testimony with greater clarity and comprehensiveness will provide CARB with the additional information needed to develop a regulation that improves air quality for the citizens of California in a meaningful and reasonable manner.

Sincerely,

Subject: Regulate diesel harbor craft emissions

Comment:

I am writing to bring attention to the victims of this supply chain crisis close to home.

Diesel harbor crafts are one of the top three cancer risks in port communities in the County of Los Angeles where I live as a result of their particulate matter emissions.

While California claims to be a leader on climate action (California should get an ego check. We are not doing enough to back up or claim and offset the outsized offshored true negative impact. We are dangerously getting to close to complacency), we continue to concentrate negative impacts in low-income frontline and fenceline environmental justice communities often BIPOC who cannot afford to treat their symptoms, obtain air filters, move away to places with cleaner air; possess the resources, capital, knowledge, guidance in their native language and culture and therefore interest and sense of urgency to participate in public input. This essentially means they do not have adequate opportunities to participate in public input but rather delegating crucial life-and-death decisions to industries and politicians who do not have their best interests in mind.

We need to strengthen the rules to eliminate fossil fuel pollution and advance zero-emissions technologies that already exist.

I urge the Board to require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor crafts by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule.

Comment:

These regulations should be put in place for new boats, not for boats that are currently in use. Many boats got new engines a couple years ago that are emission friendly through the Fish and game department. It is not fair to put regulations in place that will force the clousure of many businesses.

Please don't over regulate the commercial fishing. Let them update their motors as they wear out, not throwing good equipment away.

Gentlemen,

California needs an appropriate balance among environmental, social, and economic priorities not the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) draconian engine emission regulation of Sportfishing boats that would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million-dollar new boats to be purchased, force doubling or tripling ticket prices, and make ocean access so costly that many current anglers won't be able to afford it. CARB's new policy is out of balance with social and economic priorities and is way out in left field when it comes to environmental priorities.

I did not attend an elite university and am not a Climate Change scientist, but I did earn a Bachelor of Science degree from a California State College, am a California veteran, and am looking forward to enjoying deep sea fishing at an affordable price in retirement.

CARB's policy is predicated on an entirely bogus climate change narrative that humans are emitting too much CO<sub>2</sub> into the atmosphere which will cause our planet to be too hot for life. HELLO!..... earth's climate has never stopped changing since it's genesis.

Patrick Moore's book "Fake Invisible Catastrophes and Threats of Doom" Copyright 2021; references O proxies in marine sediments and cores drilled all over the planet including Antarctica, and the Arctic and go back 100's of millions of years; as scientific proof there is no strong cause-effect relationship between CO<sub>2</sub> and temperature over the long term history of the earth. Patrick Moore is a former president of Greenpeace with a PhD in Ecology. What follows I excerpted or paraphrased from Patrick Moore's book.

The level of CO<sub>2</sub> in our atmosphere has been declining slowly and steadily for 150 million years, well before man began using fossil fuels. CO<sub>2</sub> went down from ~2000 to 2,500ppm (Parts per million) to 180ppm during the peak of the last recent glaciation, 20,000 years ago. 180ppm is the lowest it has been in at least 500 million years and is only 30ppm above the level where plants begin to die from CO<sub>2</sub> starvation. As our climate warmed out of the last glacial maximum during the 10,000 years it took to reach the warmer climate of the past 10,000 years, the warmer oceans gave off CO<sub>2</sub> emissions and eventually brought atmospheric CO<sub>2</sub> up to 280ppm around 1850. CO<sub>2</sub> from burning fossil fuels began to become largely responsible for increasing CO<sub>2</sub> to the present level of 415ppm. At 415ppm CO<sub>2</sub> is still much lower than it had been during the majority of the Cambrian period when multi celled life first evolved ~150 million years ago. CO<sub>2</sub> was at ~6000ppm at the time, ~15 times higher than today.

Life on earth is at the end of a 50 million year period of global cooling but that doesn't mean it's ending. Antarctic glaciation began ~33 million years ago as the southern hemisphere cooled millions of years earlier than the northern hemisphere. Then there were 8 million years of slight warming followed by a leveling off for a period of ~10 million years and then a 12 million year plunge into the Pleistocene Ice Age which the planet is in. Until the Antarctica glaciation, the earth had been ice free more than 200 million years. Antarctica began to freeze over when the average global temperature was 11 degrees Fahrenheit warmer than it is today.

To suggest that today's 415ppm CO<sub>2</sub> level is somehow dangerous when all animal life including our mammalian ancestors, lived through millions of years when CO<sub>2</sub> levels were at 2000 ppm and higher, is ridiculous. CO<sub>2</sub> levels in our atmosphere are still at one of the lowest levels it has ever sunk to during the past 510 million years.

Humanity's burning of fossil fuels has inadvertently caused the decline in CO<sub>2</sub> to come to an end and has the promise of bringing CO<sub>2</sub> back to historical levels that are more beneficial to nearly all plants and therefore all life. Just because we didn't intend CO<sub>2</sub> emissions to increase, doesn't mean we shouldn't recognize and embrace one of the most positive developments in the history of the earth, the replenishment of the most important substance for all life on earth, after millions of years of decline when the Pleistocene Ice Age set in. Most climate alarmists want us to believe the Pleistocene Ice Age has ended and the earth will now heat up catastrophically. Per Patrick Morre, there is no justification for this fiction. We are still in the Pleistocene Ice Age and there is absolutely no telling when it will end. The proof the Pleistocene Ice Age has not ended is that both the Arctic and Antarctic are covered in massive glaciers and sheets of frozen ocean. We are in one of many relatively short inter-glacials of the Pleistocene Ice Age yet we are living during record-low temperatures compared to earth's history. Life has flourished better during warmer periods than the comparatively colder periods like we are in today. The last time the earth was as cold as it has been during the Pleistocene Ice Age was near the end of the Karoo Ice Age ~ 260 million years ago. During the intervening period, with the exception of a minor cooling 145 million years ago, the earth has been in the Hothouse Ages, where there was no ice at the poles and the land at both poles was forested and warm. The Karoo Ice Age lasted ~100 million years from 360- 260 million years ago. There is no guarantee that the Pleistocene Ice Age will not last that long too. The future of Ice ages cannot be predicted: there's no historical pattern.

The most recent glacial maximum in the Pleistocene stretched across the entire North American continent to south of the present border between the US and Canada. This ice sheet was ~ the same size as the Antarctic ice sheet today. During this glaciation, which peaked ~ 20,000 years ago, present day Boston was under 4,100 feet of ice and Montreal was under 10,560 feet of ice. The change in global climate from then to the beginning of this interglacial called the Holocene, makes our present situation a total non-event. The sea level rose 395 feet until all the low-elevation, mid latitude glaciers were melted about 7000 years ago. Since then sea level has oscillated a few feet up and down following the relative minor temperature fluctuations during the past 7000 years of the Holocene Interglacial. The change from the glacial maximum to this interglacial is what real climate change looks like. What has occurred with the 2.2 F (Fahrenheit) rise in temperature since 1850 is simply part of the minor, and quite normal, ups and downs during the interglacial we are in now. There is no evidence the Pleistocene Ice Age has ended.

Striving for a perfect stable climate, 360 days a year, forever; is a fools errand. With the slight rise in CO<sub>2</sub> that has occurred, our planet is getting greener and there are 4 to 5 times more polar bears than 47 years ago, perhaps 31,000 or more.

Please stop CARB's job destroying bill that seeks unnecessary draconian regulation of Sport Fishing boat CO<sub>2</sub> emissions.

Regards,

Rey Yturralde

Good afternoon I am hoping you reconsider the emission mandate for the sportfishing fleet. these are hard working tax paying citizens that are already struggling. If this passes it will surly but most operations out of business. Sport boat emissions are a fraction of the problem. Fishing is a necessary recreation that provides millions in revenue for the state

Many families would be devastated if this passes .many of us have worked the charter boat industry our whole lifetime & passed this way of life down to the next generation . We can not afford to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars , or more to keep are way of life afloat.also most people can not afford to pay 4 or 5 hundred dollars to go fishing .seems to me this is just another way of getting the people off the water. Just in calif charterboats & related businesses generate billions of dollars. This would devastate all of these businesses. PLEASE think twice about this one & let us live.

Amendment for sportfishing craft.

To whom it may concern, this hobbie of mine, sportfishing, has saved me from all the drama in my personal life. This activity is great for all with every trip out of the harbor is always a different adventure. I was a troubled youth, and the adults that that industry taught me well. Not only to deal with groups of people, but keep our environment clean. I have seen captains change course just to pick up a Mylar balloon.

Please don't take this way from young people that are stuck in the inner city and others that need to clear one's head. A reality check when one realizes his small one is in that vast, beautiful ocean.

Vie con Dios

As owner of Hook's Sportfishing in Oxnard California, I have worked my entire life in the fishing industry, both commercial and sportfishing. I am 3rd generation fisherman and have raised and supported my family setting a goal to own and operate a Landing of my own. My dream finally came true and after 40+ years in the industry I was able to finally own a small modest sportfishing operation. Everything I have worked for is now in jeopardy. This would end up leaving us destitute, and possibly homeless as we would not be able to afford our house payments, our employees would be in the same predicament, as they have been doing this line of work as a career. This is their trade. Are you going to pay their bills and put them through school to learn a new trade? Find them employment? Even though we as a community have done what we can to reduce emissions with our boats. We just recently repowered our 3 boats engines to tier 3 as well.

1675.1

Will this new Bill you are trying to put into place, the regulations as drafted require technology that has not been developed or proven safe at sea, and consequently are economically and structurally impossible to comply with – requiring boats constructed of wood/fiberglass to be removed from service as soon as 2031. Timing could not be worse. With the COVID-19 pandemic came economic consequences and now I am expected to finance new boats and have them in operation no later than 2034. How is that possible? I am at an age that this would NEVER work! I can't afford a new metal boat, let alone 3. I doubt few financial institutions will approve a loan when my existing boats would have no resale value in California after being deemed non-compliant.

Not only would it affect us as a business, think of the local families, we have people that come out fishing to provide food for their family's dinner tables. It's less expensive than the grocery stores, plus they know what they are eating. Sustainable fishing, fish caught in the wild, not farmed, that is all regulated but the Department of Fish and Wildlife. Being on the open water also provides therapy, it's been proven.

1675.3

The economic impact alone would be devastating. We support local tourism, create jobs, and provide to charities for the local Veterans, first responders and gold star families.

1675.4

Historically, CARB has regulated commercial fishing/whale watching boats and commercial passenger boats the same way – their engines are technically identical. CARB’s proposed regulations apply a double standard with commercial fishing boats subject to substantially less stringent and less costly requirements. CARB should return passenger boats to the same vessel category as commercial fishing boats so that you can continue to transition to lower emission engines as it is economically feasible, and technology becomes available.

1675.5

Subject: Draconian Boat Engine Measures

Comment:

Giving sports fishing and whale watching boats only one year in which to alter the type of engine and the ensuing hull redesign contruction work is DRACONIAN!!! How cruel can you be????!!!

As stewards of the ocean, we care VERY much about the environment/air quality.

We have repowered our vessel 3 times to the newest available technology since ownership.

Common sense MUST prevail when implementing new policy and or regulations. The proposed mandates are far from common sense aside from the technology not existing.

Every car on the road is not taken out of service because the want is to only have electric vehicles on the road.....it is something that we work towards as the technology becomes available.

Eliminating and entire industry that contributes millions of dollars to the state and local economy is ludicrous and quite frankly irresponsible.

1679.2

These boats should be put back in the commercial vessel harbor craft category as they ARE commercial vessels.

A highly productive and valuable AMERICAN industry shouldn't have to beg to stay in business.

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Need a Much Stronger Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Comment:

Hello Chair Randolph and Members of the Board,
I live in Long Beach near the the ports and we bear the brunt of toxic emissions from ships on a daily basis.
Diesel harbor craft are one of the top three cancer risks in my community as a result of their particulate matter emissions.
Fortunately, just like for cars and trucks, the technology now exists to transition ships off of fossil fuel propulsion and phase in 100% zero-emission ships for nearly all vessels in the harbor.
As written, however, CARB's draft harbor craft rule misses the opportunity to fully embrace this technology transition.
While California claims to be a leader on climate action, we continue to concentrate impacts in low-income communities and communities of color.
We need to strengthen the rule to eliminate fossil fuel pollution and advance zero-emissions technologies.
Please protect the health of my family, community and myself.

To Whom it May Concern.

My name is Christian Conniff. I am a senior at Saint Augustine High School in San Diego, California. I am also an Eagle Scout with Troop 170. I am eighteen years old, and I have grown up in a fishing family since the day I was born. My parents purchased their sportfishing boat The Islander in 2003, the same year I was born. Taking out loans to buy a business, while learning how to raise a child is not a simple task, but my resilient parents have juggled this business, me, my younger sister, and countless other obstacles for nearly two decades. I have personally witnessed them put hours upon hours of work into their business, with the main goal of providing for their family. I can vividly remember waking up as a child to my mother, crunching numbers in the dead of night, and my father, returning home after weeks onboard, tired out of his mind. My parents are the two most hardworking people I have ever met, and my respect for them is infinite.

The logic behind this potential legislation is simply put, absurd. Since the start of Coronavirus, most everyone, including the government, has been urging citizens to 'support small businesses,' yet this inane proposal could be the bankrupting factor for hundreds of family-run businesses, including my parents'. Additionally, the misfocused attention you are placing on my parent's business makes me furious. The environmental concerns you are raising are valid, but oddly enough, the companies most responsible for pollution; the enormous, billion dollar corporations go ignored. I see huge cruise ships, untouched by this potential rule, in the harbor every day, and I ponder the reasoning behind how you selected which ships to regulate. Regardless of whether or not these companies are padding your pockets with lobbying funds, which I cannot speak on, I can confirm that a bureaucrat sitting in a desk chair, wearing a suit that our businesses' tax dollars paid for, has no place speaking on the validity of our practices.

Considering that the engines you want to force us to use have not even been created yet, and the fact that you think we can drop everything and start over, shows that the lawmakers behind this legislation are entirely out of touch with the specific duties and concerns of running a small business. While I consider my parents to be financially responsible, unfortunately they do not have hundreds of thousands of dollars set aside to buy a new boat; not to mention another new boat in 2035, when California will be entirely 'emission-free.'

1681.3

I apologize if this letter comes across as a personal attack; I hope you can see my passion about this issue, as my entire family's livelihood relies on it. My parents have made an honest living off this business for eighteen years, and I would be devastated to see their hard work snatched away from them like this.

Thank you for your time, and I hope you make the right decision,

Christian M. Conniff

Please include passenger vessels with the commercial fishing fleet and insure our time lines for emission compliance is identical. WE are all deemed Commercial vessel by the Dept of Wildlife and compete in the same industry. You cannot ask passenger vessels to retrofit or install new engine(s) that have not been tested safe for ALL commercial water craft

Comment:

As a saltwater sports fisherman for over 50 years, I want to IM-PLORE you to not pass this legislation requiring unreasonable changes to the laws regarding engine emission regulations that will effectively end almost all of this valuable industry in California. We have already seen that when these kind of measures are imposed, people simply change their location. The vast majority of these boats are owned and operated by small businessmen, who cannot afford to completely overhaul their boat to meet these standards, and CERTAINLY cannot afford to purchase a new boat which may have the required equipment. They will then take their existing boats and go 20 miles to Baja California, either Encidada or Puertoctias and operate their boats from those Mexican waters. And hundreds of thousands of enthusiasts like myself WILL go there to patronize the same boats, only out of a different location. The point being, there will be no actual reduction in emissions, they will simple be done several miles away. Please don't destroy a legacy California industry!!

Thank you!

To whom it may concern

In recent years, California has made huge strides in curbing Diesel engine emission, primarily by targeting the almost 100 year old Two Stroke technology engines that were the mainstay of truck and vessel propulsion in the 1980s and 90s.

Nearly all commercial vessels in state have been repowered with some level of modern 4-stroke electronic engines.

As the owner of a long range commercial Sportfishing vessel for 35 years, I have witnessed the change. When we upgraded from DD12V71 engines to DD Series 60 electronic engines our fuel burn dropped by 35%. Even with years of service they still burned clean – never smoked, even on a cold start. Because of our offshore route, state funding was never available to us. We paid more than $200,000.00 out of pocket. Because of the fuel savings, it has been more than worth it.

So five years ago, even though the engines ran perfectly, it was time to do something. We looked again at a potential repower and now the price tag was beyond $300,000.00. Again, because of our area of operation – mainly Mexican waters – zero funding was available to us.

We checked with CARB on multiple occasions and were told repeatedly that YES, our existing Series 60 engines would continue to be compliant in the future.

The cost of complete overhauls of all existing engines was estimated at about $100,000.00. Adding to this was the fact that the “New” engines would burn 15% more fuel than the Series 60s – so the choice was obvious.

Fast forward 5 years: I have sold my boat and business after 35 years to a young up and coming Captain, who had been a longtime employee. He has put everything he has into it – money, heart and soul.

Suddenly, CARB decides it wants to change the rules on him and everyone else in the Commercial Sportfishing Industry.

In his case, because he can't get funding from the State and no bank is going to be willing to help, he will be out of business and 10 to 12 people will lose their jobs.

So this is what 'EQUITY' looks like in California.

The State changes what it said was the "final" rule, separates a small portion of the Commercial Fishing fleet - the passenger part – into a category that nearly all parties involved agree, vessel owners cannot comply with even if they wanted to.

Meanwhile, the recreational vessel fleet of "thousands" of motor yachts, sport fishers and yes, sailboats are completely unregulated. Many hundreds of which are still powered with old 2-stroke and ancient 4-stroke engines. Many, if not most, owned by wealthy people.

In reality, these changes will do nothing for climate change.

Unless California buys them out of service, these vessels will move or be sold somewhere else – East Coast or Mexico. Global Emissions will be the same or worse. And the only difference (as has happened a lot) will be the loss of jobs here in California. Worse, "commercial" Sportfishing will switch more and more to the unregulated "recreational" vessels that already operate many illegal charters throughout the State, making that problem worse and undoubtedly adding immense amounts of air pollution. I am sure the State at some point will try to reign them in, but if past is prolog, they will not do well.

If the State does somehow-someway manage to try to make these thousands of boats comply, the only people who will be able to afford a yacht capable of incorporating Tier 4 Final Technology on board will be the very wealthy. Everyone else will be out of luck and have to take their fishing vacations somewhere else – with still more jobs lost in California.

1685.4

And again, in spite of how well-meaning CARB maybe, and what the rhetoric is out of Sacramento about Equity. The hard truth is this mainly will affect the little guy and make California more elite and less equitable for most of us.

Michael Keating

I have enjoyed sport fishing and whale watching with my family and friends for decades. To take this recreational activity away from every ethnic group that lives in California and enjoys the the ocean is ridiculous!! Where will the money come from to protect our fisheries if the cost of sport.fishing and boating becomes so expensive that the average person cannot afford to participate in any use of the ocean!

Comment:

Hello! My name is Kenny Dean. My son inlaw and I purchased our sportfishing boat The T Bird 3 years ago. We are already struggling because of covid. Our boat is a 60 year old wood boat that we will lose if these new regulations go into effect. I used my savings for retirement to purchase this vessel so I could supplement my retirement income and help my daughter and son inlaw have a secure future raising their 3 children. There is no way we can afford to buy or build a new boat that can handle the new engines that would be required to meet these standards. We would lose our business which would destroy both of our familys financially. We have one of the richest fisheries in the world here is San Diego. We love taking people out daily to fish for Bluefin, yellowfin tuna along with yellowtail and dorado here in Ca and Mexico. We are planning on repowering our boat with new engines to help fight emissions when we haul out next year. Please reconsider and place us back in the same category as the commercial boats. Thank you Kenny Dean

It is not feasible to change engines on boats - not cost effective for what little difference the current emissions output. Please reconsider.

Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Comment:

Ships are one of the worst air polluters in California, and harbor boats are one of the top three cancer risks for Californians living near the ports of Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Oakland. California must stop investing in diesel operated harbor boats and instead invest in clean technologies and jobs.

The technology exists to transition commercial harbor craft to 100% clean fleets today. Already, there are over 300 operating zero-emission ships powered by batteries worldwide, with another 194 on order.

Given the climate emergency that we are facing, we need bold climate leadership. Im asking you to strengthen the Commercial Harbor Craft rule:

1690.1

1. Require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule

2. Add language to allow the Board to revisit the rule as the zero-emissions boat market evolves to ensure the regulation achieves maximum emission reductions

1690.2

3. Increase funding for zero-emissions boat pilots and retrofits to spur innovation

1690.3

This is a critical time to protect the health of port-side communities, Californian families, and our environment.

Thank you for your attention to this important issue.

Dear Board Members,

I want to voice my concern that while your proposed regulation is worthy, I feel your on the wrong track. In the big picture of pollution, this will make very little difference. If you want to do something big, help the Fed's push China and India (worst polluters) to do something about their polluting.

1691.1

These regulations will cause severe damage to families and businesses. You will put many boats out of business, jobs will be lost and hinder wonderful family traditions of fathers taking their sons and daughters out for a day of fishing and big smiles. You will price people out of being able to do this.

1691.2

Please rethink this law your trying to pass and shelf it. It will cause more harm than do good.

Comment:

To the California resources board and its members: there must be less restrictive ways to achieve the reduction in omissions other than to destroy the entire fishing fleet comprised of older boats.

We take almost 1000 children fishing every summer, the boat that we use which is a commercial sport fishing boat, Will no longer be available to us if your regulations go through as proposed.

1693.1

The implications go much further than our little group and the inner-city children that we help. All up and down the coast you will be destroying a lot of private individuals and mom and pop operations and you will be taking away the opportunity to continue Sportfishing as it's grown up in California over many years.

1693.2

I and many others connected to the Sportfishing industry here in California, especially southern California are urging you to find other options than the ones that you are proposing, which in some cases are impossible to fulfill. You swore an oath to support the constitution of the state of California and that would include doing what's best Under all the circumstances.

Hi,

I own two fishing boats and am also an attorney who has a number of fishermen for clients.

While I realize that climate control is an issue that needs to be addressed, any decisions along these lines must be "reasonable."

The proposed regulations are not reasonable in that they are going to make it impossible for many businesses as well as recreational anglers to comply.

Consequently many businesses will fold.

It is suggested that you folks meet with industry leaders, to determine what reasonable options are available.

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Passenger Boat Regulations

Comment:

The Newsom Administration has proposed passenger boat regulations, regulations that require new engines and technology that is not feasible from a safety, financial or operational standpoint. These regulations will most likely remove passenger boats made of wood and fiberglass from service; over 80% of all boats!

If boat owners can't afford to spend millions of dollars for new metal boats. Or we, as passengers, can't or won't pay twice as much for boat tickets to help pay for the new boats. Boat owners will be forced out of business.

Millions of Californians will be denied access to the open sea and significant economic harm will come to coastal communities that depend on outdoors.

My family and myself will not be able to harvest our own food and to enjoy all the splendors of the sea!

Please do not implement these new proposed regulations.

Subject: Emissions regulations on passenger vessels

Comment:

To whom it may concern,
I would like to start by saying that I agree with having cleaner burning engines and better environmental practices for our future. I do not agree with the approach of the current regulation sought after. I the owner of a 55 foot sport fishing vessel that I have worked 20 years to be able to finally purchase my own three years ago I look in the harbor I work in and see hundreds of boats tied up to docks and there are 8 sport boats that would be tied up.

Why does this not effect the commercial and personal watercraft ?

We are coast guard inspected vessels with generally the best technology available for marine safe engines. If this law should pass the only thing this would do is destroy jobs and the 1698.1

collateral damage to surrounding small businesses that depend on passenger watercraft would be catastrophie 1698.2

The boats would sell and continue to operate outside California's harsh regulations making this regulation only to destroy what makes California a special state. 1698.3

If you wish to pass a law like this make it for everyone, not just a singled out industry. I also have questions as to where the data was used to make the assumptions on particulates and amounts of fuel burned per vessel and the pollution that they produce? 1698.4

I have operated sport boats since 1999 and have never once had someone inquire about what, where , and how many hours we operate in a year. I hope someone will come to their senses and rethink this and move foreword with it when the technology is readily available and tested and proven worthy of the safety of the passengers onboard. 1698.5

Or better yet how about offering some grants and financial avenues for the industry to make it feel a little bit more reachable for vessel owners Hope the considerations will be looked all from all angles. 1698.6

California Air Resources Board
1001 I Street
Sacramento, CA 95814

To whom it may concern;

I write this letter as the current owner and operator of the passenger carrying sportfishing vessel Islander, which is located in San Diego, CA. Current regulatory changes proposed by CARB threaten to shutter not only my business but the businesses of every passenger carrying sport vessel on the California coast. Nearly all of these vessels are small, family owned businesses representing tens of thousands of jobs, not to mention a historical significance that goes back to the late 1800's.

1699.1

My first point of contention with this proposal is that (at least in my case) it doesn't take into account the amount of time many of these vessels operate within 24 miles of the California coast. My vessel operates in Mexican waters for the majority of its season. When in US waters we are rarely within 24 miles of the coast except when transiting. I would like to see the equation that shows my vessel's contribution to the pollution within this 24 mile zone. I'm sure each vessel owner who is about to see their life's work snatched from them would like to see that equation worked out as well.

1699.2

My vessel is wood and while it was built in 1968, it is in fantastic condition due to extensive maintenance and upkeep. That being said, we are in no position to retrofit our engine room to allow for the extensive recapture systems laid out in the plan. Because of this, my vessel and basically any other wood or fiberglass vessel has been deemed incapable of making the necessary upgrades. My option at this point is to destroy the boat and start over from scratch. The suggestion from CARB to finance this endeavor is to raise my ticket prices and start looking for a loan. Obviously, whoever came up with this solution has never run a business. It would have been simpler to say 'let them eat cake'. The cost of doing business in California is well known the world over. We can barely keep up with expenses by raising our prices as it is. Raising prices to cover a repower of this magnitude or (God forbid) to start over would mean doubling or tripling our current prices. I've seen the feedback when our trip prices go up by fifty dollars. I wonder how we'd fare as a fleet when we double or triple the cost. My suspicion is golf would become very popular. Let's assume for a moment that California's commercial passenger vessel owners did find a way to finance new construction. From an environmental perspective that seems like a step backward. I'm sure the readers of this letter have spent little time in a shipyard but I have. New boat construction is a massive project that consumes millions of dollars in new materials, many of which California is already trying to do away with. To rebuild the California sportfishing fleet from scratch defies logic on a number of levels but if you think that is an eco-friendly option you are sorely mistaken. Honestly, the realistic end to this situation would likely be the fire sale of these boats to other states where these regulations aren't in place. From a nationwide perspective there would be no reduction. The boats would go elsewhere as would the previous owners in search of new livelihoods and affordable housing.

I understand the need to clean up our air and I am not denying the effects that carbon emissions play in the degradation of our environment. What I don't understand is how the elimination of 200 boats along our coast is going to play a major role in helping the situation. Since 2020 Governor Newsom has granted well over 1500 permits to drill for oil and gas in this state. That represents a 190% increase from 2019. California is one of the nation's largest oil producers. I realize that billions of dollars flow from gas companies to politicians and I realize that these companies' lobbyists are hugely influential but these statistics point out the absurdity of this situation. Let's ramp up gas and oil extraction in this state and at the same time start eliminating the small businesses that consume them. I recognize that as an industry our significance is dwarfed by a company like Chevron but you need to understand that each boat affected by this plan represents a family or families that have put their lives into these businesses. When I bought the Islander 18 years ago I leveraged everything. There were years where we almost lost it all but we persevered. I've put two kids through school with this boat and along the way employed dozens of bright, hard working men and women. I'm 48 now and at some point looked forward to selling my business and enjoying the fruits of my labor. To be told I should start saving for an eventual repower to build a new vessel is laughable to me. I can say without doubt, that if this plan goes through you will be responsible for destroying the livelihoods, dreams and futures of every boat owner affected. Additionally, you will be destroying part of California's heritage as well thousands of job opportunities for young kids who are more inclined to be outdoors in the environment than in front of a screen.

1699.6

My final point on the matter is the fact that this proposal creates different criteria for passenger carrying vessels and commercial fishing vessels. Why is that? Walk along Sunset Cliffs in San Diego any morning in October and you will see twenty to thirty commercial, diesel burning vessels pulling lobster traps within one mile of the coast. If you look hard you may see two half day boats with passengers. That's because the other passenger vessels are further than 24 miles out. Why does the commercial fleet have a different set of rules? Most of the vessels you see off the coast are commercial fishing vessels or recreational vessels yet our fleet is the one being mandated to change. In September the Governor signed a $25 billion climate change bill which would provide assistance to numerous industries. To think that this bill wouldn't offer some coverage to the small businesses this proposal seeks to ruin is disheartening to say the least.

1699.7

I thank you for your time and look forward to any response.

Sincerely,

John Conniff
Owner/Captain

The clean air proposal currently being considered is COMPLETELY UNREASONABLE ! It is going to put countless owner operators out business. Clean air is a great thing to strive for, but putting so many people and companies out of work is really irresponsible ! Do the right thing and vote this proposal DOWN !

Clerk's Office, California Air Resources Board
Sacramento, CA 95814

RE: Public Comment - Proposed Amendments to Commercial Harbor Craft
Regulation, Hearing of November 19, 2021

Dear Madam Chair:

The Marina del Rey Lessees Association represents the leaseholders of residential, commercial, marine and visitor-serving properties in unincorporated Marina del Rey. As a small craft harbor, Marina del Rey plays a vital role of fulfilling plans and policies of the California Coastal Commission for recreational boating and water-related activities.

Public access to the Marina del Rey's waterfront and amenities is one of the key goals promulgated by the County of Los Angeles for residents and tourists to enjoy recreational boating activities. Sportfishing, whale watching and yacht charters are popular activities that make Marina del Rey an attractive visitor-serving destination. The ability for County residents and tourists to enjoy dinner cruises, charter boat tours, whale watching and fishing excursions are especially important as the tourism and hospitality industry begin the slow process of recovering from a pandemic that devastated our local economy.

The Association is greatly concerned that the California Air Resources Board's contemplation of adopting significantly new restrictions severely limiting the use of diesel engines on yacht charter and fishing boats is ill-advised and fails to consider the ruinous economic consequences of moving forward on engine emission regulations that require technology that is not economically feasible nor has been fully developed or tested for safety on passenger harbor crafts.

The proposed CARB regulations are geared to "Commercial Harbor Craft," which too broadly includes "Excursion Vessels" consisting of dinner cruise and yacht charter boats, and "Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels" consisting of fishing boats that operate as a small seagoing business with a limited number of passengers. We respectfully request that CARB not move forward with the proposed engine emission regulations that will have a direct and adverse impact on the Marina del Rey charter boats and fishing fleets. CARB's website notes there are several types of commercial harbor craft. The visitor-serving boats used in Marina del Rey should not be lumped in with ferries, barges, tug boats, dredges and the like. The Board should recognize the operational differences of various types of vessels.

1702.2

The proposed engine emission regulations will hit small craft operations particularly hard and without any logical reasons. The small business operators of charter boats and fishing vessels in Marina del Rey will not be able to continue providing unique recreational opportunities for residents and tourists as the cost of vessel replacements is prohibitively expensive.

Within a short period of time, the proposed CARB regulation will result in most sportfishing and whale watching boats going out of business. CARB fails to understand that small business owners face dire economic calamity with financing new vessels while simultaneously trying to sell their existing boats that would have no resale value in California. It is unrealistic and unfair to impose a conversion requirement on the small business operators of excursion vessels and commercial passenger fishing vessels within the next two years, while larger commercial vessels moving cargo and freight are allowed a significantly longer period of time to reduce emissions from diesel engines.

Various economic forecasts predict that it will take many years after the pandemic, which is still ongoing, for the tourism and hospitality industry, which includes the charter boats, dinner cruises and sportfishing vessels, to fully recover. In the meantime, it is entirely counterproductive and financially destructive to our economy to impose new regulations that harm small businesses that are an essential component of tourist activities that attract visitors to the County of Los Angeles.

On behalf of a struggling recreational boating industry, the Association would appreciate your consideration of not putting visitor-serving sportfishing, whale watching tours, dinner cruises and excursion boat charters out of business. County residents and tourists need to have accessible and affordable access to water-oriented activities.

1702.5

Thank you for your consideration of our position.

Respectfully,

Gregory F. Schem
President, Marina del Rey Lessees Association.

You are going to put me and many other charter boats out of business.

Where are the facts to back up that one charter boat puts out more emissions than 160 city buses? That is observed.

1703.1

What you are asking for simply can not be done. There are no tier 4 motors available for our vessels.

I have worked my whole life trying to have a future to live out my life. It is too late for me to go in debt for hundreds of thousands of dollars and to live long enough to pay that off.

You will put me out of business and deprive thousands of people the chance to experience of enjoying our magnificent ocean.

Please stop this.

RE: CHC 2021 Proposed CARB Engine Emission Regulations; Sportfishing/Whale Watching Vessels

Dear Madam Chair,

The following trade organizations represent marinas, harbors and boaters throughout California and we are seriously concerned about the agency's proposed commercial harbor craft regulations.

CARB has proposed engine emission regulations that require technology that has not been developed for passenger sportfishing and whale watching vessels or tested safe at sea. Similar technology used on trucks and farm equipment has been known to stall engines for hours at a time to clean emission control systems, and in worst case scenarios, catch fire. On land, a stalled engine or fire is a serious economic disruption. At sea, the consequences would be life threatening.

Moreover, where boats could stall is equally concerning. Vessels often enter and exit harbors that are difficult to navigate, especially during high winds and seas. If a vessel were to stall in a harbor or near shore, the threat of running aground or colliding with another vessel is a very real and an unacceptable possibility. Rather than hours, crews could have only minutes or seconds to regain control of their vessel. This is why it concerns us greatly that CARB did not initially consult the U.S. Coast Guard when drafting the regulations. If CARB has remedied this oversight by requesting USCG comments or analysis, please provide us a copy before the November 19th public hearing.

CARB has concluded that the proposed regulations are not compatible with some vessels, specifically stating that "vessel replacement will be likely, especially the categories with wood or fiberglass vessels." When more than 80 percent of vessels are constructed with these materials, there is a strong possibility that many sportfishing and whale watching boat owners will go out of business. Moreover, the Cal Maritime Academy raised concerns associated with boat stability, which could have the practical effect of removing metal boats from service as well. As boat owners who can't afford replacement vessels leave the industry, landings will go vacant, devastating visitor spending in and around marinas and harbors occupied by restaurants, stores and lodging.

This is why we are disappointed that CARB's economic analysis did not evaluate the economic impact of the regulations on harbors and marinas, and coastal economies that depend on anglers and marine life watchers to support the outdoor tourism and hospitality industry. It is irresponsible to consider the proposed regulations without such analysis.

Moreover, compliant vessels would have to be metal and larger in size to accommodate Tier Four engines, Diesel Particulate Filters and other addons. It is possible that larger vessels would require harbors and marinas to spend resources to reconfigure landings and result in less slips available to rent. CARB did not consult with harbor masters and marina operators as part of any stakeholder outreach. Consequently, the impacts of the proposed regulations raise serious economic and safety issues. 1704.3

Out of concern for the personal safety of passengers and crew, and economic security of our marinas and harbors, we cannot support the regulations in their current draft and recommend that passenger fishing vessels be allowed to transition to lower emission engines as the technology becomes available and it is economically feasible.

Sincerely,

Kate Pearson

Comment:

From what I have learned about the proposed regulations, many established sportfishing operations will be forced out of business.

The New Lo-An, owned and operated by captain, Markus Medak, is one of those sportboats. Captain Medak was recently in the news for helping to save the lives of 25 people in a panga about one-hundred miles off the coast of San Diego. These are good people.

My family and I learned to love the sport of ocean fishing on the San Diego fleet over the last fifteen years. In the course of doing so, we have spent a lot of money in the economy and witnessed people traveling from many other states to partake in this exciting sport and spend money in the California economy.

This sport not only often results in putting food on the table for families, but it also teaches respect for the ocean and coastal habitat that is so important to California's economy overall.

While the effort to transition to alternative and more eco-friendly fuels/motors is admirable, there must be another way of doing so. As proposed, California sportfishing and whale watching boats are unfairly discriminated against. If California truly insists that boats be modified as in the proposal, then California should be prepared to appropriately compensate each boat owner to enable them to do so . . . without putting them out of business. We need sportfishing and whale watching boats to stay in business and continue to contribute to our society in the many positive ways that they currently do.

Thank you,
Lisa Griffith

Subject: OPPOSED to Commercial Harbor Craft regulations

Comment:

From: Capt. Court Mast
Sausalito, CA

To: California Air Resources Board

November 1, 2021

Thank you for the opportunity to engage with CARB on its proposed regulations for Commercial Harbor Craft in California.

I am a Coast Guard-licensed captain working on Salty Lady, for decades one of San Francisco Bay's most venerable charter-fishing and whale-watching boats.

The organizations to which I belong -- Golden Gate Fishermen's Association (GGFA) and Golden State Salmon Association (GSSA), are focused on improving fish habitats in rivers and the ocean. And the Oceanic Society, the organization that charters Salty Lady for whale watching, is a leading environmental group with worldwide outreach.

Anyone who follows the science will agree carbon emissions from all forms of transportation must be reduced to curb global warming. Unfortunately, CARB's proposed regulations for Commercial Harbor Craft are extremely short-sighted, providing only a minimal reduction in actual emissions to the planet while devastating our maritime industries and related coastal communities.

The idea of the new regulations is to take existing carbon-reduction technology available in land-based vehicles like trucks and farm equipment, and mandate its use in a particular group of marine vessels -- passenger vessels, ferries, tugboats, pilot boats, sportfishing boats and marine construction vessels, with a deadline of January 1, 2023.

However, the Tier 4 diesel motors and diesel particulate filters (DPFs) used on land are too heavy and too hot to retrofit into boats made of wood, fiberglass or aluminum. Boats made of these materials comprise over 80% of the boats in the mandated group.

A recent California Maritime Academy study concluded that marine-application engines that meet the proposed standards do not exist yet. The excessive heat produced by the currently available engines and DPFs could catch fire when run at low RPMs, the speed at which most of the vessels in the mandated group operate. Ask any vessel owner, "what is your worst nightmare?" It's fire.

Fishing and whale watching boats run 30 miles or more outside the Golden Gate. Tugboats move massive container ships and oil tankers safely around San Francisco Bay and other California harbors. The designs of these boats have been fine-tuned over many decades to run safely and efficiently, with constant Coast Guard inspections and approvals.

On any Coast Guard-inspected vessel, the owner cannot change the motors or rudders, cannot change the mass, weight, balance, or even cut a hole in the dashboard without Coast Guard approval.

CARB's proposed regulations have NOT been reviewed by the U.S Coast Guard, which is the final authority for inspecting and approving all vessels in the Commercial Harbor Craft classification.

With the proposed deadline looming on January 1, 2023, 80% of the boat owners (nearly all of them small operators) will be unable to comply with the regulations -- they cannot feasibly upgrade the motors in their existing wood, fiberglass and aluminum boats to Tier 4. So they have two options:

1) Sell their existing, functioning boats to a party out-of-state for pennies on the dollar (if possible), and go out of business.

2) Sell their existing, functioning boats to a party out-of-state for pennies on the dollar (if possible), and build a new boat.

Selling a boat out-of-state doesn't cut the boat's emissions, it simply moves the emissions to another state. So the actual decrease in global emissions from this whole exercise is negligible. Building a new boat costs millions of dollars, takes years to complete, and there are no guarantees the technology will work or the Coast Guard will approve the vessel.

Furthermore, small Harbor Craft operators have relied on a stream of grants over the years to steadily upgrade their vessels' emissions. Those grants are not allowed to subsidize new boats in order to meet the regulations. And the small operators are not eligible for the federal funding available to large ferry companies.

So without the ability to upgrade their boats, and without the grants or federal funding available to subsidize a new boat, many of the small commercial operators -- nearly 80% of the Small Harbor Craft on California waters today, will be forced OUT OF BUSINESS.

1707.4

*** Let me repeat this for emphasis:

Many of the small commercial operators -- nearly 80% of the Small Harbor Craft on California waters today, will be forced OUT OF BUSINESS.

With the demise of nearly all the small operators of fishing boats, whale watching boats, bay cruises and small ferries, many of the industries that support them -- tackle shops, dive shops, hotels, bars, restaurants and a host of other small businesses in our coastal communities will see a significant decline in revenue. (NOTE: Many of the 1600+ anti-CARB public comments are from coastal community leaders.)

1707.5

Tugboats, pilot boats and marine construction vessels will either be removed from service or forced into prohibitively expensive upgrades. So California's international trade, transportation and construction industries will all be negatively affected.

While I fully support CARB's overall mission to reduce toxic emissions in all forms of transportation, I believe, in this case, the onerous regulations being pushed on the maritime industry by CARB at this time are unreasonable, disruptive and detrimental to an entire industry and its supporting businesses. ... AND ... the actual reduction in toxic emissions from these regulations is negligible.

I urge the Board to consider the following recommendations:

1) Immediately push back the looming January 1, 2023 deadline for installation of Tier 4 engines by five years, to January 1, 2028. This change need to be made right away, since boat operators are already starting to sell their boats out-of-state.

2) Change the extension formula from two (2) years to four (4) years for each extension period, with wording that allows for multiple extensions and additional review of the regulations based on availability of truly functional technology.

3) Closely monitor technical developments in the marine engine industry to guide the production of feasible marine engine technology.

4) Work with the Coast Guard to craft regulations that are consistent with their practical expertise in watercraft construction and safety.

5) Allow significantly more time to ensure a robust and interactive process with all the stakeholders in California's maritime industry -- recreational boaters, commercial vessel operators, shipyards, maintenance facilities and coastal communities to make positive progress on this critical issue.

Thank You for your consideration,
Capt. Court Mast
Sausalito, CA

Comment:

I am all for improving air quality in California but the current legislation you have imposed on recreation Sportfishing boats has gone too far. These boats are family owned and not funded by giant corporations. They operate on slim margins in a seasonal workflow. They owners have already agreed to make concessions by upgrading their engines to tier 3.

The goal of CARB is to reduce pollution and improve air quality. If you continue with the current legislation these boat owners will have their boats value reduced to near scrap. Lastly, these sportfishers will change their vessels, to gas powered outboards and run more units which will combine to actually increase emissions from their current levels.

With all these regulations being imposed on hard working family run businesses there has been ZERO action on the 100 or so ships sitting outside the Port of LA/Long Beach running their unregulated diesel generators for weeks at a time. Please focus your legislations on the big targets and leave the small fleet of recreational sport fishers alone until more Tier 4 engines are available and already fitted in vessels that are made for them.

This proposal will ruin small business which most Sportfishing boats are, we have worked hard for what we have and we take pride in it. Most owners can't afford to totally overhaul and retrofit one boat let alone multiple boats if they own more than one. There are no grants or programs for this tier four retrofit, therefore each boat will have to pay out of pocket for a total overhaul. I've been working on boats for 7 years now this is my passion and how I support my family and make my money to live.

Subject: Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Comment:

Ships are one of the worst air polluters in California, and harbor boats are one of the top three cancer risks for Californians living near the ports of Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Oakland. California must stop investing in diesel operated harbor boats and instead invest in clean technologies and jobs.

The technology exists to transition commercial harbor craft to 100% clean fleets today. Already, there are over 300 operating zero-emission ships powered by batteries worldwide, with another 194 on order.

Given the climate emergency that we are facing, we need bold climate leadership. Im asking you to strengthen the Commercial Harbor Craft rule:

1713.1

1. Require a 100% zero-emissions transition for the majority of harbor boats by 2035, including tugboats and barges, which are excluded from the current rule

2. Add language to allow the Board to revisit the rule as the zero-emissions boat market evolves to ensure the regulation achieves maximum emission reductions

1713.2

3. Increase funding for zero-emissions boat pilots and retrofits to spur innovation

1713.3

This is a critical time to protect the health of port-side communities, Californian families, and our environment.

Thank you for your attention to this important issue.

Subject: Help us stay in business

Comment:

Hello,

I would like to introduce myself, my name is Captain Tony Vultaggio and I'm the owner operator of Santa Barbara Sportfishing Charters. Over the last 19 years I've been able to grow my business and have one of the best jobs. I Pride myself on safety and enjoying the ocean while having guests on board. This new law will setback many of us small charter boats. I encourage you to look deeper into the technology before making it mandatory. Please consider leaving us connected with the commercial fishing fleet where we have remained in previous years.

Thank you,

Sincerely,
Tony Vultaggio

Subject: Keep the Whale Watching Industry in Business

Comment:

I want to help the Whale Watching Industry in it's fight to stay on the water. New California Air Resource Board has proposed rules will put this important industry out of business in 6 years. There is simply not enough time or funding and the technology does not exist.

This industry promotes education, is supported by the community and is vital to survival of many of these small businesses. Please re-evaluate your plans and look for other more reasonable options.

Subject: Please don't pass this proposed legislation

Comment:

I love to fish. In fact, it is my only hobby. I have fished the Southern California coast for as long as I can remember. Although I have a good job, and make a good living, I cannot afford to purchase my own boat. The party boats are the only way I can afford to get out on the water. However, even now it is not cheap. A single overnight trip out of San Diego currently sets me back $500 if you include the price of the ticket, food, fish cleaning, tip, and gas from the High Desert. Should these regulations go into effect, the boats that can even survive will raise their prices. This will likely price me out of a life-long hobby.

Please do not enact the legislation as it is proposed. It will kill an entire industry.

Please! Don't take away out most precious asset, the ocean. Give the men, women, and children present and future the opportunity to enjoy the ocean. As well as the people who break their backs to provide food, and fun for everyone aboard their boats. Clean up the homeless problem before ruining the livelihood of millions who care more about the ocean than any politician.

Subject: This is how I provide for myself and future family

Comment:

The proposed regulations will raise prices of tickets to an unaffordable price If we can even afford to put these new engines in our vessels. I have been doing this type of work my entire working career. I planned on buying my own vessel and starting my own business with it. With these new regulations that dream is no longer profitable nor conceivable. The engines that would have to be installed would take up a lot of deck space and the exhausts and filters would pose a fire hazard. These regulations would put many many people out of work with no other working experience as they have done it their whole lives and provided for their family's this way. It would close down close to all small businesses associated with sport fishing. With no affordable access to the water many other businesses not directly associated would also feel it. Tackle and bait shops, rod company's tackle company's and so on. If this goes through I do not know what I'll do for work.

Since I can remember my family for generations have harvested resources from our coastline, these new regulations are unreasonable economically and ethically, I hope my voice and the voice of others can protect the tradition of fishing for our future generations that deserve that experience.

Sportfishing has been a big part of my family for 3 generations. You will be hard pressed to find a group of people that has more respect for our ocean and our fish population than sportfishermen. Captains keep close tallies on sizes, species and all local regulations. It keeps people employed and gives back to communities via fishing fares and local tackle and bait shop earnings and all outfits are very active in charity. Please keep our boats on the water

Comment:

To whom it may concern,

I've lived my whole life on the Southern California coast and fishing the Pacific Ocean has been a staple in my family for generations. Passenger sport boats have been available to us as far back as I could remember, and believe me those mementoes are engraved in my brain and in my heart. Fishing is more than just the catch, it's more than just a boat ride. To me, fishing on a sport boat is a way to get away from my daily routine and enjoy this one life we've been blessed with. It's a way to help with my mental health, especially during these last two years of covid.

I am very much OPPOSED to the proposed regulations that will severely impact the ability for US citizens, and Californians, to fish and enjoy our beautiful oceans and waterways.

Regulations have gone WAY TOO FAR. 99.99% of fisherman LOVE the outdoors and are good stewards of the environment. All options to enjoy the outdoors are slowly being stripped from taxpayers.

I OPPOSE THE NEW REGULATIONS!

Sincerely,
Yvonne Cantrell

Please do not vote to approve the ridiculous new laws and standards for sport and recreational fishing boats. There are not currently engines and technology available to power these boat reliable as many travel as far as 1,000 miles from their home port. Not to mention the cost would kill a whole industry of hard working Americans and fishing passion I love and want to pass onto my two daughters.

Subject: Comment on Ammendment to Commercial Harbor Craft

Comment:

I find the proposed amendments will restrict the passing on of a culture of accessibility/inclusivity that is rooted in sportfishing. The proposed legislation undermines a culture where ALL are welcome on a boat no matter their race/gender/religion /etc. by being affordable. This proposed legislation will destroy a sportfishing culture rooted since the early 1900s. I propose that you can come to a better solution that does not force a fisherman to sell their boat to an "out of state market". A goal of California has been to reduce homelessness in urban areas, this amendment will greatly hurt thousands of jobs and who they provide for to put more families on the streets. Please come to a better compromise.

My dad started me sportfishing at a young age in SoCal. Been fishing for 40+ yrs and this would be detrimental to the fishing community. A tons of young kids are getting on board with sportfishing and it would definitely keep them away from trouble.

Comment:

Please reconsider the proposed engine requirements until the technology to implement these engines is proven and affordable, the proposed tier 4 engines will not work in existing boats. Sportfishing is my passion I operate the New Del Mar in Marina Del Rey , it's a large half day fishing boat . We take thousands of people fishing annually, it is a fun easy and affordable way for the general public to enjoy the ocean and fishing. We take out all types of people of all ethnicities and social backgrounds, first timers to old salts that have been fishing their entire lives. Sportfishing is an important part of the California culture and tradition, please allow us to keep the way of life alive!

Air Pollution Control District
San Luis Obispo County

October 5, 2021

Liane M. Randolph
Chair, California Air Resources Board
1001 I Street
P.O. Box 2815
Sacramento, CA 95812

SUBJECT: Comments Regarding the Proposed Amendments to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation

Dear Chairperson Randolph:

At the September 22, 2021, meeting of the San Luis Obispo County Air Pollution Control District Board, the Board voted to send a letter to the California Air Resources Board to voice concerns over the proposed amendments to the Airborne Toxic Control Measure for Commercial Harbor Craft (CHC Regulation). Since 2009, the CHC Regulation has provided the regulatory framework to reduce thousands of tons of emissions from commercial vessels operating in California Regulated Waters. San Luis Obispo County Air Pollution Control District (SLO County APCD) supports the goals of the proposed amendments to the CHC Regulation, to continue and expand the achievements attained by the regulation thus far. However, SLO County APCD strongly encourages your Board to include key changes to the regulation before adoption.

The current CHC Regulation has compelled the phased repower or retrofit of marine engines to Tier 2 emission standards or better, in the fleet of in-use ferries, excursion vessels, tugboats, towboats, push boats, crew and supply vessels, and barge and dredge vessels. Absent from the replacement schedule are pilot vessels, work boats (including research, fire/rescue, and law enforcement vessels), and fishing vessels (including both commercial fishing boats and charter or Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessels). The proposed amendments to the CHC Regulation would establish an engine replacement requirement for all the vessel classes that currently have no replacement schedule. Under the proposed amendments to the regulation, the engines with no replacement schedule would have to be replaced as soon as December 31, 2023. Other vessels, including many that have been repowered within the last 12 years to comply with the current CHC Regulation, would have compliance dates just a year or two later.

It will be impractical to repower some vessels because Tier 3 or Tier 4 engines and the required diesel particulate filters (DPF) run hotter, take up more room, and/or weigh substantially more than the engines they are replacing. In some cases, where economic hardship is demonstrated and space constraints, excessive heat, or weight/load balance issues cannot be addressed, the CHC Regulation will allow for limited compliance extensions. However, ultimately, these vessels will have to be replaced outright by the owner at substantial cost.

SLO County APCD, like many coastal air districts, has long offered incentive grants to assist owners of harbor craft to purchase engines and equipment that will reduce air emissions. However, most programs (including Carl Moyer) set a minimum project life of three years, and to maximize incentives, project lives can be extended out to 16 years. The short compliance deadlines in the CHC Regulation can curtail the project life, reducing the potential award amount, and because of the three-year minimum, compliance deadlines before December 31, 2025, will render vessels completely ineligible for grant funding.

For the vessels with new regulatory replacement schedules where engine replacement is feasible, we have the following regulatory recommendations:

1. Add compliance flexibility to the CHC Regulation for coastal areas that are in federal attainment for ambient air quality standards, similar to the flexibilities provided in the CARB "In-use On-road and Off-road" Regulations.
2. Any new replacement compliance dates should be set at least eight years from the effective date of the regulation, and not sooner than December 31, 2030, so air districts can provide meaningful grant funding for vessels with new regulatory schedules;
3. The replacement schedules should factor in time needed for engine manufacturers to complete the development and deployment of additional Tier 4 engines and DPFs, and the certification of these new technologies by CARB, the U.S. Coast Guard, and if necessary, Cal OSHA; and
4. The replacement schedules should allow flexibility for possible delays in Tier 4 and DPF deployment due to delays in production, certification, or industry limitations in repower specialists.

1740.3

Most air districts in the state, including SLO County APCD, are poised to receive record grant awards from state funding next year and enhanced funding for future years as well. Our recommended modifications to the regulation would allow more small business boat operators to qualify for grant funding to assist with the needed repowers and retrofits over the next several years.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the amendments to the CHC Regulation. Questions or comments may be directed to Air Pollution Control Officer, Gary Willey at (805) 781-5912.

Sincerely,

E-SIGNED by John Headding
on 2021-10-18 08:00:16 PDT

Subject: CHC2021 Save Our Boats

Comment:

In regards to the draconian engine regulations you are considering to adopt, I would like you to keep charter boats in the same category as the commercial fishing vessels and allow them to continue to run on Tier 2 diesel motors. The Tier 2 motors are considered clean and it will be impossible for the charter boats to re-power and build new vessels which will cost millions of dollars and who knows how long that would take. They will be forced out of business. If that happens, millions of Californians will be denied access to the open sea and significant economic harm will come to coastal communities that depend on outdoor tourism. I have been fishing on a charter boat for over 40 years, as has other family members and many, many friends and without charter boats to take us out to fish the ocean, there will be no point in purchasing a fishing license. It means so much to us all to go out and catch fish to feed our families and friends and enjoy being out on a boat, fishing and enjoying the fresh sea air. Please reconsider adopting this devastating plan.	1741.1

Comment:

Please don't scrap the charter boats in California. They provide a great affordable opportunity to get people out on the ocean. I feel the minimal impact of the engine exhaust is far out weighed by the experience people get by venturing out to sea. The passengers get to see firsthand how special our marine environment is and why they should help protect the ocean and all its life.

Comment:

You read the subject. We have the voice. This is a part of the recreational industry that shall stay afloat. The thousands of vehicles in California that drive on our roads every day without the need for smog checks should be of much greater concern to air quality than the 15 to 50 vessels per day venturing out to sea (away from sensitive coastal habits mind you), most for only 3/4s of the year before winter season arrives. LEAVE THEM ALONE.

Comment:

Hi I'm a avid sport fisherman and part time deckhand on these boat you are trying to require, stwitch to a tier four engine class. This board has already excluded commercial fishing vessel, all we ask is for same exclusion. Approving this engine requiremet not only wold affect tens of thousands just wanting to have fun on the water, but will destroy peoples lively hood. Thousands of owners, captions, crews, and there families ability to survive. This is not only an attack on people who want to go fishing. This is an attack on people's jobs and business.

Subject: Please halt the new CARB regulations for sport fishing boats in California

Comment:

I write to you in sheer desperation that you please stop the new CARB engine standards for sport fishing boats. This was not thought through thoroughly enough. This will put many small family businesses out of work as they cannot afford to retrofit or purchase new boats. This should be a voluntary act with plenty of incentives. Currently there just isn't a history of using these new engines on boats that have been retrofitted and they have issues with failure. This could mean people stranded at sea or at least decreasing safety on the water. This was not thought through and is obviously not ready for prime time. And only 1 year to comply?!? This is almost as bad as Newsom and CARB's plans to stop the sale of small gas powered engines in California. The electric alternatives are not safe for use in the rain or for emergency work. Totally bad ideas!! Let the public vote on this and you'll see it's not feasible and just puts a strain on small business while encouraging large corporate businesses who have better access to funding take over the small remaining mom and pops. Don't kill California fishing with this atrocious bill. It just is a bad idea.

Hello Carb,

My name is Brandon and I love to fish. I, unfortunately, can't afford a boat of my own as the costs are very high. Instead, I fish on the sport boats here in southern California. I hope you can reconsider the proposed changes as I fear it will put sportfishing offshore out of reach for me. Please reconsider these changes and please consider another alternative so anglers like me and many others can continue to utilize the sportfishing fleet.

Comment:

If the ability for sport fishing boats to operate is taken away due to the bill that is up for voting a huge injustice will be dealt to my soon to be 8 years old son. My son has many hardships he has to encounter due to a difficult relationship with his unfit mother and her side of the family. My son has been subject to horrible encounters with his moms side of the family which has severely impacted him. The one thing that has helped my son through dealing with the trauma he has experienced is getting out fishing on the weekends on fishing sport boats. He is in his element on the boats and has a true passion for fishing which has led him to wanting to become a marine biologist and help preserve marine life and the marine environment. Fishing on the boats is his escaped, his way to have a break and no think about all the troubles he has dealing with the trauma he has experienced. If this is taken away from him I don't know what can facilitate its place. I hope this and the many other lives that can be negatively impacted by denying sport boats the ability to operate is taken into consideration so a more sensible and reasonable resolution can be made that will not deny my son the one thing that is keeping him a float amongst all the trauma and fall out from that trauma he has been experiencing.

Subject: NEW REGULATIONS FOR SPORTFISHING VESSELS IN CALIFORNIA

Comment:

Why target sportboats to get new engines that would make it nearly impossible for them to operate? It would cost way too much for them to be modified to meet these new, proposed standards and would ultimately put many companies out of operation. After all, why target sportboats when there are probably hundreds, if not thousands, of more automobiles, commercial trucks, and planes that would release more pollutants combined than sportboats combined? Please keep sportfishing alive for the youth and generations to follow. #dontsinksportfishing

Comment:

Honorable members of the Board,

Please consider the heavy financial impacts, and ripple effects this will have on the fishing community and the thousands of people that depend on this industry for their livelihoods.

If this proposed regulation goes into effect as written, this will literally decimate the industry in the near future. I understand the boards mission, but that must be balanced against many other factors. California is a leader in clean air and water initiatives, but they must not come at the expense of an entire Industry that contributes so much to the states economy.

Thank you for your time and consideration

I very much share the concerns of air quality in our state, it is indeed an important issue for me. I also treasure whale watching with multiple companies in Orange County where I live. Whale watching has been an important activity in my life as it is not financially realistic for me to own my own boat. However this allows me to not only view these beautiful creatures, but also connect with the sea. I really would prefer to see an exemption for such crafts or some consideration for people like us.

Comment:

I understand the efforts of lowering our carbon emissions however without providing subsidies for these boat owners or in some cases, without even the capability of say for example, electric motors for boats, it seems like this is a huge mistake that will kill our fishing industry. Every angler I know, follows the regulations on limits and size limits so we can fish sustainably and have the utmost respect towards our California waters. Please put this policy to rest for now, and bring it to the table when there are better measures in place where you won't shut down the local businesses.

Subject: CHC2021 Save Our Boats

Comment:

Hello!

Fishing has literally been an outlet for me since i was a little boy. Growing up in the inner city there was so much to get into. From gangs to drugs and everything else. But i was able to choose fishing. And now I've introduced so many including my children to deep sea fishing and it has been an outlet for them. I have a large family, raising prices for fishing will make it inaccessible for my family, and will destroy jobs for those who provide these services for our recreational outlets. It is also the least processed meat avail. Feeding my family healthier options is another big reason i fish. Please save our boats, you will be inadvertently saving lives. Thank you.

Please don't get rid of sportfishing boats thousands of people go on boats and sportfishing boats everyday. If you get rid of boats think of all the kids in the future who's parents tell them stories on how they caught that 300 pound fish out in the ocean now they want to go fishing they can't because y'all got all the boats taken away on the coast. Think about the future of this nation and how important it is to keep boats

Hello California Air Resources Board,

I hope you all are doing well. The intent with this message and request is for myself Lucas Brown to participate in power, and do my part in having a part in the final outcome on 11/19/21 by kindly requesting for you all to please keep Southern California Sportfishing. Deep-Sea Fishing on sport boats in Southern California both open party and charter boats is a special experience for so many-including myself that allows people that want to fish or do not have boats of their own to fish. Thanks to the Southern California Deep Sea Sportfishing Fleet, this has been the ticket to making this come into a reality, along with a professional service presented to the angler while aboard a deep sea fishing trip on one of these certified vessels. Thank you all for your time to read this California Air Resources Board.

Best,

Lucas Brown

You will be hurting small town economy's and putting thousands of hard working fishing families out of business. People that have been working on boats there whole life. People who have grown up sharing the same passion and have made it a livelihood. People that will probably have no where to go after this bill passes. Chairmen and women of the California air resources board should be ashamed.

Please don't consider regulating sportboats , hundreds will be out of jobs and 1000s of family's with generations of fisherman will be out of a hobby that is also a lifestyle, some of these boats are rich with history, traditions and a positive lifestyle , the huntress family has been on these boats since my grandfather first took my dad and now me, my wife and my sons and daughters enjoy fishing trips several times a year and look forward to keep going for many years to come , thank you for your time

Whale watching is a way to bring people outside, educate them on the life of the sea, and how to treat our oceans and its creatures. Save these businesses. It's a huge revenue of tourism for Southern California as well.

Why would you attack such a small population of fisherman who just want to help people catch fish so they can eat and share with family and friends. Most average people cannot afford a personal watercraft and for a small fee sportboats dollars e that problem for many.

This is in regards to the act to eliminate the sportfishing fleet in California. I am an avid fisherman and crew member on the fishing vessel Native Sun, if this passes I am sure it will greatly affect myself and the people in the industry. I have been fishing on boats out of Southern California since I was a little kid with my father this is extremely sad to see it could possibly come to an end.

Comment:

As a Native Californian, I am a avid Sportsman that loves the Outdoors. Fishing is a Passion for many of us, and we are actively engaged with Sportsfishing in California. From San Diego to Los Angeles, every Sportsfishing boat in the Pacific Ocean has been working constantly to earn a living. Their occupation is dependent on their resources to get to and from the Docks and each trip is a possible Adventure.

These vessels are the lifeline of the Southern california Sportfishing industry. Their Families depend on their Success to continue to prosper in the USA. This New regulation is not ready for prime time and needs to be revamped to help the Sportfishing Industry migrate to the new CARB Standards of the Future without bankrupting the Industry. Government assisted programs to help them source new compliant resources might be the solution, but it will take an coordinated effort from the state government and the Industry to come together to make this happen. Compromise is better than Conflict and Confrontation. Let's work together to make this happen.

Please don't ruin the lives of thousands of hard working families! Some of these families are 2nd,3rd,and 4th generation fisherman. This proposal will destroy the livelihood of thousands of men women and children. Wives having to find new jobs, children having to go to another school, leaving their friends. Some boats have already left splitting up families. Wives and some of their kids staying and the husbands looking for another place to feed their families. These hard working Americans can't afford to comply with these absurd new requirements.

I am a concerned fisherman over the proposed CARB engine upgrades. I can barely afford to fish with the additional price hikes due to COVID. If this Carb passes it will price me out of Ocean Sportfishing. I have been fishing my whole life and would be devastated not to do so anymore due to the increase cost. Please re-evaluate the proposal or fund the the Fleet to upgrade through other means to upgrade the diesel emissions. Thank you for your time

RE: CARB's Commercial Harbor Craft Rule

Dear Chair Randolph,

We urge CARB to require 100% zero-emissions deadline for all vessel segments of the Commercial Harbor Craft Rule.

Since 2009, Corvus Energy has been leading the way in deploying battery technology on board maritime vessels to reduce emissions. Our custom-developed mechanical and electrical design combined with state-of-the-art battery management systems and digital services provides Corvus Energy's customers with not only lower maintenance costs but also reduced fuel consumption and emissions.

The electrification of marine vessels is now considered as a proven technology contributing to a decarbonized sustainable maritime sector. We are witnessing a fast-evolving climate friendly global technological shift that requires more integrated approaches entailing alternative fuels, wind and solar energy, renewable hydrogen, fuel-cell technologies, zero emission dockyards, autonomous vessels and many more to overcome the evidence based expected ecological catastrophe.

Corvus Energy is a pioneer in maritime energy storage systems (ESSs), and it can be used for almost every vessel type breaking the ground for future development. We powered the world's first electric commercial fishing vessel "Karoline" in 2015 and the world's first all-electric ferry, the Norled Ampere. The ZeeTug30 designed and built by Navtek Naval Technologies has Corvus Energy ESS onboard. In addition, Corvus Energy supplies batteries for various types of workboats, ranging from small harbour vessels to larger workboats of various kinds, enabling energy optimization and zero-emissions operations.

We also power hybrid tugs and workboats. Depending on battery size and operational profile, you can typically reduce fuel consumption and emissions by 30-60%, in addition to reducing maintenance costs and increased safety.

1780.2

We appreciate the hard work that CARB staff have done on the proposal. However, the draft rule as written is short-sighted. The rule does not reduce greenhouse gas emissions and risks creating a stranded asset scenario for harbor craft owners who may pay to retrofit to Tier 3 and 4 engines only to be forced to make a full zero-emission transition in quickly proceeding years later.

We have extensive experience with installing and servicing ESS in marine vessels globally. For the marine sector, a strong but achievable standard would be that all harbor craft operating in the state must be zero emission by 2035. We would encourage you to increase funding for pilot demonstrations and zero emission marine vessels programs.

Subject: CARB regulations, Sportfishing, Conservation & the economy

Comment:

To whom it may concern,

I'm not the kind of person who has knee jerk reactions to things I see posted on social media. I'm an independent thinker that does my research and studies an issue before forming an opinion about it.

I've looked into this issue about new CARB engine regulations and how it relates to the sportfishing industry. I have some points that I hope you would consider. I think it's probably well documented how these new regulations would put a tremendous financial strain on sportfishing boat owners, the customers that ride on these boats and the future of sportfishing in California. While I care deeply about those things, I want to offer a broader perspective as to why someone who doesn't participate in these activities should care about this industry.

- Economic impact: the most recent studies from 2017 show that recreational fishing spending by the roughly 2.8MM anglers in California amounts to about $2.4B in direct spending. ■ That direct spend has almost a $5B state impact when you consider ancillary spending on hotels, restaurants etc.

- Conservation: If you effectively take away saltwater fishing, less of those almost 3MM anglers will bother to renew their licenses...taking away revenue that funds conservation efforts. Given that California DFW just went to a year round fishing license to try and increase fishing licenses, it's clear that license revenue is the primary economic driver of these efforts.

- Tourism: The sportfishing industry in California is very unique to this part of the country. ■ Anecdotally, I've met dozens of people that come here from other parts of the country just to enjoy how we fish. Take that industry away and you remove that incentive to come here.

- Kids: Sportfishing boats aren't just for fishing. They also do whale watching and educational trips for children. As a father, I felt it was invaluable for my children to see dolphins, whales, seabirds etc. in their natural environment. In addition, participating in sportfishing taught my kids valuable lessons in regards to the food they eat and how it can impact the environment we live in.

1781.2

Please work with this valuable industry to find a compromise solution.

Thank you for listening.

Joe Sarmiento

Please stop the current course of CARB related regulations that will have a very negative consequence for the commercial fishing, sportfishing, and ecotourism fleets of boats in California. It is unreasonable to destroy the livelihood of the countless of small business owners, employees, upstream and downstream customers. Have you considered the carbon footprint and negative impact to the environment that scarping the current, fully serviceable, low emissions, prolusion units from thousands of boats, and replacing them with newly manufactured systems, that at this time don't exist. You must consider the total sum gain or loss of your proposal. What will be done with the obsolete units and at what monetary and environmental cost? How many new natural resources will be used up and how much carbon will be created manufacturing new units? When will the new technology exist at the retail level, and at what monetary and environmental costs will the retooling and creating of new production lines cost?

Sport fishing has and always will be a huge part of the community and our economy if you or anyone in power shut it down then you guys clearly don't care about this state or country as a whole. Consider people's jobs and livelihood when you make this decision.

Subject: Proposed CARB regulations for whale watch and fishing vessels

Comment:

I have no doubt that the thought behind more restrictive CARB regulations were designed with the best interest of the general public. I am concerned that these new regulations will pretty much force the retirement of nearly two thirds of the current California whale watch and fishing fleet.

It seems some of the new requirements call for upgraded equipment that is either not currently available or near impossible to retrofit to existing vessels, forcing their retirement.

I'm certain this is not the actual intent of the California legislature.

I hope a re-think of these proposals is possible so that a major business can continue to function as it has for so many years.

Thank you,
John

Dear Ms. Randolph et al:

On behalf of the many Catalina Island businesses, residents and visitors that are directly or indirectly dependent upon Marine Vessels, the undersigned are writing today to request your consideration of several major impacts that will result from the proposed regulations. Knowing public comment will open on September 15, 2021, we felt the need to put our concerns in front of you with urgency.

Catalina offers some of California's most pristine water and land resources. While we fully support the preservation and enhancement that environmental stewardship will provide, we must approach new regulations with a holistic evaluation of feasibility. Catalina's sustainability is wholly dependent on tourism, and its physical isolation makes the island economy uniquely vulnerable. It is our cumulative opinion that:

- The proposed regulations will place an undo financial burden on small businesses causing many operators to close and lay off staff. Estimated job losses on Catalina Island alone would be several hundred.
- The proposed regulations would require modifications that are financially or structurally infeasible on most currently operating vessels. As an example, the cost of modifying a typical high-speed ferry capable of carrying 300 to 400 passengers for Catalina Express is estimated to be between $7 to $8 million. Those modifications would also take passenger capacity down to 170 people due to weight and space impacts. To build a replacement watercraft of comparable size to meet the proposed regulations, would be $20 million.
- The proposed regulations will cause significant waste due to scrapping of currently operating vessels, many of which have been only recently put into service or undergone multi-million-dollar upgrades to meet tier 3 standards.
- New watercraft that will meet the proposed standards will take many years to construct and put into service, with an added impact of increased demand driving up costs and adding to delays in building timelines. Shipyard availability would also be of great concern.

- Replacement vessels will have to grow in size and weight to accommodate the required technology making them less efficient than the vessels that are currently in service and in many cases, they may be too large to safely navigate the harbor facilities in which they operate. Catalina's small coves, docks and some mainland facilities simply cannot accommodate a larger or heavier craft than they currently do. Combined, those coves and camps and facilities like the USC Wrigley Institute accommodate upwards of 70,000 guests/students each year.
- The regulations will result in fewer boats being in operation and therefore greatly reduce public access to the sea and California's coastal environment. This should be of great concern to the residents of California who cannot afford their own private boats and to the California Coastal Commission which acts to protect public access to same.
- Catalina's 4,000 residents would be among the most impacted of all Californians as every aspect of their daily lives is dependent upon waterborne vessels from grocery delivery to medical transportation and shopping.
- The regulations will result in significantly higher prices for services further reducing the resident and visitor access to the ocean waters and waterborne activities due to lack of affordability.
- Privately owned passenger vessel operators are not eligible for grants and subsidies to upgrade, so the costs will be passed on to the public.
- Renewable diesel technologies can make existing vessels much cleaner and result in significant reduction in emissions for most vessels, without the expenses and waste outlined above.

The cumulative impacts of the proposed regulations will cause irreparable harm to the Catalina Island economy and significantly reduce the million plus visitors each year who support jobs, schools, medical services and pay taxes. The recent impacts of COVID-19 have all too clearly demonstrated the rapid and comprehensive impacts of fewer visitors coming to the island and made clear that we cannot sustain or embrace the proposed regulations in their current form.

A longer timeframe for implementation of new standards is the only viable solution. 2023 is far too soon for feasibly implementing such drastic and impactful change.

RE: Proposed CA Air Resources Regulations on Harbor Crafts

Dear Chair Randolph:

On behalf of the City of Oceanside, I'm writing regarding proposed regulations by the California Air Resources Board (CARB) which would negatively impact family-owned fishing and other small businesses at the Oceanside Harbor. CARB staff is undertaking a process to amend or replace the existing regulations to further reduce emissions from harbor craft, scheduled for Board consideration this year. The new amendments would instill costly and stringent requirements and mandates for engines operating on harbor craft, and would place smaller vessels at the Oceanside Harbor into categories with tank barges, tugboats, and dredges. These smaller vessels are already subject to engine emission limits.

We understand the importance of reducing harbor craft emissions to attain greater air quality, reduce community risk, and mitigate climate change, but Oceanside Harbor craft owners have already made considerable investments to replace older engines with newer, cleaner engines to comply with the existing regulations. Due to loss of income during the pandemic and already low profit margins, Harbor business owners are facing financial hardship and will likely be unable to pay for new or retrofitted vessels by the compliance date. Further, the proposals could require a reduction of passenger loads due to the weight of new engine modifications necessary to comply. This could devastate the commercial fishing and whale watching industry in Oceanside. It would be more reasonable that new-build vessels be fitted with enhanced low-emission technology and be required to meet the proposed regulations as vessels are replaced.

These concerns prompt me to request that the CARB pause to work more closely with smaller sport and sea life adventure industries to develop air quality rules that are economically achievable for our small business owners, and will allow them to continue to serve the community.

Sincerely,

Esther C. Sanchez
MAYOR

Please vote no on new regulations which will require small businesses to replace boats and/or motors. If you still feel these regulations are warranted, then phase them in over 10 years in order to allow the "mom and pops" to afford the upgrades/replacements.

These new proposals are onerous and industry killing over regulations. The reduction in fumes is miniscule and will not have any type of positive effect on the environment. Just more ridiculous overregulation with no real help to the environment.

Please do not enact the change to the Sportfishing boats engine requirements. From what I've read this is not a change that Sportfishing boats can make. They would most all have to build new boats for these new engine requirements

Subject: Boats

Comment:

Hi, I want to add my support to the boating industry. I love our planet and think protecting it is very important, but I also feel that many go too far without thinking things through. If humans are not allowed to enjoy the Earth, how do you expect them to develop a love for it? How will future generations want to protect it if they don't develop that love?

We as humans, just like the wild life that roam the earth, have a right to access the different parts and areas of our world. Hiking, camping, boating... these are all important human adventures that create our deep love of our world. The people who enjoy these activities are the people who desire to protect our planet. All this on top of our last two years' experience with Covid, we've also learned as Californians that our politicians have a 'do as I say, not as I do' mentality. Newsom and his restaurant with friends during the lock down. Pelosi with her hair dresser. And those were just the times they were caught. I can imagine if there were to be a shut down on boating that would exclude the politicians who have come to think of themselves as elitists. American is the land of the free, and our politicians are public servants. They serve us, not serve themselves off of us.

Again, I support the boating and other water industries. Do not let things be taken too far by the out of control environmentalists!

Thank you,

Barbara L Kennedy

California Air Resources Board,

Please vote NO on regulations that rely on technology that is economically unfeasible for our California sport fishing fleet. The proposed technology has not been tested as safe for passenger harbor craft. AS boats are removed from service, access to the sea will become extremely limited and sport fishing and whale watching trips will simply become too costly. Thank you.

Comment:

As a California native of over 45 years, access to commercial sport fishing boats and charters is one of my family's favorite recreational activities. Banning the boats or forced denial of their engines would be a great loss to our family. California would be making a grave mistake by pursuing anything that would jeopardize or take our sportfishing boats away.

Comment:

The proposed regulations to sportfishing and whale watching boats are economically unfeasible and have not been tested as safe on passenger harbor crafts nor to the best of my understanding are not allowed under Coast Guard regulations. As boats are removed from service, access to the sea will be limited and sportfishing will become too costly IF available at all. I do not support this proposed unreasonable regulation(s).

After spending many wonderful days with my late husband fishing out of Ventura Harbor, Santa Monica Harbor, Catalina Island, Long Beach, Channel Islands Harbor, 22nd Street, LA Harbor, and trips to Baja et al., I ask you not to destroy this pleasurable activity for those who love the ocean and the many treasures received all of these years from the sea. Happy memories, delicious fish, and opportunities for everyone involved. The young deck hands and other youth were well served by the camaraderie and experiences we all felt while out there. Please do not take these drastic measures to destroy this one human pleasure that has served mankind since the beginning of time. There has to be a way to save this enterprise for California and for the world.

Many of us do not have the means to own our own boats, thus this is the only way for us to get out on the ocean with our friends and family. By mandating these new rules as you know will kill this industry. I'm a contractor and I deal with many people daily that are leaving our state because of the heavy handed government of California, I'm a life long native of California, not many of us left. Some of the best memories are of going fishing with my Grandfather, my dad and my sons, and hopefully my grandson when he's old enough. Do not steal this away from him.

You must be kidding.

Now you want to take away sport fishing????

You do realize this is done off shore right?

The boats have been fine and someone has now invented some new rule. Sounds like another speed bump issue in play.

Common on. Use some good old fashioned common sense!

This proposal has the potential to ruin the recreational fishing community. There are better more thought out approaches that will benefit the environment and not be ruinous to the fishing and whale watching community

Comment:

These regulations treat sportfishing boats unfairly and will sink businesses and coastal economies dependent on outdoor tourism. the fishing industry has has suffered incredible economic hardship during the COVID-19. as a local fisherman this will raise cost , kill jobs, make people loose there way of living and destroy the local sportfishing industry and will only allow the rich people of this world that can afford these outrages requirements. not only are the require absurd the timeline doesn't even allow the boast to be phased out or allow the proper time for repairs. the cost will be to much.. you will be killing our local economy. as a local fisherman im reaching out in anger that this state doesn't even has the citizen best interest

Stop the unnecessary and unwarranted mandates on boat diesel motors. There is no possible way a modern motor will outfit properly in an older vessel. You would not know this due to your inexcusable degree of ignorance on all of these matters. You are destroying America, Livelihoods, business, relationships children's ability's to have a safe warm home. There are plenty of trees. really. Electric power is the demise of the planet too. F off Newscum, Gretta, and all of your red winged liars. Lets Go Brandon!

Hi
Me and my family votes no, and we want to keep The last few remaining boats in service as well as welcome any new style boats to help with emissions but the old boats are a staple here and this is how my family and I do you are fishing as also providing food for my family. Please make the proper arrangements

Please allow the fishing charter boats to comply in a more timely manner and be able to reasonable charge for fishing and whale watching. The proposed mandate is just going to put yet another business out of business in California. Can't we as Californians be reasonable??? Harry.

its sad that once again our political/environmental system is after the little guy's. If you allow this to go into effect it will hurt many thousands of people who work on our oceans. It will also affect those that enjoy fishing and whale watching by making it unaffordable.

Subject: NO NEW SPORTFISHING REGULATIONS

Comment:

I am strongly against the new proposed regulations that rely on technology that is economically unfeasible and has not been tested as safe on passenger crafts. As boats are removed from service, access to the sea will be limited and sportfishing will become too costly. Your plan to implement emissions systems on old sport fishing boats is an unrealistic goal and will not help the environment in an impactful way. This is why businesses and normal people leave California. Please do not ruin one of the last reasons to stay.

Last week I went to Oxnard fishing on a 2 day boat and spent around $600.00 not counting fishing license and tackle. This week I am going to San Diego fishing on a two day trip spending about the same. If fishing is closed in California I will have to take up my hobby in a different state. Not only will California businesses loose the revenue but the state will lose the license revenue and any taxes on the cost of fishing. But most important I will not be able to do what I worked so hard for to do in my retirement. This is my 2nd request to keep fishing in California

Please vote no on regulations that rely on technology that is economically unfeasible and has not been tested as safe on passenger harbor crafts. As boats are removed from service, access to the sea will be limited and sportfishing will become too costly.

It seems unreasonable for the state Gov. to continue to change the goal pst. We spent lots of tax payer dollars already refitting a majority of these vessels to meet the last big change to meet the refs and not your changing them again. Stop picking on such a small industry.

Comment:

Hello,

I am an active fisher person in Santa Barbara, and would like to ask you to vote no on the new regulations for sport fishing and whale watching boats. While I love this planet, and do what I can reduce emissions, limiting our ability to enjoy the amazing fishery that we live next to is not the answer.

Thank you for your time,
Kai Wallace

I believe this step is a big over reach. Your new requirement will put countless family operations out of business. In the past this sort of large step forward would be done through a "grandfathered" process. Any new boat purchased would be required but not on exciting boats. This would give the boat owners time to plan on this purchase. The last time a major upgrade on diesel motors was enacted the state paid for the new motors and the boat owners paid for the installation. Many boatowners are still paying off the loans they took out to pay for that upgrade. To saddle these owners with an even larger expense on equipment that may not even fit in their boats is irresponsible on the part of CARB. Upgrades to boats with diesel engines may be necessary but should be grandfathered in and applied fairly across all class of boats not just passenger carrying. I feel your arbitrary actions could well put the sport fishing party boat industry out of business. Should that happen due to your over reach it is the skippers and the fisherman of California that will suffer.

Capt. James Cox Retired

What you are about to do is punish thousands of supporters of the environment. Nature should not be just for activists. Your proposed rules cost people jobs, hurt their families, and restrict fishing, whale watching, and other marine activities to only the wealthy.

I urge you not to adopt these rules.

Subject: Reasonable action to improvement on reducing emissions for sport fishing

Comment:

Dear CARB,

Please acknowledge all aspects of reducing emissions on boats and how much do sport fisher's really make in the global total of boats on the water. I know going after the big fish (large corporations) and transportation cargo ships is difficult, but that is where much more emissions can be saved. Save small businesses with a transition period to adapt to global warming concerns and follow the money to get real results.

Subject: Save or sportboats

Comment:

We need to save our sportfishing fleet and whale watching boats there is only 174 boats currently operating if these boats were to shut down they would be thousands of jobs lost and also the monies that coming to San Diego San Diego is one of the top five world destinations for fishing for people that don't fish they do not know that but if you ask anybody they will tell you that San Diego is the top five world fishing destination and with that said comes money to San Diego with hotels parking restaurants, shopping, car rentals etc... what CARB does not understand that these boat owners can't just get rid of their boats and buy new ones as suggested by some Carb board members, they have no clue how much money it takes to run these businesses and they barely make money as it is... with only 172 sport boats the carb emissions is so low that it doesn't even factor into Air quality and climate change as cars, trucks, factories, etc.... To pick on small business owners is just wrong, I truly feel that the state and the government needs to work with these sport boats to help them over time to make The changes on their existing boats to meet the requirements that Carb is suggesting, carb also needs to work with a company that can help build the proper equipment needed for these boats, they cannot purchase what is existing today from Europe it's just nonsense to think that they can retrofit these boats with what Europe has to offer we need to retrofit these boats these existing boats here in the US and help the sport boats out as well as keeping the sports Fishing alive in California especially southern California which benefits from the tourist money from the many of hundreds and thousands of fishermen that come through San Diego each year to fish our waters. Golf is not the number one sport in Southern California it's fishing if you really do your research you'll figure out how much $$$ is made in tourist dollars in San Diego... not considering the impact on the lives of the boat owners and all those that they employ the landings the restaurants and even the hotels around the fish landings will be affected it's not just the	1855.1 1855.2 1855.3 1855.1 cont. boat some selves these are livelihoods in life that will be affected so you need to work with these boats and companies that can help come up with the proper retrofits for each one of these boats so that San Diego can still be one of the top fishing destinations in the world and it is one of the top fishing destinations in the world! The enclosed photo shows a chartered fishing trip which 15 of the people on this trip flew in and paid for hotels, food, restaurants fishing equipment rentals car rentals, and they also stayed extra days and went sightseeing and spent money all around San Diego so cutting off the sports fishing fleets means your gonna be cutting off A major part of the tourist income at San Diego needs as well as other fishing ports up and down California... we will stand up for our rights to fish and do fish on our sports fishing fleets as well as do our best to work with carb with climate change but technology needs to catch up to help these sport boats out! So do your research if you do not fish you must find out more about the industry the people behind it and the lives that will be affected by this as well as the tourist dollars that will be affected by this change that you were trying to mandate the sports fishing fleets wants to make those changes but they need help financially and with technology to make those changes for their existing sportboats... One member suggestion which I don't think she even fishes at all that the boats should just up and sell their boats and buy new ones how ludicrous is that?? how about she up and sells her house for much less then what she owes and then buy another with the remaining debt that she still owes on the one she sold! And also what will happen with these changes if Carb gets their way, Sport fishing will only be affordable for the rich, which is also not right so many people go fishing for their therapy it helps so many people in so many ways that you have no clue of why people even fish in the first place it helps people with PTSD, people that are stressed out go fishing to decompress and grandfathers grandmothers mothers and fathers take their children out fishing to pass on the passion and conservation and this will all go away you really need to think about the big picture and what you guys are asking it doesn't make sense and it is not feasible you need to rethink your plan to make this work for all the sport fishing boats and whale watching boats oh I forgot to mention whale watching yeah there's a lot of income that comes in from whale watching and there's a lot of money that comes in on party boats and take tourists out to celebrate weddings funerals at sea etc.

Have we not had enough taken away from us already? Are you going to stop the HUGE commercial ships that bring us our supplies from coming in as well through the coast of CA?

Please don't take away any more of our abilities to have some joy in our lives. These watercraft not only enable commercial fishermen to provide us with seafood, but also provide good, clean, outdoor fun for people of all ages, ethnic groups, sexual orientation, and all of person kind.

1857.1

Look at other items that pollute our air and damage our bodies. What about all of the electrical currents that fly through the air all day and night long, and I'm not sitting here sending you this message with a tin foil helmet on my head.

Please try and avoid making this a totalitarian state anymore than it already is. We need to be able to have some freedoms left to enjoy our lives in CA. I am born and raised, and have spent almost 67 years in this state that I have loved my entire life, and now, as many have fled from this state, am beginning to hate it with all of the regulation and taxation that is imposed on us.

Please reconsider your position on this subject. I can remember not many years ago that the fleet had to re engine because of new regulations. Now your asking them to do the same thing when current technology can't support your standards.

To Whom This May Concern,

It has been brought to my attention that our commercial watercraft is in danger of being docked permanently. As a native San Diegan, who has an intense love for our waterways and the environment, I understand the pressure to find more environmentally sound ways to navigate these waters. But to do something like this that will DEVASTATE the lives of 1000's of our neighbors. Completely destroying their livelihood in the blink of an eye, is inconceivable. I believe we can do this better, and take more time to achieve our environmental goals without destroying lives

We need more time and better options to bring EVERYONE up to speed and help them continue to financially survive. Please do not pass this measure. Think of all the people and industries this will affect.

To whom it may concern,

Allow me to introduce myself. I am Anthony Silva. Long time angler, wildlife conservationist, EPA & CARB certified diesel mechanic, and an earth cautious citizen. I understand the law that is up for discussion. Being the current events of the year 2020 from COVID 19 and the economic struggles the state, country and world have seen. I want to ask that the Marine Diesel emission requirements get rewritten due to the unforeseen future COVID 19 has given the great state of California. The sport fishing community in California has a long history of family owned business. At the very least I am asking the sport fishing and whale watching power units meet the current requirement with a 5 year grace period due to economic struggles during this pandemic and future consideration for leniency. I have spent the past 5 years touring the fleets from Oxnard down to San Diego. These vessels are well taken care of. If the State of CA does not agree then please give grants to these vessels from current date to the year 2035 for engine re-power and related items. Just as lower emission on-highway Diesel engines, clean energy on-highway and zero emission vehicles are getting from the state of CA for consumers.

Thank you and have a good day.

Comment:

You cannot take away the livelihoods of so many fisherman in California. They also provide a service to many lower income families that like fishing but can't afford a boat. Doing this would hurt the owners as well as the customers that enjoy going on these boats. Please don't do this

To Whom It May Concern:

Please do not kill our sportfishing industry in California. Your proposed regulation on fishing operations are as unrealistic as the ones imposed by California in housing. Is there anything that you people can do right?? Do you realize that as charter boat owners go out of business, millions of Californians and tourists will be denied access to offshore fishing and the best opportunity to observe marine life up close not to mention the disastrous global economic impact that your proposed draconian regulations will have upon every San Diego County resident.

How do you intend to regulate something that you don't know anything about? When was the last time you went out deep sea fishing? Do you realize that cleaner burning Tier Four engines do not exist for marine applications. No? Then have the moral and ethical decency to resign. Stop putting people out of business!!

I've been in the construction business more than 30 years and fishing for just the same. Please stop the non sense. Small contractors and boat owners CANNOT afford to update their fleets because CA says they have to.

My business does 2M yearly in the general engineering trades with heavy equipment. And I have invested thousands of dollars fishing with the local fleets. I have had it with this state and being regulated to death.

Pass this law and you will be destroying the lively hoods of thousands of families and kids across the state. Pass this law and I WILL take my business and family to another state. This is unbelievable.

You people have no idea what it takes to update these fleets. Why don't you shut the millions of illegals down, whom are driving piece of shit cars polluting the air and let's quite fu^&%#! with the lively hood of people offering a good service and life long experience that has been a way of life for many for more than a century.

Pull your head out of your ass and lets make California Great Again!!!!!!!

Subject: New arb boat regulations

Comment:

Tiny gain in air quality at devastation of an important sector of tourist economy

Boats 90%+ operate off shore with brief bay transit

Economic reality makes retro fitting old boats impossible

New boats don't "pencil out" there will not be any

Actions like this hurt the cause of clean air

Give environmental proponents a bad name

Didn't you exempt the big polluters and now pick on the little owner operators that are powerless.

This is a serious misjudgment and abuse of regulatory authority

The boats have little to no effect on ambient air quality

Wind displaced and dilute any pollution

All existing boats need to be grandfathered

Plus this is legal liability for you for a regulatory taking

It is not to late to reconsider and return to staff for more consultation with the stakeholders

Please hear someone who supports your mission

I urge CARB to vote no on regulations that rely on technology that is economically unfeasible and has not been tested as safe on passenger harbor crafts. As boats are removed from service, access to the sea will be limited and sportfishing will become too costly.

This month could mark the end for commercial passenger boats if the California Air Resources Board votes for draconian regulations that will have the intended effect of removing boats from the water - denying you and future generations of Californians access to the sea.

This whole thing is just an example how California wants to over-reach regulations that make no sense at all. It doesn't matter if people are put out of business. My brother, a friend and I spend about $6000 annually on or trips to go fishing in your state's coastal waters. We always meet several people on the boat who do the same. Multiply that by the number of boats in the industry and ask if the state can really afford to lose that kind of money. Don't kill our joy .

Comment:

Please reconsider the pending regulations regarding commercial harbor craft and the sportfishing industry.

My entire family has grown up fishing local So Cal via sportboats since the 70's and to see that thriving industry and economy threatened is sad and unrealistic.

The costs to those few who choose to continue will have to be passed to the consumer including children and veterans who support whale watching and the fishing sport that continues to support the veterans.

Thank you for your time.

Comment:

As an avid fisherman of both fresh and salt water I find this to be a very sad and dark moment that the industry is facing. I know from haven been on several of the sport fishing boats and know people that work in the industry that they are continuously staying on top of staying within the guidelines that are sit forth by the APCD, Coast Guard and EPA. If this is passed will have such a great impact far beyond just the sportfishing boats. It would impact the entire local fishing industry that both supports and is supported by this industry. Not to mention the memorable moments that families have when they get to spend time together getting to do something that they enjoy doing. The manufactures of all types of engines are all looking at ways to improve on decreasing the impact on air, ozone and marine life. By passing something like this would have such an impact on San Diego and surrounding cities as if the military was to pull out and leave San Diego. I pray for the goodness all that would be affected by this that this does not happen.

CARB

One of the few freedoms we can still enjoy in Draconian California, is sport fishing. I urge you to vote no on regulations that rely on technology that is economically unfeasible and has not been tested as safe on passenger harbor crafts. As boats are removed from service, access to the sea will be limited and sportfishing will become too costly.

It is costly enough as it is with the high prices of fuel we do not need any further regulations. As you are fully aware, the 80+ container ships off of the port of Los Angeles and Long Beach are causing far greater pollution then any of the sport fishing boats could produce in countless years. Not to mention the environmental impact from the the ship that dragged its anchor over the oil line in Huntington Beach. Clearly there are bigger fish to fry then the sportfishing industry. Stop targeting the low hanging fruit and focus on something that will impact the air quality.

Thank you,

Mike Ambrosio

My name is Herang Zhang, I'm 17 years old, I love going fishing with my Dad and siblings every opportunity we have. We as most people struggle economically and fishing is one of the very few activities that we can still afford. My Dad thought me how to fish and I have made lots of good friends at the boats and always look forward to spending a day out in the water. I continue to hear that CARB will require boat engines to be equipped with diesel particulate filters (DPF), which have not been thoroughly tested at sea. Jason, my favorite boat Captain says that he is concerned that under the best-case scenario passengers could be adrift at sea for hours as boat crews try to clear blocked exhaust systems and most likely, at sea rescues would become a common occurrence when engines can't be restarted. How is that going to help anyone? No one wants a boat full of passengers drifting aimlessly at sea. Please save fishing and save jobs

Comment:

Your new extreme and unnecessary emission regulations would require existing boats to be scrapped and multi-million dollar new boats to be purchased which would force ticket prices to be raised 2-3 times the existing prices. This will destroy California sportfishing and whale watching. It would also make ocean access so costly that many current anglers, tourists, locals, and future generations of Californians won't be able to afford it. Stop and think of the lives of the people who rely on these boats to make a living and survive. It would be great to at least compromise on smaller/less destructive regulations. If you still want these regulations then you are impeding our American freedoms and you are literal human garbage.

I strongly urge you to vote NO on these new regulations. I do not go fishing on these boats, but I do go out looking for pelagic birds. I travel out on both chartered fishing boats and whale watching boats. That is what I do as a retired person.

STOP all your Un-American, anti-fishing and whale watch boat bullshit regulations. YOU ARE AN UNELECTED BureaucRAT and have NO mandate to stop what your Employers, the CA Taxpayer, wants and needs.

Additionally, you are to blame for the shortage of trucks at the LA and LBC port operations. YOU ARE REQUIRED TO IMMEDIATELY CEASE AND DESIST FROM ALL DIESEL TRACTOR TRAILER REGULATIONS AND IMMEDIATELY PUT ALL YOUR BULL SHIT REGS ON SUSPENSE. THEY DO LITTLE TO NOTHING TO IMPROVE AIR QUALITY ANYWAY. The only reason for your existence is to grease the palms of connected DemoncRATS! Isn't that right Mary Nichols????? You BASTARDS make CA not Business Friendly and do nothing but cause HARM and TURMOIL for your Employers, the CA Taxpayer. #FORSHAME

One of the few things keeping me in this state is the ability to go out and offshore fish. Furthermore, you are stripping many of their livelihoods and their abilities to provide for their families that they don't get to see too often during the sportfishing season. Please do not ruin our freedom to go out and enjoy one of our states most bountiful pleasures!

These proposals which would put most sportfishing , diving and whale watching businesses out of business! The required technology would require totally new vessels as the present vessels can not be 'retrofitted'. These proposals show a total disregard for those businesses affected or for those who depend upon them for a livelihood. The proposals I have read are among the craziest I have ever seen coming from a government agency. Ditch these b.s. proposals.

Please give the sport fishing industry a chance to stay in business! They need an extended timeline to be able to comply with CARB's extreme measures. Lives and families are at stake - don't make this a numbers game.

Comment:

Annually I take my grandchildren on fishing charter from H & M in San Diego. A time that as a grandparent I'm able to spend quality time with them and teach them values and experience I would like them to pass on to the next generation. Presently it is a very expensive to charter a boat, but when these boat owners experience regulations that I've heard, it will cause them to either go out of business or pass the cost onto customer. Being retired, it would become a annual trip that I would not be able to afford.

I asked that these regulations be put aside and keep the boat charters affordable.

Respectively,

Dan Hockersmith

PLEASE DO NOT PAST THIS AMENDMENT.

I have been sportsfishing in Southern CA since the early 1960's.

Your Proposed Amendment to the Commercial Harbor Craft Regulation will DESTROY all sportsfishing, and the livelihood for THOUSANDS of people along the coast of CA.

Thousands of jobs, and businesses will sufferly severely along the coast.

Thank You

Comment:

How can you guys try to end sportfishing and whale watching in Southern California? It will ruin many people's livelihoods! Plus it's a great way to get families outside!

Subject: New Regulations on Sport Fishing Boats

Comment:

How can you require sport fishing boats to bring their exhaust emissions to the new required levels? If this passes, millions of dollars will be lost and I will not be able to adfoed to go fishing.

Comment:

Truly a calming and rewarding activity.
Ocean Fishing Whale Watching and Dolphins .
It's the large commercial fleets causing all the damage .
Leave the small private guys alone .
