Dear Dr. Ambrose,

The California Construction and Industrial Materials Association looks forward to participating with the California Air Resources Control Board and other stakeholders on this important project. We believe CARB is beginning appropriately and we appreciate the inclusion of professors and universities in the analysis and development process. On behalf of our construction materials producers of aggregates, concrete asphalt and other minerals would like to express our commitment to participation. Thank you for your proactive outreach.

The California Construction and Industrial Materials Association represents California's producers of essential minerals and construction materials. CALCIMA members produce materials such as rock, sand & gravel, cement, concrete and asphalt used in building our state's essential infrastructure at over 500 local facilities statewide.

CalcIMA Concrete Roadmap

CalcIMA has been thinking about this issue since before the scoping plan was adopted. To help scope the task in front of us as an industry we developed achieving Net Zero Concrete in California Pathways, Opportunities, & Barriers report. We know CARB is familiar with concrete and our likely reduction methods along with cements efforts and pathway which we are very much dependent upon being successful for our ultimate success.

We look forward to continuing to work with the Board and other stakeholders on this project. We appreciate you are already conducting outreach and collecting data from producers to inform the process and not simply relying on published EPD's. As we develop more thoughts on the framework we will share them and of course we will respond to inquiries by your team. Please feel free to contact us at any time.

Respectfully,

Adam Harper
Senior Director of Policy
