

A2.2 Appendix

The collection of 68 figures to follow were generated by the program UPPR in order to tabulate mixing layer heights and provide a qualitative picture for the atmospheric structure above the surface. The figures were reduced to the smallest size which allowed them to be of value for extracting quantitative data. For exact values of the measurements, consult the California Air Resources Board data sets described earlier.